

Did you know that a steam heating system costs only slightly more than a hot air heating system? The difference is more than made up in the longer life and economy of operation of the steam system.

TWO BIG STILLS ARE CAPTURED IN CATAWBA

Hickory, Aug. 24.—Two big copper stills within five steps of each other, one on one side of the spring branch at Gordon Whiten-er's home five miles southwest of Hickory and the other on the other side, were raided yesterday afternoon by Special Officer W. A. Abce and both plants destroyed, together with 87 gallons of liquor. It was one of the biggest raids pulled off in many a day. Mr. Abce had heard that the moon-shiners were guarding the stills, known as a double-header, carried two other men with him. The blockaders were not at home, however, and the raiding party had things its own way. One lot of liquor was found in a soja bean field, another lot in woods and the rest hidden around in other spots. The search continued for nearly three hours. The stills had not been cleaned and in them the moonshiners had left the beer from the last run. The booze was poured out, the stills cut up and brought to Hickory.

REV. J. E. GAY DIES SUDDENLY AT MADISON

Madison, Aug. 23.—Rev. J. E. Gay, aged 67, pastor of the Methodist church at Madison died at 8 o'clock this morning of heart failure after an hour's illness. He was one of the best known members of the western North Carolina conference and had been presiding elder of Morganton and other districts. He is survived by his wife, two daughters and one son. The body will be sent to Hillsboro Thursday for interment. Rev. J. E. Abernethy, Salisbury, who was assisting Rev. Mr. Gay in a revival meeting at Madison, returned home.

ALLEGED DRAFT EVADER TRIED

B. D. McCubbins has returned from Camp Jackson, S. C., where he appeared before an army court martial for Arthur Smith, negro, whose name appeared in the Evening Post several weeks ago on the Government's "slacker list." Smith was working for a farmer at Winstboro, S. C., at the time he was called and received his notice. He claims that Amos Davis, the farmer for whom he was working, told him that his papers had not been attended to and that he did not have to go to the army. Smith is being held in Camp Jackson pending a decision of the court martial. Mr. McCubbins thinks that the negro will be released and that the farmer will be taken into custody.

BEST POSTMASTER IN AMERICA IS GIVING BILL HAYS SOME TIPS

(Copyright 1921 by Newspaper Enterprise)

Minneapolis, Aug. 24.—Meet the best postmaster in America—E. A. Purdy.

Purdy runs the Minneapolis post-office. He's a Democrat—plugged hard for Wilson for president in 1912 and was rewarded with the postmaster-ship in 1914. He has done such a good job of it that not only is Postmaster General Will Hays going to retain him, if possible, but Hays has taken him to Washington to give the department pointers on how postoffices should be run.

"A postoffice ought to be more than a place to buy a postage stamp or call for a letter," said Purdy, the day he took office.

How He Did It.
How? Well, for one thing he put a quietus on a general movement in the direction of still higher rents in Minneapolis. The rent boys were clamoring for more; they "wolf cry" was a "housing shortage."

P. M. Purdy just had the mail carriers come to his empty houses and flat. They did it in two days and found 1500. The "housing shortage" was a myth. Did rents go up? No. People found it cheaper to move than to pay higher rent.

Any postmaster with the right public spirit and an equal amount of men can do as much for the rent-ripen tenants of his bailiwick.

Purdy has done a lot of other progressive things to the rusty old postoffice machine. Among them he:

Established an information bureau in the postoffice.

UNSIGHTLY BUILDINGS ARE CRUMBLING IN

About the most unsightly structures in the business section of the city are those on the south side of Council street, just off Main. The old iron clad brick has partly tumbled over and caved in and the adjoining building is also in bad shape. These buildings were condemned some months ago by the board of aldermen and ordered removed but for some reason they are still standing (or partly standing) and constitute a very unsightly spot in the business section of the city. One of them had reached the point where it is unfit for occupancy for any sort of business.

DAVE LOCKERBIE IS STILL MAKING GOOD

Dave Lockerbie, former catcher for the Salisbury-Spencer baseball team, who joined the Greensboro Patriots about ten days ago, is more than making good with that club. Dave was a great favorite with local fans and they are glad to know that he is attracting attention in higher league ball. He was the star in battling in the game between the Patriots and Raleigh at Greensboro yesterday and of his work in that game the Greensboro News says:

"Dave Lockerbie was the hitting demon for the locals yesterday. He got a single, a double and a triple in five times at the plate."

INFANT OF FORMER SALISBURIAN DEAD

The following is taken from the World-News of Roanoke, Va.: "Charles Hendricks Cushing, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Cushing, of 111 Stewart avenue, S. E., died yesterday. The body was taken to Salisbury, N. C., for interment." Mr. Cushing is a former Salisburian, a brother of Mrs. C. M. Henderlite, and has many friends here who will learn with sorrow of his bereavement.

E. A. PURDY

Organized a postal employees band.

Placed all street mail boxes in an exact line to speed collections.

