GAME LAW.

UNLAWFUL TO KILL DEER BETWEEN FEB. 1ST AND OCTOBER 1ST.

For the information of the public we give below the game law in regard to killing deer.

Sec. 2832, of the code reads:

"Any person who shall hunt with gun, or chase with a dog, or shall kill or destroy any deer running wild in the woods, between the fifteenth day of February and the fifteenth day of August next thereafter ensuing, unless in an inclosure surrounded by a sufficient fence, at least five feet high, and where such person shall have a lawful right so to do, shall pay a penalty of fifty dollars for each offence to any person suing for the same, one-half for his use and the other for the use of the public school of the school district wherein the offence is committed, and shall be guilty of a misdemeanor."

Section 2833.

"In the event that no one has brought a prior suit, and prosecuted the same in good faith for the penalty prescribed in the preceding section, it shall be the duty of the school committee of any township where the said offence shall be committed, to sue for the same, and the whole of their recovery shall be to themselves for the use of their school district. And they shall cause any person so offending to be prosecuted by indictment for such offence."

The Legislature of 1889, Chap. 531, Sec. 1, amended the Code as follows:

AN ACT TO PROTECT DEER.

"Section 1. That section twenty-eight hundred and thirty-two of The Code be amended by striking out, in line three of said section, the word 'fifteen' and insert in lieu thereof [the] word 'first,' and by striking out, in line four of said section, the words 'fifteenth day of August' and insert in lieu thereof the words 'first day of October.'"

Sec. 2. That this act shall be in force from and after its ratification.

Ratified the 14th day of March, A. D. 1889."

An act the same day changed the dates for Bertie county to first days of Feb. and Aug. of every year.

Power of Gentleness.

The sands of the sea beach keep back the incursions of the ocean more effectually than the rocky promontory. The cliffs are continually shattered by the sea; but the gently-sloping beach of fine sands gains on the ocean instead of being destroyed by it. The proud, harsh, hard man is often broken and shattered by the billows of adversity which roll harmlessly against the patient and gentle, and even yield them treasure. The smooth sands are only made more velvety by the pounding of the breakers, and in like manner a gentle spirit is by the storms of opposition, disappointment or sorrow made still gentler, and thereby more enduring. But gentleness is active as well as passive power. It is as able to do as it is to bear. It is closely allied to energy. The greatest forces in nature do their work noiselessly. The most energetic dispositions are not boisterous. The mightiest of forces is heart power. There is no bluster about that. It is as quiet as the sunshine, and as potent. He who could say, "All power is given to me in heaven and in earth," was the gentlest of beings. He did not break the bruised reed, or quench the smoking flax.

Gentleness is characteristic of real courage. The great heroes of the race, David, Paul, Luther, Gustavus Adolphus, William the Silent, Kosuth, Garibaldi, Lincoln, have been as gentle, tender and loving as they were fearless. The courageous preacher, whose convictions rouse the consciences and stir the hearts of his hearers, is the one who speaks the truth in love. Self-will and harshness are destructive of personal power. The lightning, which in an instant rends the heart of the oak, comes from the bosom of the soft summer cloud; thus the effectual shaft of spiritual indignation speeds not from a cold, stern nature, but from the depths of a loving soul. Christ-like in its tenderness as well as in its truth.

SEABOARD ITEMS.

THE PATRON AND GLEANER AHEAD—
LARGE SHIPMENTS OF COTTON—
PERSONAL ITEMS.

Mr. H. J. Maddrey returned to Norfolk last week.

Mr. J. E. Cuthrell has decidedly the prettiest buggy in town.

Prof. Parker has quite a full school now; additions come in almost daily.

Business with the merchants is much better than this time last year.

The meeting at the Baptist Church at this place will begin first Monday in October at night.

Mrs. Paul Eley returned home last Tuesday from Carrsville, where she has been visiting relatives.

Mr. J. H. Ramsay left for Richmond last week where he will attend Richmond Medical Academy this session.

Miss Maie Higgins, who has been away on an extensive trip to Newport News and other cities, is expected home soon.

