FIFTEEN NATIONALITIES SPEAKING TWENTY-FIVE LANGUAGES REPRESENTED.

TRANS-CONTINENTAL TRIP

The Party Includes Some of the Most Prominent American Professors and Many Noted Foreigners—Traveling on a Special Train—Trip Being Conducted by Professor William Morris Davis, of Harvard University—Forty-three Foreigners Special Guests of the Americans on This Noted Trip.

Salisbury entertained a distinguished party for several hours last night. They were traveling on a special train of the finest Pullman cars obtainable. The party was composed of members of the American Geographical Society and forty of the most distinguished professors and scientists of the Old World, who were the special guests of the Americans on a tour of the United States. They came in from Asheville and were on their way to New York. At Asheville yesterday afternoon for several hours they were the special guests of E. W. Grove, the millionaire medical man, at his handsome estate in the mountain city. Their train made a stop of an hour in Salisbury and the members of the party came up in the city, strolled about the town and met a number of our leading citizens. Probably never before has such a large number of distinguished men of the different countries of the world toured the United States and Salisbury feels honored in having them as her guests for a brief period.

To belong to the American Geographical society is an honor coveted by many, and its members include the best known explorers, scientists and research men of the country. The trans-continental excursion is in the society's founding. It is being conducted by Professor William Morris Davis, of Harvard University.

In the party of visitors were forty-three foreigners of distinction appointed by the geographical societies of Europe to be the guests of the members of the American society and tour the country with them.

Only about four cities on the Southern Railway lines were visited by the society. To show the size of the jumps which the special train is making it may be stated that the geographers were some what behind schedule and found it necessary to eliminate St. Louis from their schedule and go direct from Kansas City to Memphis, where they again saved a few hours by declining the drives offered them.

Division Passenger Agent Frank B. Jenkins, of the Southern Railway was in immediate charge of the party on its trip over the Southern lines.

Following are the American members of the party:

- Alber Perry Brigham, professor of geology, Colgate University.
Robert M. Brown, Massachusetts State Normal College.
J. R. Cuntz, Castle Point, Hoboken, N. Y.
William M. Davis, professor emeritus of geology, Harvard.

VOTE BEFORE EIGHT P. M.

When we announced our Booster offer, we stated THAT AT NO TIME DURING THE CONTEST WOULD MORE VOTES BE GIVEN ON A SINGLE YEARLY SUBSCRIPTION THAN THIS WEEK. We mean just what we say. The "this week" part of it ended today at eight o'clock. Have you taken advantage of the offer? If not, get busy at once, see what you can do today. Just think what an opportune time this is, with more votes allowed for a yearly subscription than at any other remaining days of the contest. Out of town contestants have the privilege of mailing in what subscriptions they have up to 8 p. m. Saturday.

Mr. Subscriber, be a Booster. If you intend to help out your favorite contestant, do so now when she will most appreciate your help. If you only knew how happy it makes our contestants to secure a subscription, when you hear that hearty "Oh, thank you!" and see that expression of delight on her mind that you will get all your friends to subscribe. Be a Booster.

Interest has really grown with each day since the contest was announced. More nominations were received yesterday. The contest is getting under way in a better shape and with more speed than the Evening and Semi-Weekly Post had hoped for, and it feels satisfied with the enterprise it has launched.

Don't Get Discouraged. Contestants should never allow discouragement to affect them. Have confidence and you will feel the infection of your confidence.

Despondency is more contagious than the grip. Who is going to believe in you if you don't believe in yourself? Be sure of yourself, your friends will then feel sure of you, and know that they are not wasting their votes on some faint-hearted person who might in a moment of dejection drop out of the contest and make all their efforts count for nothing.

What if some one does get a lead of fifty thousand votes on you. That can easily be overcome if you determine that you must win. That spirit creates votes for you. When people see that you simply refuse to be beaten they want to help you to win and will give you their subscription in nine cases out of ten.

Bermuda. There seems to be a number of people who do not know just where Bermuda is and what it is. Bermuda belongs to Great Britain and is her greatest military station in the Western Atlantic. It is located about 750 miles directly east of Charleston, South Carolina.

He complimented the various committees in the house of the recent stand that they had made for tariff revision and blamed Taft for vetoing these same tariff bills after they had passed both houses, referring rather to serve and favor the trusts consisting of five men than all the remainder of the ninety million American people.

Senator Overman also made a short review of reconstruction days and showed what the Democratic party under the leadership of such men as Vance and Aycock had done for North Carolina and its Democracy and what progress it had made in the entire South and predicted future progress under Craig and Wilson. He also gave a brief resume of the Baltimore convention and said the people of the United States were tired of boss and trust rule and were going to fight for lean Democratic principles, a government for the people and by the people.

