TO A LADY KNITTING.

Little woman, hourly sitting,
Something for a soldier knitting,
What a fancy can you see?
Many pictures come to me.
Through the stitch that now you're making
I behold a bullet breaking;
I can see some soldier lying
In that garment, slowly dying,
And that very bit of thread
In your fingers, turns to red.
Gray today; perhaps tomorrow
Crimsoned by the blood of sorrow.

Someone's boy that was a baby
Soon shall wear it, and it may be
He shall write and tell his mother
Of the kindness of another,
And her spirit shall caress you,
And her prayers at night shall bless you:
You may never know its story,
Cannot know the grief or glory
That are destined now, and hover
Over him your wool shall cover,
Nor what spirits shall invade it,
Once your gentle hands have made it.

Little woman, hourly sitting
Something for a soldier knitting,
'Tis no common garb you're making,
These, no common pains you're taking.
Something lovely, holy, lingers
O'er the needles in your fingers,
And with every stitch you're weaving
Something of yourself you're leaving.
From your gentle hands, and tender,
There may come a nation's splendor;
And from this, your simple duty,
Life may win a fairer beauty.

NEW YORK WATCHES HEATLESS DAY CLOSE

Conditions are Much Improved and the Administrator Permitted Coat and Garment Makers to Work.

(By Associated Press.)
New York, Feb. 11.—While the 4th heatless Monday in New York is being enforced as strictly as ever its predecessors were the fuel administration has granted right to operate to the entire cloak and suit industry and permitted 90,000 workers, mostly women and children to continue work.
A close watch was maintained on saloons and barber shops through the day, these being the principal offenders of the past. The gradual breaking away of the ice in the harbors and the movements from tide water ports show a continued improvement during the past 24 hours and the administrator reports 25,000 tons of freight received yesterday and the additional employment of labor, all of which are hopeful signs.
