News Interests London

London, Nov. 25.—This morning's London newspapers display prominently the German advice regarding the agreement between the Soldiers' and Workmen's Council and the government, which is regarded as a development of great importance and as tantamount to the overthrow of the Ebert-Hasse combination and the abolition of at least theoretically of the existing Russian system. It is admitted the German councils have not developed extravagances which led to the disintegration and anarchy in Russia; the councils are being dominated by the Bolshevik element.

International Situation at Crisis

London, Nov. 25.—(British Wireless Service.)—Latest reports received in London from Germany indicate that internal situation there has reached a critical stage. Although a proclamation has been issued declaring all political power is in the hands of the German Socialist Republic, Soldiers and Workmen's council, opposition is growing outside of Berlin and in the greater part of Southern Germany, including Wurtemberg and Bavaria and it is declared submission will not be made to terrorism of dictatorship in Berlin which has replaced the kaiser and militarism.

An independent republic has also been formed in northwest Germany with Hamburg as the capital. Even in Prussia, according to reports, the feeling against the Berlin Soldiers and Workmen's council has gained ground.

TRY TO INFLUENCE RETURNING TROOPS

Dr. Karl Liedknecht, Radical Socialist Leader in Germany, is Scattering Propaganda to Spartacus Group of Extreme Radicals.

(By the Associated Press)

Berlin, Sunday, Nov. 24.—Dr. Karl Liedknecht, the radical Socialist leader, is devoting himself primarily at present to effect to influence the men returning from the front. His henchmen comprise a small army of red soldiers who are accused of packing various meetings sufficiently to secure a majority necessary to push through resolutions and other measures calculated to embarrass the present government.

Dr. Liedknecht's agitation in its entirety is official propaganda to the Spartacus group of extreme radicals. He chiefly directs his attacks at the proposed national assembly.

The indications so far, however, are that his efforts to win over returning soldiers has failed absolutely and yesterday's meeting was marked by violent opposition of the soldiers who declared they had been attracted to the meeting under false pretense. The radical leader's oratory is forceful and vindictive. His principle appeal is to the proletariat.

DISASTROUS FIRE VISITS STATESVILLE

Sunday Morning Blaze Wipes Out the Hotel Iredell and Other Business Houses are Burned—Salisbury Appealed to for Help.

Statesville, Nov. 24.—Fire of an unknown origin which originated in the basement of Hamoy's candy kitchen, entirely destroyed the Hotel Iredell building here at an early hour this morning, the structure burned being one of the largest in the city. In addition to the loss of the hotel building which was complete, the stock of merchandise of the McLellan stores, the Iredell barber shop, Hamoy's candy kitchen and the Iredell Produce company, were completely burned up.

The property loss based on a conservative estimate is above $100,000, the losers being as follows: Hotel Iredell building, valued at $40,000 with $15,000 insurance; McLellan stores, $17,000 with $10,000 insurance; John H. Gray, proprietor Hotel Iredell, $3,000, no insurance; J. G. Hamilton, owner Iredell barber shop, $1,500 loss with $600 insurance; Joseph Hamoy, loss $23,000 with $12,500 insurance, and J. E. Tharpe, owner Iredell Produce company, loss of $9,000 with $2,000 insurance.

The hotel building belonged to Stamey J. Holland, of Statesville, and was built about 25 years ago. The hotel furniture and fixtures was also the property of Mr. Holland.

The fire was first discovered by W. A. Thomas, a guest of the hotel who was awakened by the smoke coming in at his window. He at once awakened in an alarm and then proceeded to awaken the guests, 10 in number, who were able to escape with their belongings.

Prompt response and heroic fire fighting by the local firemen is responsible for the fact that the whole block in which the hotel building is situated, was not completely wiped out. As it was, however, the fire was confined to the building, and although at one time it seemed as if the entire block would be swept away, the fire men were able to confine its activities to the one spot. To the magnificent leadership of Col. L. B. Bristol, mayor of Statesville, is attributed the fact that considerable more damage was not done from the conflagration.

The mayor was on the spot from the first and directed the work of the fire fighting in such a way as to cause the least damage possible, and to him is accredited the fact that the fire did not spread.

The local fire company of Mooresville was called upon for assistance and sent several fighters and their truck to the service, the squad rendering valiant service in helping to conquer the flames. Most of those who were burned out have opened up temporary quarters, and will open for business tomorrow. The fire today is the most disastrous that has visited Statesville in 20 years, when an entire block was wiped out.