Senator Overman spoke for an hour and forty minutes and his speech was well received by his audience and brought forth much applause. Hon. Thomas Settle and David Blair, Republican candidates were in the audience tonight, which heard Senator Overman.

NAVAL DEMONSTRATIONS GOV. WILSON IN OHIO HEAVY FIGHTING REPORTED TODAY

One Hundred and Twenty-seven Warships Mobilizing at New York.

New York, Oct. 12.—As a part of the Columbus Day celebration in this city today, the Atlantic fleet, composed of 127 warships which extend fifteen miles up the Hudson river, began mobilizing today, the grand review to conclude next Tuesday when the President of the United States will be present. Today's programme consists of a grand parade for the sailors and a smoker this evening for the officers of the fleet at the Hotel Astor.

The Aeronautical Society will give the officers and men of the fleet one of the greatest exhibitions ever seen in this country this afternoon, in connection with the opening of the society's new grounds at Oakwood Heights-Station Island. There will be maneuvers by the aviators to show the usefulness of the aeroplanes in naval warfare and reconnoitering.

The new grounds at Oakwood Heights, recently procured by the Aeronautical Society, will be the largest aviation field within the limits of New York City. Among the new features at the meet will be parachute jumping from an aeroplane and sharp-shooting.

"Aerial turkey trotting," by George W. Beatty, the aviator, is promised as one of the features of the meeting. Beatty is expected to go up a thousand feet and imitate the evolution of the dance, using his Wright biplane. Tomorrow there will be special services at the churches for the benefit of the visiting naval men.

protective tariff on their products. The speaker humorously stated that he thought his chances of election were good despite the fact that so many men had been nominated to oppose him—Settle, Meares, Thompson, Walser and others. This brought applause.

Mr. Craig declared that North Carolina is beginning an era of her greatest achievement and then reminded his audience that this State's governor has not the power given the chief executive of other states, yet he has great power and ought to be the leader of the people in their highest thoughts and best movements. The terms of the public schools ought to be lengthened, more attention should be lengthened, more attention should be in the rural districts and to the improvements of public highways, he said, in outlining some of the measures he would advocate as governor.

He declared that North Carolina pays into the coffers of the tariff beneficiaries annually more than the value of her total corn crop or half her cotton crop besides what she pays into the United States treasury. As a result of high protection he asked is it any wonder that these on monopolies pay hundreds of thousands of dollars into the campaign funds of the party that stands for the system. No wonder Pierpont Morgan has $150,000.

He declared that the money the people thus lose is a small consideration compared with the moral effect of the iniquitous system that robs the masses for the benefit of a certain class and thus takes away from tens of thousands the opportunity to be in life what God intended.

GOVERNOR WILSON IN OHIO HEAVY FIGHTING REPORTED TODAY

In the Home State of President Taft the Democratic nominee Again Speaks of the Forces Behind the Third Term—In Canton Pay Tribute to the Late President William McKinley.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 11.—Governor Woodrow Wilson, in discussing today his argument that "the thought of the leading men of the United States Steel corporation is behind the third party program with regard to the regulation of trusts," drew attention to what he termed a "very significant fact" that George W. Perkins "is himself back of the program."

The Democratic nominee recalled the fact that Mr. Perkins had once "declined an investigation before Congress in whole thought" about establishing industrial commissions to regulate monopoly.

The governor spoke at Canton, the home of McKinley, and in Cleveland. Besides the attack in his speech on the trust plank of the Progressive party, he paid tribute to the memory of President McKinley, declaring that just before he died he showed symptoms of adjustment to the new age such as his successors have not exhibited, and foresaw the necessity of elasticity in the tariff and "reciprocal trade relations with the world."

"The regular Republicans say they are opposed to monopoly," said the governor at Canton. "But when they come to speak of the methods of restraining it, they cannot indulge in a narrative of what they have already done which we know to be ineffectual and when the third party takes up 'his side of the difficulty' what do they do? They propose to leave things as they are and subject them to supervision of an industrial commission and we know what that industrial commission is expected to do."

George W. Perkins. "It is a very significant fact that George W. Perkins is himself back of this program, not because I would intimate any corrupt or improper influences for I would not. Mr. Perkins has just as much right to his opinion as I have, but Mr. Perkins has displayed his whole thought in investigation before Congress, and on one occasion, for example, in testifying before the committee of the senate, he said there ought to be an industrial commission, before whom gentlemen desiring to combine should lay their plans and that if they were accepted, that should exempt them from the operations of the clause of the Sherman act forbidding combinations in restraint of trade."

