Prominent Georgia Lady Suffered from Faint Spells and Sleeplessness—Relieved by Ziron.

People who get to feeling weak every now and then, and who do not seem to get the proper refreshment from rest, sleep and recreation, need a tonic to help their blood revitalize and build up their system.

For this, you will find Ziron Iron Tonic very valuable, as the testimony of thousands already has proved. Mrs. J. W. Dysart, lady of a prominent Georgia family residing near Cartersville, says: "I didn't feel like myself. I didn't rest well some nights. I would be just as tired when I got up in the morning as when I went to bed. I would get weak, and have kind of faint spells—at times hardly able to do my household work. I heard of Ziron, and felt maybe a tonic would help me. I thought it would at least strengthen me. I believe Ziron has done me good. I feel better. I am glad to recommend it as a good tonic." Try Ziron. Our money-back guarantee protects you. At your drugist's.

LABOR MAY USE "NORFOLK IDEA" TO FIGHT CAPITAL

May Use Capital to Fight Capital—Idea Said to Have Proved a Success in Norfolk.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Labor's answer to recent legal and legislative setbacks may be to fight capital with capital itself.

An experiment, now called "the Norfolk Idea," and conducted by the International Association of Machinists, is being much discussed and, it is said, is about to be repeated on the Pacific Coast. In brief, the Norfolk idea is the use of capital assets and credit of organized labor in the fight to force employers to meet its demands.

As explained by E. C. Davison, secretary of the machinists, there was a strike in the Crescent Iron Works, at Norfolk, late in 1920. The labor union strategy was simple.

The outstanding obligations of the Crescent Iron Works were bought up and control thus having been gained, support was furnished thru extension of credit and active co-operation of affiliated branches of organized labor.

Men Kept Employed.

"Instead of a long struggle in which our members each drew $8 per week in strike benefits," he said, "we succeeded in keeping them all employed at top wages. The industry in Norfolk was saved an expensive period of inactivity, and the city was saved the loss in trade which would have resulted."

When the Iron Masters' Association declared for an open shop in the summer of 1920, investigation disclosed that there was an outstanding mortgage of $40,000 on the Crescent works a few days overdue. Mr. Davison, acting for the union, attempted to buy up the mortgage, but the bank holding it refused to sell. Further inquiry disclosed that many of the bank's depositors were members of unions steps were taken which resulted in a sudden decrease of the institution's deposits on hand. The offer to purchase the mortgage being then renewed, the bank consented to the sale, Mr. Davison explained.

A "showdown" with the management of the Crescent Iron Works followed immediately, Mr. Davison said, the outcome being the reopening of that plant as a strictly union shop.

Union Forces Showdown.

Soon, however, according to Mr. Davison, Norfolk bankers refused to advance credit for current transactions to the Crescent Works; and jobbers, he said, refused to sell it equipment. The Machinists Union at once deposited with a Norfolk bank sufficient cash to cover immediate needs and met the remaining problem by arranging with out-of-town firms for the articles needed to complete the work at hand.

Proponents of the Norfolk idea insist that it offers a legitimate, economical and expeditious way of obtaining relief, at least in isolated cases. Whether it could be used by labor in disputes affecting larger areas and consequently in opposition to more strongly organized opposition, Mr. Davison thought, would have to wait further development.

SICK WOLF BECAME WELL

Helena, Mont., Jan. 15.—"Don't fool with a wolf just because he looks thin and sick," advises Julius Hendrickson of Hathaway.

Julius ought to know. He has just climbed from a tree where a wolf chased him.

A wolf had been raiding stock Julius set out poisoned meat.

When he saw a scrawny wolf foaming at the mouth, he thought he had his poison victim.

Julius swung a shovel at the wolf. The wolf dodged, then started for Julius.

"Woof! woof!" said the wolf. Julius threw the shovel, then started for the nearest tree.

The wolf kept him there for hours.

Duties were paid on 114 wolves killed in Montana last year. Forty-six mountain lions and 10,024 coyotes were killed.

LIQUOR RAID MADE; NEGRO THIEVES UP

Officers Did a Good Night's Work Last Night—Gambling Case on Docket—All Cases Continued.

