"WETS" AND "DRYS" WAR.

A Bitter Contest in Two Indiana Towns.

Indianapolis, April 19.—A bitter commercial war has broken out between the "wet" town of Logansport and the "dry" town of Peru, and "dry" sympathizers in the former are patronizing Peru merchants and "wet" sympathizers in the latter are going to Logansport to spend the money.

The Logansport Business Men's Association, which espoused the cause of the "wets" in the recent local option election, have petitioned the Pennsylvania Railroad to run week-end excursions to their city, and have purchased 10,000 interurban tickets to be used in attracting buyers from "dry" territory.

A delegation of Logansport women visited Peru and waited upon the merchants, asking them to advertise in the Logansport papers. Every member of the delegation purchased a spring outfit, and arrangements were made by some of them to have staples, in the way of groceries, sent to them by interurban cars.

There will be twelve local option elections within the next ten days, and the "wet" and "dry" cities are flooding the territory with statements as to the effect of local option on business.

A SOLAR ECLIPSE.

How it Can Happen, Considering the Size of the Moon.

It has been asked how a total eclipse of the sun can possibly happen, as the moon is smaller than the sun.

A self luminous body, like the sun, scatters light in all directions, and when the rays fall upon a nonluminous body they are intercepted from the space immediately behind it, and a shadow is thrown a certain distance in that direction. Another celestial body, deriving also its light from the sun, will upon entering the area over which this shadow is cast be deprived of its luster either wholly or in part. This is what happens to the earth in a solar eclipse. The sun and earth revolve in the same plane of the ecliptic, and the moon, being but slightly inclined to that plane, interposes between them once in every revolution, so that it happens that they are sometimes all three in the same line. When this occurs a portion of the moon's opaque sphere is seen projected upon the sun's face, intercepting its light, proportionate with the magnitude of the eclipse, which depends upon the distances separating the centers of the sun and moon at the middle of the phenomenon. Only in cases where these centers precisely correspond can there be a total obscuration. —New York American.

During the spring every one would be benefitted by taking Foley's Kidney Remedy. It furnishes a needed tonic to the kidneys after the extra strain of winter, and it purifies the blood by stimulating the kidneys, and causing them to eliminate the impurities from it. Foley's Kidney Remedy imparts new life and vigor. Pleasant to take. Smith Drug Co., Cornelison & Cook, H. M. Cook, of Spencer.