"In other words he wants a commission which will permit, under regulations, the process of combinations and monopoly, and therefore I take it for granted that that is what is in the third party's thought and in its program, because I am interested not in where Mr. Roosevelt's money comes from, but where his ideas come from, and I see multiplying signs that his ideas come from those who set up monopoly and who naturally wish to maintain it. I am no more in favor of a gentlemanly monopoly than one that is rude and impolite."

The governor brought forth in the same speech his ideas on regulating competition. "Governor's Ideas of Regulation. "You will say, 'Will you set up competition by statute?' I am not as innocent as I look," said the nominee. "I am not maintaining that you can command men to compete, but I do say that you can remove the now superable impediments to competition. No body of men who control 75 per cent of the iron mines of the country ought to be allowed to discriminate in the prices at which they sell their iron as between those who are in the combine and those who are not; because we cannot allow the raw materials and mineral resources of this country to be monopolized and privately controlled. No combination of men ought to discriminate between retail dealers. I have therefore promised myself to do everything in my power, whether elected to office or not, to expose the monopoly of enterprise in the United States."

The governor added that "the monopoly of enterprise" meant "the monopoly of police power."

The Republican theory of government—I challenge you to disprove it," continued the nominee, "is a theory of government through a board of trustees, through a selected number of big business men of the country, who know a lot that you do not know and who take it for granted that your ignorance would wreck the prosperity of the United States and the ambition of Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt is to elect President of

RUSSIA MAY TAKE A HAND IN THE PRESENT FOREIGN TROUBLES.

ALBANIANS TO AID TURKEY

Many of Them Flock to the Turkish Standard—Austria Mobilizing Her Army for Seizure of the Province of Novibazr Should Turkey Lose it—Reported That Turkish Garrison Meets Decisive Defeat—A Terrific Struggle is Expected Should Russia Take a Hand in Affairs.

Vienna, Oct. 12.—Heavy fighting is reported at Scutari. The Turks are endeavoring to hold the town against the attacking Montenegrins until reinforcement arrive. It is reported the Montenegrins are infuriated because Albanians flocked to the Turkish standard and instead of the invaders burning the Albanian villages cheered the inhabitants. Complications are feared because of reports that the Montenegrins occupied Sanjack of Novibazr, which Austria considers her own special sphere to influence. Should Austria and the Montenegrins clash it is believed Russia would take a hand as the Czar is backing the Montenegrins.

Terrific Struggle Expected.

Paris, Oct. 12.—It is reported here that peace negotiations between Turkey and Italy are broken and that the Italian fleet is about to attempt a passage of the Dardnells. The diplomats see international complications if this is true and the Italian fleet gains entrance to the sea of Marmora Turkey's end is inevitable. This means Russia of all the powers will share Turkey's division and this will hardly be affected without a terrific struggle.

Austria Getting Ready.

Vienna, Oct. 12.—Austria is partly mobilizing her army for the seizure of the province of Novibazr should Turkey lose it, according to reports.

Turkish Garrison Driven Back.

Reguza, Austria, Oct. 12.—The Scutari Turkish garrison has been driven back to the innermost defenses by the Montenegrins, says a report from northern Albania. It is considered doubtful if the Turks can hold out until reinforcements arrive.

Constantinople, Oct. 12.—The Sultan has proclaimed a general mobilization of the army. "In taking advantage of Turkey's difficulties, small neighbors who have sent troops against us must not be allowed to tread on our sacred soil," said the proclamation.

BEGINS DAMAGE SUIT ON ACCOUNT OF INJURY.

Charles E. Hall Files Action Against the Southern Railway for $3,000.

Asheville, Oct. 12.—Charles E. Hall has filed the complaint in a suit against the Southern railway which he brings for the recovery of damages in the sum of $3000 for alleged personal injuries received some months ago at Salisbury, when he was struck by a switching engine.

The complaint recites that the plaintiff was in Salisbury at the time of the occurrence, and was crossing the tracks in the railroad yards for the purpose of boarding the Greensboro train, when the engine struck him and severely injured him on the head and limbs.

It is contended that no bell was rung, and that the plaintiff was not otherwise notified of the approach of the train.

High School the Winner.

There was another game of baseball yesterday between the boys of the Salisbury High School and those of the Sacred Heart school and the result 11 to 3 in favor of the High school. This was the third game between these two teams, the other two being won by the Sacred Heart boys.

the board of trustees." The governor today referred to the late Mark Hanna as the man who stood for "the concentration of economic control," at the same time that he stood for "the concentration of political control of the United States."

Mr. R. L. Mahaley, of Richmond, is in the city for a few days on business.