Our popular townsman, Mr. J. G. L. Crocker, has been quite sick for the past few days; we are glad to report him out again.

Dr. M. R. Stephenson has employed Mr. Andrew Crocker and will conduct a fancy grocery in connection with his drug store.

In a recent trip to Norfolk, Mr. Paul Eley purchased a standard bred buggy horse; he can clip off a mile on good track easily in three minutes.

The protracted meeting conducted at Concord last week by Rev. Mr. Parker assisted by Rev. Mr. Frizzle, of Aurelian Springs, closed Friday, much good having been accomplished.

Mr. W. E. Hart has moved to the "Red" store and has increased his stock considerably. He has with him as clerk a polite and courteous young gentleman, Master Norman Harrison, son of Rev. Z. T. Harrison.

Our post-office lobby is always packed on Fridays with people waiting for their PATRON AND GLEANER, whose circulation doubles that of any other paper received at this office and which is by far more popular than any other.

We are having fine weather now and the farmers are busy harvesting their crops. Sixty five bales new cotton has been shipped from here from Sept. 1st to the 20th. Only two bales were shipped last year from Sept. 1st to 20th.

Miss Fannie Persons, of Southampton county, is visiting her cousin, Mrs. H. P. Duke, to the delight of many of our gallant beaux. Mrs. Ballance, of Norfolk, who has been visiting Mrs. Duke for several days, returned to her home Thursday afternoon.

Seaboard, N. C., Sept. 22, 1894.

His 'I's.

Gen. Ogle, when submitting a letter for approval by the Pennsylvania Legislature, which he had addressed on their behalf to the newly elected President, General Andrew Jackson, was interrupted by a dapple little fellow from Philadelphia thus:

"Pardon me, sir; I do not wish to assume to make a suggestion to so distinguished a gentleman as yourself, but I cannot refrain from saying that it is customary in the East, and I may say in almost all the civilized countries of Europe, to write with a capital 'I' instead of the small 'i' in using this personal pronoun in epistolary correspondence."

General Ogle drew down his heavy brows, piercing the dandy's marrow with the fire shaft of scorn that shot from his eye.

"Sir," said he, beginning with a hiss and ending with a roar, "when I write to such a great man as General Andrew Jackson, Democratic President of the United States, I abuse myself, sir. I use as small an 'i' as I can put on paper. But, sir, if I should ever write to such a little snipe as you are, I'd use an 'I,' sir, that would fill two pages of foolscap."

Culture and Sacrifice.

The instruction of the world has been carried on by perpetual sacrifice. A grand army of teachers, authors, artists, schoolmasters, professors, heads of colleges, have been through ages carrying on war against ignorance; but no triumphal procession has been decreed to it, nor spoils of conquered provinces have come to its coffers; no crown imperial has invested it with pomp and power. In lonely watch-towers the fires of genius have burned but to consume and waste the lamp of life while they gave the light to the world. It is no answer to say that the victims of intellectual toil, broken down in health and fortune, have counted their work a privilege and a joy. As well deny the martyr's sacrifice because he has joined in his integrity. And many of the world's intellectual benefactors have been martyrs. Socrates died in prison as a public malefactor; for the healing wisdom he offered his people, deadly poison was the reward. Homer led a life so obscure, at least, that nobody knew his birthplace; and indeed some modern critics are denying that there ever was a Homer. Plato traveled back and forth from his home in Athens to the Court of the Syracuse tyrant, regarded indeed and feared, but persecuted and in peril of life; nay, and once sold for a slave. Cicero shared a worse fate. Dante all his life knew, as he expressed it,

"How salt was a stranger's bread,
How hard the path, still up and down to tread
A stranger's stairs."

Copernicus and Gallileo found science no more profitable than Dante found poetry. Shakespeare had a home, but too poorly endowed to stand long in his name after he fell; the income upon which he retired was barely two or three hundred pounds a year, and so little did his contemporaries know or think of him, that the critics hunt in vain for the details of his private life. The mighty span of his large honors shrinks to an obscurity of life in theaters in London, or on the banks of the Avon.