Three important cases were continued in the county court this morning, these being on the docket as a result of the work of Chief Kessler and his force last night.

The first case called was that against R. G. Melton and A. E. Wilson, two white men, who claim Winston-Salem as their home, they being charged with handling liquor. Chief Kessler got on to their alleged game and learned that they had a quantity of whiskey stored in a room they were occupying on East Council street and laid for them and they were arrested by Chief Kessler, Officers Cauble and Cook and a keg containing something like 15 or 18 gallons of corn whiskey was seized. The men were held in jail on failure to give a $500 bond and this morning held their case continued until next Wednesday, the bonds remaining at $500 each. They will endeavor to arrange this thru friends in Winston-Salem with the clerk of the court of Forsythe, the bonds however, to be approved by the Rowan clerk.

Doug, Strong and Claude Cox, two well dressed mulatto men, were taken into custody late yesterday afternoon on charges of attempting to steal valuable articles of jewelry from several local jewelry stores while looking over a number of articles, ostensibly for the purpose of making a purchase. When searched it was found that they had on their person several gold lockets, set with diamonds, these still containing price tags. It is learned these men are wanted in Hillsboro for storebreaking, and their case was continued until Monday pending further investigation.

Another case on the docket and which was continued to Monday was one against a number of Greeks who are charged with gambling. They were arrested last night in a rear room of the lunch stand and fruit store on East Council street, adjoining the Ford Hotel block.

SCOUT WORK IS MAKING PROGRESS

The Boy Scout council recently organized by T. W. Andrews as president and T. B. Marsh, Jr. as scout commissioner is preparing to begin work. A number of scouts will appear before the court of honor or committee of the council soon to take test in higher scouting. Mr. E. D. McCall, a vice president of the council and head of the court committee has his committee organized to receive the boys who are ready to take higher tests. Several scouts in troop number 2 have passed all tests necessary to be first class scouts and are about ready to take a number of merit badges. Other troops, recently organized, have boys preparing to take the second and first class scout tests. Troop No. 2 last night initiated "Buster" Gregory who is the thirtieth member of the troop, this troop can only take in two more boys which will fill the troop.

SENTIMENTAL NOT ONLY REASON WE SHOULD AID EUROPE

Aberdeen, Jan. 15.—Henry Page chairman of the European relief fund campaign in North Carolina, says that idealistic and sentimental reasons are not the only reason why the United States should aid the 3,500,000 hungry, cold and sick children of Europe, but there are numerous other, some material and tangible. Mr. Page in a statement on the reasons why North Carolina should aid says:

"Aside from all idealistic and sentimental reasons—and there are numerous—there are some material and tangible reasons why North Carolinians, as American citizens, should help to save the lives of the 3,500,000 hungry, cold and sick children in Europe."

"We cannot believe that in the hearts and minds and consciences of the people of North Carolina selfishness has replaced benevolence; avarice supplanted generosity; and pitilessness and mercilessness and indifference superseded compassion to such a degree that they have to be appealed to on the basis of self interest in order to bring them to a realization of the imperative necessity of saving these millions of child lives. It may not be amiss, however, to consider the advantages that will accrue to us as a Nation by reason of our granting relief to these children."

"This is indeed an unusual opportunity that is presented to us. Not only may we purchase the lives of these children, but we have an opportunity to obtain also their everlasting gratitude."

"These children who are now suffering the pangs of hunger, who are cold and sick, are Europe's future statesmen and lawmakers and moulders of public opinion. If, as a nation, insure life to them now instead of allowing them to perish it is patent that we will secure not only their good will but their everlasting gratitude toward America will go with them thru life and be passed on to their children. When the burdens now being borne by the present generation in Europe fall upon the shoulders of these children who were hungry and whom we feed, and who were naked and whom we clothed, isn't it reasonable to suppose that the fact that they are grateful to America for their very lives will do more to promote a spirit of amity, friendship and peace between their countries and America, and go further toward preventing feelings of bitterness, animosity and enmity than all the International Agreements that could possibly be drafted. Never has playing the part of the Good Samaritan engendered feelings of bitterness and hatred."