Shot carriers to the start of their routes in automobiles.

Established the postoffice's own garages, thus saving money.

Invented new machinery to facilitate handling of mail.

Started 20-minute collection service in the afternoon in the business district.

Induced railroads to rearrange schedules, speeding up mail four to six hours.

And that isn't all of it. Purdy figured that a special parcel post service to Lake Minnetonka, the summer resort 15 miles from the city, would pay dividends in cash as well as comfort. Answer: Ten trucks carry all kinds of supplies from the city to the resort. Returning, they bring produce from the country to city consumers.

More than that, just to overlook no opportunity for service, Purdy instructed the parcel post men to weigh babies for any mothers at whose home they stopped. So all the babies along the routes can be weighed regularly and their mothers can know definitely whether they are gaining or losing.

Purdy's latest innovation was to install phonograph music for the night force. "They'll not only work faster, but they'll be happier," he said. "From midnight to morning are dismal hours; music will cheer the boys up a bit."

It did—and the work has speeded up 20 per cent.

MRS. L. E. MAXWELL'S MOTHER DIES IN DURHAM

Mrs. Martha Riggsbee, 63 years old, mother of Mrs. L. E. Maxwell, of this city, died at her home in Durham last evening at 7:30 o'clock after an illness of three or more weeks. However, she had been in failing health the past three years. Surviving are two sons, John and Dwight Gattis, and two daughters, Mrs. Floyd Lassiter, of Greensboro, and Mrs. L. E. Maxwell of this city. She had been twice married, both her husbands being dead, before her first marriage she was a Miss Tardin.

Mrs. Maxwell had been with her mother the past three weeks and was at her bedside when she died. Mr. Maxwell left last night for Durham, immediately upon receiving a message announcing the death of Mrs. Riggsbee.

RACES AT FAIR GROUND LABOR DAY

Mr. R. J. Holmes, an oldtimer of the track, is planning a number of races for labor day at the fair grounds. The first to start at 2:30 o'clock. A number of horses have been entered, according to Mr. Holmes, from neighboring counties and some from South Carolina.

Real estate transfers as follows were recorded with the register of deeds yesterday:

Elizabeth B. Henderson to B. A. Eakins and wife, Spencer, $200. C. L. Rogers to R. L. Whitaker, East ward, Whitaker corner, $100 and other considerations.

Nathan Hunt and wife and John A. Lingle, trustees, to Robie Witherspoon, East Spencer, $918. W. R. Woodson to Annie E. Wiseman, Lee street, between Kerr and Cemetery, $2,000.

THEY'RE IN TOWN.

The Walter L. Main circus is paying its first visit in years to Salisbury today and it was given a most enthusiastic welcome partly because the name of Main has lived through all the years since the big show used to make annual visits to the South and then again, no doubt due in a great measure to the popularity of many of the show folks who are well known here and about twenty of them members of Salisbury lodge of Elks.

There were many familiar faces in the crowd of show folks that poured out of the show's Pullman sleepers this morning. Andrew Downie, who owns the Main show is well known in the South and has appeared here before with the Downie and Wheeler show and was for a time the owner of the LaTona wild animal circus. His press agent and right hand man, Fletcher Smith, knows about everybody and is in turn known by every resident of this city. He was with the Sparks show and wintered here for many years. Ray O'Wentney, the equestrian director, was here in a like capacity with the Sparks show and has many friends in the city. Java Koen superintendent of the show's electric lighting plant was here for several winters with the Sparks show and there were many of the lesser lights who have wintered here with Sparks and were recognized this morning about the show grounds.

The Walter L. Main circus has one of the best looking show trains ever seen here. The sleepers were all Pullmans and most of them state room cars. The stock and flat cars were purchased from Charles Sparks last winter and are practically new. The show horses were as fine a bunch of stock as were ever seen here and everyone of them was in the pink of condition. The tents were seemingly new and the show was not only a big looking outfit but clean and attractive in appearance.

This noon the big street parade attracted as large a crowd as has

WOMAN RECOVERS SHOE LOST ON STREET CAR

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 24.—"Mister, have you all had a shoe turned into this here office?"

This question was asked at the "lost and found" room of the local street car company the other morning. It was a woman speaking. The keeper of lost articles did not understand: "I beg your pardon, madam, what did you say?"

"I lost one of my shoes on the street car this morning and somebody said it was the place to come see about it. Have you-all found it?"

Loathe to believe his ears, the custodian asked on what car the shoe was lost.

The woman named the car route on which she had lost her shoe and to prove that she was rightful owner of the shoe, she came to the office wearing mate, braving the cobble stone minus a shoe on one foot.

Search revealed the lost shoe hiding away among the thousands and one articles in the office. woman had already established ownership. She put on the shoe and walked out without evening how she came to get off street car with one shoe off not miss it until the car had gone.

It has been a long time since men's skirts kept their shape.

Why look at a woman's arm when her elbows are more to point?
