

MESSENGER - INTELLIGENCER.

JAS. G. BOYLIN, Publisher.

WADSWORTH, N. C., MARCH 28TH, 1889.

John Bright, the celebrated English statesman, died in London yesterday.

Postmaster General Wandmaker is quoted as saying that Democratic postmasters were permitted to serve out their terms unless shown to be unfaithful or inefficient.

The bagging trust which was formed last year in St. Louis to control the price of cotton bagging, which expired by limitation in December, has been re-organized. As pine straw has proved to be an excellent substitute for jute bagging Southern planters are not so much at the mercy of these trusts as heretofore.

The negroes held a mass meeting in Raleigh last Saturday and organized a North Carolina Emigration Association, the proposed object of which is to colonize all the negroes of this State in Arkansas. A call was issued for a State convention to be held there on April 22nd, to fully organize the State.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The President sent to the Senate today the following nominations:

Robert T. Lincoln, of Illinois, to be minister to Great Britain.

Murat Halstead, of Ohio, to be minister to Germany.

Allen Thorndike Rice, of New York, to be minister to Russia.

Patrick Egan, of Nebraska, to be minister to Chile.

Thomas Ryan, of Kansas, to be minister to Mexico.

Tyre Glenn, of North Carolina, to be United States Marshal for the Western district of North Carolina.

A. D. Cowles, postmaster at Statesville, N. C.

A correspondent of the New York Herald, writing on the subject of the disposal of ex-Presidents of the United States, says: "Let all ex-Presidents be ex-officio, thence forward, members of the Senate, with no vote and no right to serve upon committees, but with the right to speak and with a salary of $10,000 per annum for their support. Experience shows the call for such a provision as this, Jefferson, Monroe, and, I believe, Madison, were in, a straitened circumstances. None of their successors were possessed of more than very moderate means. Gen. Grant, only through his herculean energy in the preparation of his biography while dying by inches, was able to accomplish his desire to benefit his family. Arthur was compelled to return to the profession of law. The present is an excellent time for carrying out this idea. There are but two persons living to whom such a provision can immediately apply—Mr. Hayes and Mr. Cleveland.

CULLED FROM OUR STATE EXCHANGES.

The new directors of the state penitentiary have already effected a saving of $7,400 a year in the item of salaries, we understand. This is a good beginning.—News and Observer.

We hope much from the Farmers Alliance, but we hope still more from the individual exertions of the farmers composing it. The success of the organization referred to, indeed, must depend on the exertions of its individual members separately applied each in its own small sphere. Here, as everywhere else in the human hive, it is through the operations of all the workers, each doing his utmost, that honey is made.—News and Observer.

Mr. John H. Furman, of King's Mountain, N. C., addressed the New York Academy of Sciences at Columbia College last evening on "The Tin Deposits of North Carolina." A vein of tin ore was discovered and investigated by Mr. Furman, which he thinks will be found of great value, being richest about two miles North and six miles South of Kings Mountain. Dr. A. R. Lédoux, who discussed the subject, said the condition for mining tin in the region of which Mr. Furman had spoken seemed to be favorable, and all that remained was to find out if there was tin in sufficient quantities to pay for getting it out.—New York Times.

Let nobody attempt to discourage or defeat the plan which seems to have been set on foot to colonize the negroes of North Carolina on the soil of Arkansas; for perhaps this scheme will lead to a solution of a problem long since acknowledged to be difficult of management. If the hand of Providence is in this scheme and it be not opposed but fostered by the white people, we undertake to say that good will come of it. How this is to be we are not obliged to know. (We walk by faith; not by sight.) The race problem has been seeking a solution, and there is no agreement among our leading men as to the plan to attain the end. Now let the problem work itself out.—Greensboro Worker.

The negroes are thoroughly agog on the subject of emigration. The craze seems about to amount to a stampede. The railroads cannot carry them fast enough, and they now say they will walk if they can't go any other way. The depot here presents daily a regular swarm of the would-be emigrants. The boarding houses which surround the depot are shock full of lodgers waiting to emigrate. They have their trunks and furniture stacked up by the car load and have a hut rented to store them in. There were two to three hundred negroes at the depot yesterday evening when the west bound train left. Most of them leave at night, but they frequent the depot in crowds at all hours, day and night. It was learned yesterday that there are one thousand negroes at Selma, waiting to leave and have applied to the railroad for transportation.—News and Observer.

THE NEWS.