"The money we invest in saving the lives of these children will not only purchase the very best Peace Insurance Policy that could possibly be written for America, but it will be returned to us in a hundred fold in tax money that we will be able to save by the decreased necessity for large armaments; because it will be absolutely unnecessary for us to maintain implements of warfare for use against people who are indebted to us for their very existence. Certainly, if by the investment of a comparatively small sum of $33,000,000 cordial and friendly relations between these European countries and America in the future generations can be guaranteed, we cannot afford to let the opportunity escape us, because it would be cheap at many times the price."

"If the sad plight of these 3,500,000 children does not appeal to the sentimental side of your nature, will you not, as a practical and patriotic citizen, on the grounds of Patriotism and Real Americanism, help to save them in order that the future relations between these eight European countries and America may be friendly, cordial and peaceful."

MORRISON TO APPOINT WOMEN TO HOLD OFFICE

(By W. T. Bost in Greensboro News.)

Raleigh, Jan. 14.—Governor Cameron Morrison is going to be known as "the women's governor of North Carolina." He is going to call on them all and sundry to help him to beat those who would destroy the primary, and he is going to summon them often and offer to his conferences. "I am going to appoint more women to office than any governor in the United States," he told a bevy of them last night at the Woman's club reception, "and if you don't believe what these newspapers men say about me you are going to find that I am your best friend."

The governor and one of the "newspaper men" who hasn't been a fanatical worshipper of his excellency, were giving an account to the women. The women were calling on him to spare the primary. Governor Morrison "bawled" some well known North Carolinians "and that crowd," then tapped lovingly the shoulder of a chronicler and put the gubernatorial taboo on publication. "I have no hesitancy in saying that the primary ought not to be repealed, and it is not going to be," he said.

"Fact is, I have been a primary man all the time. I put it in three state platforms and I would be a nice man to be asking its repeal now. You say that some of the men I mentioned are not for repeal. No, they are not, but they are trying to get it before the people in the next election."

That gave one of the women an opening. She sailed into the governor and asked him why, if the chief executive opposes a plebiscite on the primary he insisted on a referendum on the suffrage issue.

The governor smiled a great full-faced smile, and looked at the men who know the futility of trying to answer one of these unreasonable suffrage women's questions. Quite apropos of Governor Morrison's announced purpose to appoint women to office and to work heartily with them in political affairs, is the announcement that Col. A. D. Watts is declaring himself opposed to the repeal of the state-wide primary without a vote of the people. Such is the attitude of Speaker Grier.

BAY STATE GOVERNOR FAVORS CYCLE POLICE

In speaking of motor vehicle accidents during his inaugural address, delivered in Boston on January 6th, Governor Channing H. Cox of Massachusetts, declared himself in favor of the establishment of a motorcycle mounted state patrol.

The governor brought out the fact that a careful analysis of motor vehicle accidents in the Bay State indicates that by far the greater number of them resulted from causes that could have been avoided. He suggested the establishment of a motor vehicle patrol as a cure for recklessness and disregard for the highway laws, pointing out that many towns are not equipped with motorcycle police and that even where they were it was not legal for an officer to pursue beyond the boundaries of his town.

Dominguez Must Die

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 13.—The state board of pardons and paroles this afternoon refused to recommend commutation of sentence for Pedro Dominguez, under death sentence, set for execution January 14, in whose behalf the Mexican government had interceded. Dominguez was convicted of having murdered a fellow miner.

The Mexican government's plea was that Dominguez was a Mexican citizen, and insane. The board said it had evidence Dominguez was born in Texas, was a resident of the United States and was not insane, and it saw no reason for disturbing the verdict of the court.

BANNER BUILDING FIRE DOES $20,000 DAMAGE

Greensboro, Jan. 15.—Fire, discovered in the basement of the Banner building at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, damaged the building to the extent of possibly $20,000. The blaze started in the basement, presumably in one of the storage rooms used as storage places. It is not known what caused the fire, but the theory of spontaneous combustion in cotton samples has been advanced.
