

SALISBURY

NORTH CAROLINA

A thriving city with 16,000 population, offering unsurpassed advantages and opportunities to the capitalist seeking a location for manufacturing enterprises of any kind.

Electric lights, gas, city water, sewerage, electric cars, paved streets, public and private schools, churches of almost every denomination, a sanatorium with a reputation throughout the South. The medical profession of Salisbury is without a peer in any city of its size in the country. The climate is mild and healthy.

An Ideal Home Town

Salisbury is surrounded by a fertile farming country and the county---Rowan---is dotted with thriving villages and inhabited by a sturdy and thrifty people.

The population of Salisbury township has doubled in the last ten years, houses are being built every day and still the demand is great.

Salisbury and Spencer, virtually one town, bid fair to become the leading city in the State in 5 years. One of the greatest railroad centers in the South.

One Who Didn't Look.

Rev. Sam Jones, the noted revivalist preacher, was at all times forceful in his language, says Success. Above all things he objects to a pretense of supersaintliness, his religion being something on the "shirt-sleeve" order. On one occasion he had taken for his text, "Vanity," and to point his moral said:

"Now if there is a woman in the congregation this morning who didn't look into the mirror before coming to the meeting I want to see her; I want her to stand up."

A single woman arose and stood with meekly downcast eyes. To describe her in kindly way one would say homely. Rev. Mr. Jones rested his earnest eyes upon her.

"Well God bless you," he said. "It certainly is a pity you didn't."—Minneapolis Journal.

At a christening in the wilds of Missouri, while the minister was recording the event, he happened to say: "Let me see—isn't this the 27?" "I should say not," retorted the indignant mother. "It's only the ninth."—New York Sun.

Nearly Broke Him From the Habit.

A few nights ago a bevy of three handsome girls, dressed in the pink of fashion, and each accompanied by an escort, boarded a Baring street car at Fifteenth and Market streets. The car was crowded and three gentlemen arose to give place to the young women. No sooner were they seated than the three escorts planked themselves down in the laps of the girls, who did not resent the familiarity, but laughed at the course wit of the trio as they commented on the softness of the cushions, and the like. There was a craning of necks on the car, and when the passengers had taken in the situation a unanimous look of disgust overspread the car. "I am from the South," said one of the men who had yielded his seat to another man who had done likewise, "but hanged if this experience is not mighty near enough to break me from the politeness habit."—Philadelphia Record.

One of the demands of the strikers in St. Petersburg is "two meals" a day.

About the Size of It.

Some gentlemen were discussing how to keep a cook, when one of them reported a rule that was given by the late Mr. Alfred Forbes when the same question was under discussion not many years ago. It was "give her everything she wants and let her do as she pleases." That rule just about covers the case, and seems to be the order of things.—Greenville Reflector.

Since 1892 no newspapers have been printed on Sunday in Norway, and since 1895 no bread has been baked on that day.

Don't deceive yourself. If you have indigestion take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It will relieve you, Rev. W. E. Hocutt, South Mills, N. C., says: "I was troubled with chronic indigestion for several years; whatever I ate seemed to cause heartburn, sour stomach, fluttering of my heart, and general depression of mind and body. My druggist recommended Kodol, and it has relieved me. I can now eat anything and sleep soundly at night. Kodol Digests what you eat."—James Plummer.

An Unusual Case.

In Forsyth Superior Court last week Mrs. D. A. Bitting, of Winston, was tried on the charge of assault and false imprisonment. It appears that several weeks ago Mrs. Bitting lost $5 and she accused Sammy Fould, a small neighbor boy, with stealing it. It is alleged that the woman called the boy in her house locked him in a room and told him she proposed to keep him there until he confessed to her that he got the money. The lad testified on the witness stand that while he was innocent he confessed to Mrs. Bitting just to get released. The jury decided that the boy was a liar and acquitted the woman.

A Card.
