SUIT IS INSTITUTED AGAINST SOUTHERN.

Asheville, Sept. 19.—J. C. Curtis, of Candler, has qualified as the administrator of the estate of Fred L. Smathers, who recently was killed on the local yard of the Southern by an engine.

Mr. Curtis yesterday instituted suit against the Southern, although the complaint has not yet been filed and it is not known how much will be asked for. Zeb F. Curtis, through whom the suit was instituted, stated yesterday that the estate of Mr. Smathers will seek damages in a large sum, probably not less than $25,000.

DAVIS PARDONED.

Governor Craig Takes Ground Prohibition Leader is Not Guilty.

Raleigh, Sept. 19.—Rev. R. L. Davis, superintendent of the North Carolina Anti-Saloon League, was pardoned this afternoon by Governor Craig from conviction and $10 fine and costs for striking Wiley Straughan over the head with a whiskey bottle. The Governor takes the view that Rev. Mr. Davis is not guilty. Among the petitioners for the pardon were Senators Simmons and Overman, Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, Judge C. M. Cooke and Solicitor H. E. Norris.

Newly discovered evidence was presented, tending to show conspiracy to frame up a case against the prohibition leader.

Alexander Woman Died From Injuries Inflicted by Daughter.

New Hope, R-1, Sept. 15.—Mrs. Cornelia Holder of Gwatney township, Alexander county, died yesterday and was buried today at Pilgrim church.

Some time ago her daughter, Zeldia Orton, became deranged and was very hard to manage. In a struggle with her mother she struck at the latter with a table fork sticking the fork in her mother's knee. The young woman was sent to the State Hospital at Morganton. Mrs. Holder's knee became inflamed and the wound grew worse until Mrs. Holder died, her death occurring at the home of her son-in-law, Frank Buntain.

HOW TO DRESS IN THE FALL TO BE COMFORTABLE.

How to dress during these first days of autumn, when the nights are cool and the days are often warm, even hot sometimes, is a problem that bothers some folks. But the reason it bothers them is because they do not want to be bothered a little physically. They want to wear the same clothes all day and still be comfortable. So they either pull on heavy underclothing that makes them comfortable early in the morning and late in the evening, and very uncomfortable and likely to say harsh things after the sun gets high in his course, or else they continue to wear the same gauzy, diaphanous garments that feel light an d airy in the blaze of the September sun, but seem the cool of the evening and morning like the nothing they almost are in.

Now every normal person is possessed of that sort of common sense that has been described as horse sense, "the kind that a jackass hasn't got." The difficulty is that some will not exercise it, especially if the yielding to that horse sense involves the expenditure of a little effort.

Of course there is only one thing to do to be comfortable in the fall of the year and avoid any chilling of the system that is liable to weaken the resistance to disease, and that is to have convenient for early morning and late evening some kind of outer wrap to slip on and off as the temperature changes. That's where the trouble comes in. People hate to take upon themselves all the extra effort of carrying around that wrap. Well, of course they don't have to; they can pay for the privilege of not being bothered with it by being uncomfortable a good part of the day, and maybe by being sick in the bargain.

It is just as unwise to put on winter underclothing before the cold weather comes to stay as it is to pull it off before the summer weather gets settled. The sensible way to keep pace with the rapid changes in the fall and spring is by changing the outer clothing.

It is found advisable by many to use intermediate undergarments for the period of season change, but that is hardly necessary for the average person. The outer wrap kept handy is the thing.—Health Bulletin.

The problem of unemployment being rather acute in Berlin, two suburban municipalities have suggested that all the communes of Berlin should cooperate in a system of unemployment insurance. The leaders of the trade unions says that there are at present 50,000 men in the city without work. The evil is worst in the building trade and is ascribed to the increased price of land and the strain upon the money market.