The total mileage of railroads at the close of 1888 is estimated at 136,913, the construction during the year being estimated at 7,000 miles.

The total Indian population of the United States in 1886 was 247,761, and the Indians had 212,488 square miles of territory reserved for their use.

Bull-frog farming is the latest scheme in Connecticut. Frogs are said to sell for 50 cents a pound in New York.

The people of Connecticut will celebrate April 27, the centennial of Washington's inauguration, by ringing every church bell in the State for an hour upon the morning of that date.

One of the features of the Paris exposition will be a beauty show open to the women of the world, the competitor to whom a popular vote gives the preference to receive a prize of $6,000.

Carriage manufacturers are predicting that in the not far distant future wooden wheels will be done away with, and steel wheels substituted on account of the increasing scarcity of lumber for wheels.

The Connecticut Senate has concurred with the House in passing the bill which prohibits selling, giving, or delivering tobacco in any form to persons under 16, and also prohibits such minors from the use of tobacco in cigarette or any other form.

The colored people of Illinois have undertaken an ambitious project. They have had an organization incorporated which proposes to erect a monument at the State capital to Lincoln, Seward, Sumner, Wendell Phillips and John Brown. The cost of the structure is to be $150,000 or $200,000.

When Mr. Bayard became Secretary of State he banished a picture of Daniel Webster, which hung over his desk, and hung a portrait of Grover Cleveland in its place. When Mr. Bayard took the desk he had Mr. Cleveland's picture taken down and Daniel Webster's restored to its old position.

The doctors and scientific men of Scranton are interested in a peculiar case which developed in that city on Thursday. A week ago Charles Nier ran a needle into his foot. Surgeons sought in vain for it. This afternoon Nier was taken to the plant of the Suburban Electric Railway and his foot held near one of the dynamos. In fifteen minutes the needle was drawn out.

Tony Pilcher of Melrose, Fla., became impressed with the belief that the only true baptism was immersion, and that everybody and everything should be baptized. He took all his chickens and pigs to a lake and baptized them, and almost every day he would baptize himself. When Sheriff Shelley went to arrest him Tony tried to baptize him, but the Sheriff was too much for him, and got the iron on him.

Fourteen-year-old Susanna Ivan, who landed from Hungary on Friday, she had never seen a negro or anyone of darker hue than her fellow Hungarians. As she was sitting in Castle Garden the colored bootblack of the place, who is of a particularly dusky shade of complexion, approached her and nearly threw the little Hungarian into fits. She threw up her hands in horror and declared she had seen the devil. The bootblack smiled at the commotion he had caused and the superintendent of the garden explained matters. The girl, however, kept at a wide distance from the bootblack during her stay in the garden.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 28.—The wild man of Lookout has reappeared, and in consequence there is excitement in the vicinity of Chattanooga. He was seen a few days since and if descriptions are correct he is a most remarkable being. His hair and beard are described as flowing to the waist; his fingers and toes nails are long, giving the hands and feet the resemblance of claws. He wears a trunk of bearskin, with a bearskin robe thrown over his shoulders. He carries an ugly bludgeon, and persistently avoids coming in contact with anybody. The timid people of the neighborhood are greatly alarmed, and there is little traveling about at night. This strange creature has been haunting caves and fastnesses of Lookout Mountain and elevations in lower East Tennessee for years, and nothing is known of his identity.

Cairo Items.

Cairo is coming again with a "Vim" and is still booming.

Our section is quite healthy just now. A rigid "quarantine" has been maintained, and the "sanitary committee" has been very vigilant, therefore we have been almost entirely free from the dreaded scourge of measles which have infected other "cities" and communities.

Mr. Editor, please tell Mr. Remus that the "Alpha Literary Society" is progressing nicely, and the "fair" ones can play as sweet, if not sweeter, than in the days of yore.

We were glad to see Messrs. L. M. Woodburn and Julian C. Smith, of Morven, in our village last Saturday.

Mr. Frank E. Smith, of Cairo, was visiting relatives in Morven yesterday.

We notice some correspondents are trying to down the seed cotton law. We say, let it remain. We need more such laws to protect the honest farmer. Not a single case of seed cotton stealing has come to our knowledge since this law was enacted. Let others add their testimony. This law is a great protection to the honest farmer, and we should not be led astray by false gods, if the barter trade of groceryman, X road merchant, &c., should be lessened.

Farmers are putting in every inch of time now they can get between the rains. We are pressing toward the mark of our high calling, which is home-comfort, well filled cribs, barns, graineries, smoke-houses and purses.

