WOMAN'S WAR WORK

Including the Various Interests and Activities of Rowan Women in the Fight for Freedom.

Saturday afternoon Miss Henderson, city chairman of the Liberty loan campaign, met with the captains of the different teams—the red, white and blue—and distributed cards to be used in the drive Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. These cards are now in the hands of the members of the teams, and during the three days mentioned the ladies will call on the parties named on the cards and solicit subscriptions to the fourth Liberty loan.

The Red Cross chapter of Salisbury has just received an urgent appeal from government for conservation of two metals needed in the prosecution of the war. One is a metal which can be used merely by conserving heretofore waste products—this metal is the homely tin, which is used for so many domestic purposes—the other is the rarer, but equally essential metal platinum, which many of our members possess in the form of jewelry and other articles which they may be willing to sacrifice for their country's needs. Surely one or the other of these two metals can be collected by the Red Cross chapter in our town. We ask our members and the public generally to keep for us every bit of tinfoil, every tube of salve or toothpaste, every old pewter toy or vessel of any sort. Tin is made from these and we must have tin to carry on the war. Platinum is more precious, but tin, too, many of our members may have. We ask the help of each patriotic citizen of every store using tin in any form, of every person willing and anxious to win the war. We cannot use tin cans—they are tin in name only—but we can and will use every other form of tin. Get all the tin foil and empty tooth paste tubes together and send them to the Red Cross rooms and, of course, the precious platinum, if you have any.

The Bureau of Conservation, established at National Headquarters of the American Red Cross at Washington is also urging the saving of all fruit stones, fruit pits, and all nut shells. As stated before in this column, carbon is made from these, and this carbon is the chief element used in protecting our soldiers from the German poison gases, so it is quite a patriotic duty to see that these stones and shells are not thrown away, but kept and deposited in receptacles which will be placed at convenient places about town. Here is a list of the materials wanted: peach stones or seeds, apricot pits, prune pits, plum pits, olive pits, date seeds, cherry pits, brazil nut shells, walnut, English walnut or native nut shells, hickory nut shells, butternut shells. All of these articles listed may be mixed together, but care must be used not to include any material not listed. These alone contain the chemicals desired.

Mrs. J. E. Alexander has just received the following cards:

"Dear ladies of the Cantec, I appreciate your work, and thank you most sincerely for your kindness to my two boys.—Mrs. Lena Gibbs, Newbury, N. Y."

"Ladies of the Red Cross: This is from one of the boys of Battery E, 75, who has just passed through your home town. You are surely great and we appreciate your kindness, and send thanks for the nice chicken dinner you gave us. In return we will help to give the Kaiser hell."

That chicken dinner was responsible for at least three declaring Salisbury would be their home after the war.

While enjoying these good things to eat Sergeant Carey, an overseas man, told how he and some other Americans were separated from their company and lived for awhile on canned tomatoes dropped from airplanes. The enemy planes he designated as "Jerries," and said when the men go to sleep they always turn the faces of their watches under a light from "Jerries" shining on them would reveal their sleeping places. He said many of the people of Alsace-Lorraine were quite pro-German, especially the women, and one of them routed him out of a hayloft where he was sleeping with a pitchfork. Among the German prisoners taken by his company, eight German women fighting in men's uniforms, were part of the bunch. "Cheerful and always ready to joke" even when starting over the top is the chief characteristic of the American soldier, he says, and "cooties" and rats their greatest abomination, the latter, however, proving invaluable before a gas attack, as they always aced the trenches before an attack, he made and the was thrown over.

Mrs. D. A. Atwell and her sister, Mrs. A. L. Tiyer, leave tomorrow for Jacksonville, Fla., to visit their father, Dr. George L. Harding, a Confederate veteran, 90 years old. Mrs. Atwell leaves with a clear conscience, for the allotment of cotton pads is made and packed. She feels this visit home has been made possible by the workers who during this last week did such fine work and completed the allotment.

WAR SAVINGS DRIVE IN DECEMBER.
Government Requests State to Sell Quota of Stamps This Year. War Savings Pledge Solemn Obligation.

Winston-Salem, Sept. 28.—State Headquarters for War Savings announced today that an intensive campaign to finish selling the State's quota of Stamps by January 1, 1919 would be put on at the close of the Allied Relief Fund Campaign in November. Meanwhile, it was stated, the redeeming of outstanding pledges to the War Savings Campaign will be encouraged. This is considered necessary if the Government's request of the State to raise $48,500,000 in War Savings Stamps this year is complied with. Attention has been called to the fact that the War Savings pledge is a solemn obligation or "promise to pay" that must be kept from the reason that the Government has been given the assurance that this amount could be counted on.

The plan of the War Savings sale campaign which will take place about the first of December will be, first, to redeem all remaining outstanding pledges, and second, to secure additional sales sufficient to finish the State's quota. An urgent request from the Treasury Department at Washington makes this an imperative obligation upon the State War Savings Director.

CHURCH OUT OF DEBT.

Yesterday the Shady Grove Baptist church, colored, Rev. J. W. Hairston, pastor, finished their financial rally which amounted to $2,676.85. This was a great success and after voting the pastor a donation of one hundred dollars and appropriating enough to pay off the mortgage on the church, had remaining $300.57, which was placed in the church treasury. The following resolutions were passed:

Whereas, Mr. W. F. Snider and the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, of Salisbury, have been especially nice to us in handling our notes, and

Whereas, we feel it would have taken us much longer, with added expense, to pay for our church had it not been for their kindness; therefore, be it resolved:

That we, the Shady Grove Baptist church, in congregation assembled, tender them a rising vote of thanks, and that a copy of these resolutions be placed upon our church minutes and record books for our children to read, and that a copy be sent to the bank.

SPANISH INFLUENZA ENROUTE

Two Cases at the Passenger Station Sunday—Afflicted Men Were on Their Way Up Western Road.

There were two cases of what was pronounced as Spanish influenza at the passenger station Sunday, the victims being two men who had been working at some of the government works in Virginia. They were on their way to their homes at points up the Western road and were quite sick when they arrived here. They spent the day here, awaiting the departure of a train last night, and during their stop were quartered in an off section of the station and no one allowed to come in close contact with them and no danger of others becoming infected was anticipated.
