General Barnett Commands Marine Corps

Major General George Barnett commands the United States marine corps, the "web footed soldiers and sailors, too," who serve aboard the big warships. He has been head of the corps since February, 1914, and has had a long and active career as a marine. He was graduated from the Naval academy in 1881.

TEXTILE DEPARTMENT A. & M. COLLEGE.

The Textile Department at the A. & M. College is recognized by the United States Government as one of the leading textile schools in America. This department which is a fully equipped textile school has been selected by the U. S. Government through the Office of Markets to make a number of important tests on the five full grades of cotton. These tests will be of great importance to the cotton manufacturer as they will determine the relative amount of waste in each of the five full grades, and will also embrace tests for tensile strength, bleaching qualities, etc.

The work is directly under the charge of Mr. W. S. Dean who is a graduate of the Textile Department class of 1909. He is being assisted in the work by other cotton men and by students of the department. The evening service was in charge of the Baraca Bible class. A member of short talks were made by different members of the class and a pleasing feature of the service was the music there being several solos and a quintette beside the congregational singing.

distinction," said the preacher, "that can be accorded a man in this world is to give him a position in the church of God." Church relationship should not be taken lightly, said the preacher, nor should one speak lightly of the church which institution he held up as one of that challenges the admiration of God and man.

FIRST REGIMENT MEN VACCINATED.

Major Flannigan Goes to Statesville After More Men—Soldiers Well Situated and Getting On Fine.

Major R. L. Flannigan of the First North Carolina regiment now stationed at Camp Glenn, Morehead City, was in the city a short time this morning going to his home at Statesville where he will endeavor to secure recruits for the regiment.

Major Flannigan says there are about 2,500 troops at Camp Glenn and that they are getting on fine. There has been little or practically no sickness among the men, especially in the First regiment. Many of the men are feeling the effects of vaccination, 800 in the First regiment having been given the typhoid vaccine and this was closely followed by administering the smallpox vaccine.

The members of the First regiment, having been the first to arrive at camp, had choice of location and were given the old camp quarters, which have every convenience. The weather has been hot and dry at the camp and it has consequently been somewhat dusty.

Major Flannigan is of the opinion that the First as well as Second and Third regiments will be sent to the Mexican border, though just when this will be done he would not venture a prophecy.

CARS FOR ENCAMPMENT.

Council Street Line Will Be in Operation for Uniform Rank, W. O. W. Encampment.

For the benefit of Woodmen and others who are interested it is learned from Superintendent Joe Robertson, of the street railway lines, that the fair ground line will be in operation again in time for the encampment of the Uniform Rank, Woodmen of the World, at the fair grounds in September. It is estimated that the work now in progress on this line will require about six weeks. Of course the weather is to be considered and if there is not too much interference from bad weather the line will be in fine shape to handle patrons during the big encampment.

DEATHS

MR. GAMBLE DIES SUDDENLY.

Well Known Clerk at Terminal Hotel; Stricken With Paralysis and Hemorrhage.

Mr. Andrew M. Gamble, clerk at the Terminal Hotel, was stricken with paralysis, accompanied by a hemorrhage, Saturday night about 8:30 o'clock and died within a short time.

Mr. Gamble had not been in the best of health lately but was feeling as well as usual and had attended a ball game during the afternoon and was on duty at the hotel. He walked across the office to the water cooler to get a drink of water when he was noticed to be in a falling position. Help reached him and he was removed to one of the bedrooms and a physician summoned but expired in a short time.

Mr. Gamble was 45 years old, a native of Guilford county, a son of Andrew and Amanda Gamble. He lived in Greensboro for some time and came to Salisbury about ten years ago, and had made his home here. He was married to Miss Louise Sheets several years ago and the wife survives.

The remains were removed to the home at 122 North Shaver street and the funeral was held there at 10 o'clock this morning, conducted by Rev. Dr. Byron Clark of the First Presbyterian church and the interment was in Chestnut Hill cemetery. The pall bearers were H. E. Ruff, J. V. Wallace, R. L. Mahaley, J. C. Deaton, J. F. Ludwick and J. E. Hennessee.

The deceased had a large circle of friends who were shocked at the announcement of his death. He was a whole-souled, companionable man, a devoted husband and was liked by all who knew him.

Today And A Generation Hence

The flight of time makes us think of the future. The baby of today reflects what greatness may be acquired when he grows up. And any influence that brings relief to the expectant mother is the first and greatest of obligations. There is a splendid remedy known as "Mother's Friend" that has been a safeguard, a helpful daily assistance, a help to a host of women. Applied externally to the muscles they become pliant, they stretch without undue pain, there is an ease of mind, the nerves are soothed and the baby is born in the best of health. It is indeed a "Mother's Friend" the direct result of that all expectant mothers should have. They learn at once that the medicine brings relief to the mother, they experience the joy of a healthy baby. Get a bottle today of "Mother's Friend" at the nearest drug store. METHODIST WORSHIP IN TABERNACLE.

Building Has Been Made Comfortable and Inviting—Baracas Have Charge of Night Services.

The members of the First Methodist church are now occupying their temporary home at the Tabernacle, corner of Fisher and Jackson streets. It was found yesterday that the building is admirably adapted to Sunday school work. Many of the classes have curtailed off rooms and there is little confusion during the lesson period.

By the use of the regular church and pews and the electric fans and newly-made windows the Tabernacle is a very comfortable place for worship.

Dr. Marr, the pastor, yesterday morning preached a great church sermon getting his theme from a Psalm where is recorded the great desire of David to find a place of worship and service in the church of God.

Dr. Marr admonished the young men that if they wanted to be really worth while they should go into the Kingdom of God and find a place in the economy of God. "The greatest