Salisbury Called Upon

When the fire at Statesville was at its height and it looked as though the whole business block along Depot Street in which the Hotel Iredell was located would burn Salisbury was telephoned to for assistance, the call coming from the fire station at the city hall and Chief W. A. Brown was at once communicated with and he was getting ready to make preparation for the taking to Statesville of men and apparatus. However, before he had assembled the department word came that the fire was under control and it was thought it could be handled without the help of the Salisbury firemen. The Salisbury firemen were ready to gladly answer the call from Statesville but were glad the fire was gotten under control before further threatened destruction resulted.

Vienna, Nov. 25.—Declaring the pressing need of Austria for assistance from America and the allies Former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary insisted today that the danger of Bolshevism is very great in his country. It was in conversation with an Associated Press correspondent that the former sovereign told of the peril impending.

The former emperor, his wife and five children are at Eckertau, castle. "I authorized the Associated Press to say that not a single day should be lost by the people here, so grave is the situation," he said. "During the war one of my preoccupations was the task of obtaining food for the soldiers and people but now, notwithstanding all my efforts, it is most distressing to find none left for them. If America and the allies do not recognize this fact suffering here will be great in a few weeks. Indeed, it is already so and every day we do not use in an endeavor to get food is a day lost."

Lieut. Burton Linker, of Fort Sill, Okla., is at home on a furlough.

SHERIFF KRIDER KILLS NEGRO MAN

Charlie McKinley Had Gun Drawn on Sheriff Who Had Gone to Arrest Him—Sheriff Exonerated by Coroner's Jury.

Charlie McKinley, negro, was shot and instantly killed in a railroad shanty car on a siding near the old Surratt storein Spencer Sunday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock by Sheriff J. H. Krider, who acted in self-defense.

McKinley a short time previous had trouble in East Spencer when he shot five times at Viola Davis, negress. He had been hanging around the woman and she gave him no inducement to show that she cared for him. She is married and told McKinley to stay away from her. Sunday afternoon he attempted to see her but she eluded him and was going along Long street when he fired five times at her and chased her into the house of white residents. The officers were notified and Sheriff Krider, Deputy Naah, Officer Williams and others went out after him. It was learned that he was in a shanty car on the Spencer yards near the old Surratt store and when the officers went there they found a number of negro men gambling. Sheriff Krider entered the door of the car, which was poorly lighted, and he had hardly gotten inside until he was looking into the muzzle of a pistol in the hands of a negro who afterward proved to be McKinley. The sheriff was too quick for his man and fired as a flash raised his pistol and freed, the bullet taking effect near the heart and the negro dropped dead.

Sheriff Krider and the other officers then placed the other men under arrest and brought them to Salisbury and placed them in jail and notified Coroner D. L. Sides of the killing, and he at once summoned a jury and held an inquest. In the meantime the body of the dead negro was brought to Sumner's undertaking establishment where it was viewed by the jury and then this body remained to the coroner's room in the courthouse where the case was investigated.

The men who had been arrested were brought over from the jail and were examined one at a time, the others being kept out of the room during the examinations. Each of these men told the same story without variation. It was to the effect that McKinley came to the car and told his wife to get out of the car and he would follow her. She turned and drew her gun, pointing it directly at the sheriff at close range.

Viola Davis, the negro woman who had been shot at by McKinley testified as to that affair and said McKinley told her no white man would ever put his hands on him while he had her gun.

The coroner's jury then rendered the following verdict in substance: That Charlie McKinley came to his death by a shot from a pistol in the hands of Sheriff J. H. Krider while the latter was performing his duty and that he acted in self-defense.

The jury was composed of E. W. Brady, W. W. Peterson, F. C. Talbot, John Kennerly, D. W. Julian and T. W. Sumners.

Sheriff Krider has been an officer for 12 years and yesterday was the first time he had ever looked into the barrel of a gun in the hands of another man. There appears to be no doubt but that if it had not been for the quickness of the sheriff in getting his pistol into action he would have been shot by McKinley and probably killed. He regrets the affair but under the circumstances there was nothing else for him to do and he and all who know the circumstances in the case feel that he was fully justified in killing McKinley.

The dead negro was employed on one of the section crews or work trains and hailed from Alabama and was known as "Barn." Among the effects he carried in his pockets was a set of dice.

The remains of McKinley were buried today at the county home at the expense of the county.

Four negroes charged with gambling in the car when the sheriff entered were given a hearing in the county court this morning. Three were fined $10 and costs and one was acquitted.
