FRICK COMPANY IS GREATLY ENLARGING

To Take Over One of the Big Plants of the Emerson-Brantingham Company at Waynesboro, Pa.

Mr. P. M. Dellinger, manager of the local branch of the Frick Machinery Company, has received information that his company will at an early date take over one of the big plants of the Emerson-Brantingham Implement Company at Waynesboro, Pa., the factory to be taken over being the old Geiser plant at Waynesboro and which employs hundreds of workmen. This plant builds heavy machinery, such as tractor and portable steam engines, saw mills and the like. The deal has practically been consummated and is now awaiting the approval of the board of directors, and it is said several million dollars are involved in the deal. This, it is said, will give the Frick company the largest plant for the manufacture of heavy machinery and saw mills east of Ohio. The Frick company has for a number of years been engaged in the manufacture of just such machinery as is being turned out at the old Geiser plant at Waynesboro, and has for some time been contemplating the erection of another plant to take care of its growing business, but an opportunity presented itself to purchase the Emerson-Brantingham Geiser plant and negotiations followed. It will be good news also to know that this deal does not mean any reduction in the size or output of the Emerson-Brantingham Company which will continue to do business and give more special attention to the lighter machinery and farming apparatus.

FLYERS GOT LOST

Two Airmen Bound for Luskey Marriage at Thomasville Last Saturday Landed in Statesville.

The following is taken from the Statesville Landmark of date of Thursday, November 18:

Statesville people, reading an account of the spectacular wedding at Thomasville Saturday, in which the participants arrived for the wedding in airplanes, remembered that Saturday two airplanes passed over Statesville. It has later developed that these airplanes were bearing the wedding party to Thomasville.

The airplanes landed in a field on C. A. Dulin's farm, three miles east of Statesville. The men told Mr. Dulin that they were on their way to a wedding at Thomasville, that they were traveling from Columbia, S. C., and had lost their way. They followed the wrong railroad out of Charlotte, coming to Statesville instead of taking the Salisbury road.

FARMERS COOPERATE IN BUYING SUPPLIES

Chicago, Nov. 17.—Cooperative purchase of supplies by farmers running cooperative grain elevators is now under way in a number of middle western states and the government is rapidly developing, according to headquarters of the Farmers National Grain Dealers Association here. Its officers say there is likelihood that a national cooperating purchasing organization will be formed here in December at the association's first national convention.

Ohio farmers who have organized a $100,000 purchasing company are reported to have contracted for the output of a coal mine and a feed mill and to be buying materials, such as fencing and sugar, by the carload. In Iowa formation by farmers of a million dollar corporation having purchases of farm supplies as one of its chief functions is reported.

The general plan is stated to be to pool purchases and sell by mail order.

ANOTHER TRIUMPH FOR THE LIBERTY MOTOR

Army Planes Whiz Over Glaciers And Wooded Wildernesses.

Ford built Liberty Motors carried the four army airplanes which on October 20 completed the 9,000-mile journey from Mitchell Field, Long Island, to Nome, Alaska, and return. The fleet was greeted over New York City by a flotilla of forty army planes which escorted it to touched their wheels to earth at 3:15 in the afternoon.

The Alaskan Flying Expedition, commanded by Captain St. Clair Street, undertook the journey to demonstrate the durability of modern airplanes and moors, and to effect the establishment of an aerial route to the Northwestern corner of the American Continent and Asia. Such a route would bring mail from Alaska to the States in two or three days, whereas the present method of transmission requires thirty days.

"Talk about service," said Captain Street. "Those planes and motors sure stood up. Why, the only trouble we had on the entire trip was caused by the worst bit of weather I've ever flown thru or want to fly thru. We had everything—rain, snow, hail and sleet, clouds, fog and mist. But we kept on flying. The 230 miles of glaciers we traversed was a wonderful sight, but there would have been little hope for rescue had we cracked up in that wilderness. Altogether, it was a rough trip. I never want to fly thru such weather again, but the planes stood it magnificently. Instead of battered hulks, flopping to earth after winded flight, they looked brand new. Even the turnbuckles were polished and the motors looked as if they had just come off the testing block.

"We never changed a spark plug. Never a cylinder missed on us the entire trip. The motors are in as good condition today as when we set out."

Before the flight, all the pilots asked for ships equipped with Ford made Liberty motors.

Due to the nature of the work which engaged the expedition, the fleet required a period of three