A Pleasing Sense

Of health and strength renewed and of ease and comfort follows the use of Syrup of Figs, as it acts in harmony with nature to effectually cleanse the system when constipated. For sale in 50c and $1.00 bottles by McLendon & Parsons', Drug gists.

Dots From Morven.

The return of the swallow from his winter home, and the beautiful blossom of the little peach tree by the window, alike betoken spring.

The catchers of shad along the Pee Dee, we learn, are making but little headway as yet.

Many of the farmers in this vicinity are already planting corn, as Gen'l John Burr says it is time to plant when the doves begin to sing.

Mr. S. C. Liles, of Cairo, lost his favorite horse Ghazley recently—the horse the pretty folks used to drive.

We notice some talk through your columns relative to the seed cotton law, and also the free school system. Now as regards the seed cotton law: While in the beginning before they could or judge of the merits of the law, there were many who were much displeased at its enactment, from the fact it placed at its very inception a restriction upon one's rights, so to speak. While others looked at it as an unconstitutional piece of legislation, rather a curtailment of a man's constitutional rights and privileges. Free liberty loving people are very sensitive about what seems to be an abridgment or infringement upon their rights, either as a trespass by their neighbor, or an enactment by the General Assembly of their State. While there were many in the beginning who thought it a direct discrimination against the rights of the poor man, there were others cooler and less impetuous who thought it all probably it would reduce to naught to all in the end, and to-day we hear of little said about its effect. So far as our knowledge extends, we can see the great harm in such a law, and from what we can gather from the people generally, all are better pleased with the law as it now stands.

There is no doubtless many merchants in little villages who could have purchased seed cotton from parties who were not so much complained of as those who are the same. It seems that at times people agree to disagree, yet we find some diversity of opinion we really see but little cause for so much complaint where there is so little just reason assigned, yet it belongs to the human family to first find out the faults of others, and if from that we can gather those who would like to bring their imaginary complaints to bear upon the same enactment or law, were they elected to the General Assembly of the State, they would not cause equally, and probably far more odium, to Mr. A. or B., their next neighbor.

Now about the free school system. While like the other it seems rather too troublesome and too complicated, and by a great many looked at, but it is all in the end, or it is that the commissioners are not as energetic and prompt in their duties as they might be, or that they are, in some instances, unable to please all with any system. While we need one man who opposes the system from the fact the money is not equally or justly distributed, another party let us colored man's tax only go to school the colored children and the white man's money go to school the white man's say this like, but here comes along the old bachelor who, of course has no family, and opposes the system. Now, we can see in the opinion of these men, no two have views alike, hence we say do them as we are told the "Chinese laws are"—make these, the old bachelor, each each party, and each of year one hundred dollars, or more, towards the support of his married neighbor, thereby making them to better provide for themselves and their households, and this party like to the old widowers who have no children to look after. While this is simply a suggestion we hope it will be taken as such, and we regret to go back to the dark continent and take steps after or like them.

Now, "Pat," we have in this community about 30 old bachelors, and if we have any better suggestion we would like to hear from you.

An Inhuman Father.

Raleigh News and Observer.

WINTON, N. C., March 25.—On Monday last a negro living about six miles from this place took one of his children to the woods to whip him. Shortly afterwards he returned with the child. He then took another one of his children and broiled him on live coals. He was arrested for this and lodged in jail. Search was since made for the first child and it was found about fifty yards from the house with its neck broken.

Open Letter No. 2.

Well the "something new" that we wrote about last week has arrived, and many of you have come in to see, and in seeing, being pleased, have bought and carried home with you a thing of beauty—"a joy forever." Yes, our spring stock of prints is now before the people. They are, in a word, beautiful, and those of you who have not yet seen them are invited to "come and see." Now that the inclement weather is dispelled and fair Spring, with her blossoms is adorning the face of Nature, we are anxious to see our Stanley, Richmond, Montgomery and Chesterfield friends in Wadesboro again. Friends we are always glad to see you. Come to Wadesboro, and let's "talk it over." Of course we believe we will trade with you as we generally do, and that you will go home well pleased. We are almost daily adding to our stock of Dry Goods, Notions, Shoes, Hardware, Groceries, &c. and the fact that we are selling lots of these goods every day is evidence enough that we are selling cheap. We neither hope nor desire to sell goods on the basis of friendship. We give you the worth of your money—that's the basis of trade. Friends remember that it is our ambition to please. With our best wishes, we remain
