PLANS MADE TO CONTROL FLOODS

Asheville, Dec. 22.—Control of floods thruout the goutheastern section of the United States is the tentative plan of the Southeastern Water Resources office of the United State Geological survey, with headquarters here. The idea is to temporarily dam waters originating in the western Carolina mountains during periods of excessive rain. Huge basins would be built in mountain crevasses, into which flood waters could be turned and stored until high waters of streams lower down had subsided. Streams whose sources are in this section form rivers in Tennessee, South Carolina and Georgia

BICKETT APPEALS FOR STARVING, FREEZING CHILDREN OF EUROPE Raleigh, Dec. 21. - Governor

Bickett today issued a proclama-tion urging all North Carolina to 'cut their own Christmas expenses to the bone and seek their hap-piness in releiving the misery of millons" of children in Europe who are suffering for lack of food and clothing. The proclamation follows.

straight to a man's heart and rouses all his energies, it is the cry of a child for help. Such a cry comes to us from over the seas. There are millions of ,little children literally freezing for lack of clothing and starving for lack of bread.

"We have no right to be happy over here while God's little ones are dying by the thousands over there. There can be no Christmas in our hearts unless we show forth the spirit of Christ. I urge our people to cut their own Christmas expenses to the bone and seek their happiness in relieving the misery of millions in other lands. "A great drive for the relief of these people, under the leadership of Henry A. Page, of Aberdeen, is now on. Let every man, woman and child in the state make their