THE FELL DESTROYER.

RUIN BROUGHT BY THE DEMON DRINK.

To-night it enters an humble home to strike the roses from a woman's cheek, and to mow down the strength of this republic in the halls of congress. Today it strikes a crust from the lips of a starving child, and tomorrow it levies from the government itself. There is no cottage in this city humble enough to escape, no palace strong enough to shut it out. It defies the law when it can not coerce suffrage. It is flexible to cajole, but merciless in victory. It is the mortal enemy of peace and order, the despoiler of men, the terror of women, the cloud that shadows the face of children, the demon that dug more graves, and sent more souls unsaved to judgment than all the pestilences that have wasted life since God sent the plagues to Egypt, and all the wars since Joshua stood beyond Jericho. It comes to ruin, and it shall profit mainly by the ruin of your sons and mine. It comes to mislead human souls, and to waken human hearts under its rumbling wheels. It comes to bring gray haired mothers down in shame and sorrow to their graves. It comes to change the wife's love into despair, and her pride into shame. It comes to still the laughter on the lips of the little children. It comes to stifle all the music of the home, and fill it with silence and desolation. It comes to ruin your body and mind, to wreck your home, and it knows it must measure its prosperity by swiftness and certainty with which it wrecks this world.— Henry W. Grady.

NOTICE!

By virtue of a decree of the Superior Court of Northampton county made at Spring term, 1894, in the case of J. W. Draper vs. N. E. Allen and Sarah Allen, I, as commissioner therein appointed and authorized, shall, on Monday, October 1st, 1894, at the Court house door in Jackson, sell for cash, by public auction, the tract of land on which the said N. E. Allen and wife reside, situated in Seaboard township on the road leading from Turner's X Roads to Seaboard, it being the tract conveyed to them by J. W. Draper and wife, and containing sixty-four (64) acres, more or less. This Aug. 24, 1894. B. S. GAY, Commissioner.

NOTICE

In pursuance of a Decree of the Superior Court of Northampton county, in an action therein pending, wherein W. F. Grubbs in his own right and as administrator of S. C. Joyner is plaintiff and the undersigned as trustees and Alexander Savage are defendants, I shall, as commissioner, and as trustee under the power in the mortgage deed, sell at public auction for cash at the Court House door in Jackson, on Monday the 1st day of October 1894, the following real estate, to wit: One lot or tract of land in the town of Seaboard in said county, bounded on the North by the S. & R. railroad; South by the lot of R. S. Joyner; East by the lot of H. L. Joyner, and West by the lot of W. C. Maddrey." Said lot is about 50 feet by 70 feet and includes the store building occupied by said E. C. Joyner at the time of his death; also all the right, title and interest of the said E. C. Joyner in being two-thirds interest undivided in a certain tract of land about one mile from Seaboard in said county, known as the P. R. Edwards farm, adjoining the lands of J. T. Maddrey and others, and particularly bounded by a deed in the Register's office, Book 61, Page 178, from P. R. Edwards and wife, containing by estimation, seventy-five (75) acres more or less. This August 23, 1894. WILLIS BAGLEY, Commissioner.

NOTICE!

By virtue of a decree of the Superior Court of Northampton county made in a special proceeding wherein Mattie O. Squire and others are plaintiffs and May L. Lee and others are defendants, I, as commissioner therein appointed and authorized, shall, on Monday, October 8, 1894, at the courthouse door in Jackson, sell by public auction to the highest bidder the tract of land therein described to wit: A certain tract lying and being in Northampton county adjoining the lands of W. E. Bradley, Moses Webb and J. R. Mason, and being on the south side of the river road and containing two hundred acres, more or less, it being the same land conveyed by W. E. Kidd to S. A. Webb, recorded in Book 77 page 522 of the Register of Deeds office of said county.

TERMS OF SALE: Fifty dollars cash and the balance in one and two years of equal payments each with interest on deferred payments.

This Sept. 6th, 1894.
MRS. MATTIE O. SQUIRE,
