ECZEMA CURED

Many people have tried so many remedies for eczema without being materially benefited that they have come to the conclusion that there is no cure for this most distressing disease. That this conclusion is erroneous, and that

Hobson's Eczema Ointment will effect a cure is shown by the following unsolicited testimonial of Mr. Venable Wilson, who for many years was a citizen of Wadesboro. Mr. Wilson says:

"This is to certify that for nine years I suffered with eczema, and during that time tried numerous so-called specifics for it, but without effect. But after a few applications of Hobson's Eczema Ointment I was completely cured."

The Forgiving Wife.

The suffragist community is indebted to Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont for a new story. Mrs. Belmont, as all know, is one of the most ardent of suffragists. The other ladies to the movement complain that she wishes to be the whole show and just permit the others to work for her, but no one questions her devotion to the cause. She refused the other day to appear on the same platform with another lady who was hopelessly in the thrall of the demon man, and to explain her dislikes told a fable.

"I used to know a married pair," said she, "of whom the wife was a devoted and charming woman and the man was a good-for-nothing. But no matter what he did his wife always forgive him. One day I was calling upon her when I saw her butler pass the door carrying a huge green parrot in a cage. 'Oh,' said I, 'are you going to get rid of Uncle Tom?' Uncle Tom was the parrot. 'Yes,' said the poor little wife, with a sigh. 'I'm very fond of him, but I feel that it is my duty to send him away.' 'And why is it your duty?' I asked. 'I just found out the other day,' said she, 'that naughty Uncle Tom is teaching my husband to swear.'"

Charity and Prudence.

Yotti's Companion.
The contradictions of life are many. An observant man remarked recently that he was prowling about a certain city square when he came upon a drinking fountain which bore two conflicting inscriptions. One, the original inscription on the fountain, was from the Bible: 'And whoever will let him take the water of life freely.'
Above this hung a placard: 'Please do not waste the water.'

LITTLE BROWN CREEK DISCUSSES CROPS AND POLITICS.

Of 278 Examined all But 44 Were Derogatory.

Nashville American.

Last week I passed through Richmond and Montgomery counties. I found the small grain crops much improved. I saw some good fields of both wheat and oats. A good area of corn was planted, with good stands, and it was growing nicely. Stands of cotton were generally better than in Anson, but I noticed some places where it was dying. The ones who planted too early plowed up and planted over. March fooled a good many. She swapped places with May this year, but maybe it is all for the best. Let us so view it, at least.

When I got back to Anson I found the woods full of candidates interviewing everybody they met. Being a candidate myself, they even canvassed me. Some of them, when they found where I had been, charged me with canvassing territory contiguous to Anson. Well, in reply to all such, will state that I never tried to force any of my friends in Richmond or Montgomery to pledge themselves to me. I gave them credit for judgment of their own to the extent of knowing whom they preferred for any office.

I really believe some fellows canvass so persistently as to disgust the better element, thereby losing what they might otherwise have had. Generally such have never done much for the party they want so much from.

When will such characters learn that the best men think for themselves and have opinions of their own.

I want all of my friends to vote for me because they want to do so, and not because I would endeavor to force my judgment upon them. I always give my friends credit for having more sense than I have. So, if any one is waiting for "Tom" to bore them with his importunities in most cases they will be found waiting, while no one will appreciate their support more than I.

Yes, boys; you are all clever, good fellows, but some of us are going to be left, and you will have the consolation of knowing that you will, for once, be with the majority. Old Anson has lots of good timber to make officers out of, and she need not import any. Some of this timber is of the long wearing kind, guaranteed to last as long as your patience holds out.

The last few days of warm weather has materially helped cotton, which is looking much better than a week ago. Now is a good time to plant your late corn. Put in plenty of seed so you will not have to replant, and plant enough to run your farms.

Be sure to take good care of your hog crop, for meat will not be much lower until you lessen the demand. In our section wheat and oats are good.

LITTLE BROWN CREEK.

"Was The Stork."

"A West Philadelphia teacher was talking about wild animals and birds to a class of little girls," said Herman S. Decker, of Philadelphia, relating the following amusing incident:

"She had told them about the carnivorous animals and beasts of the jungle, and began asking questions about birds of prey."

"Can anyone in the class tell me," she asked, "what bird it is that is so strong that it can fly down out of the sky and carry off a small child with ease?"

"There was a moment's pause, and then a little girl in the rear of the classroom frantically raised her hand. 'I know!' fairly shouted the bright pupil, under stress of great excitement: 'It's the stork, 'cause one of 'em brought a baby to our house last night.'"

Many Women who are Splendid Cooks

dread having to prepare an elaborate dinner because they are not sufficiently strong to stand over an intensely hot coal range. This is especially true in summer. Every woman takes pride in the table she sets, but often it is done at tremendous cost to her own vitality through the weakening effect of cooking on a coal range in a hot kitchen.

It is no longer necessary to wear yourself out preparing a fine dinner. Even in the best of summer you can cook a large dinner without being worn out.

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove

Gives no outside heat, no smell, no smoke. It will cook the biggest dinner without heating the kitchen or the cook. It is immediately lighted and immediately extinguished. It can be changed from a slow to a quick fire by turning a handle. There's no drag-out, no coal to chop. You don't have to wait fifteen or twenty minutes till its fire gets going. Apply a light and it's ready. By simply turning the wick up or down you get a slow or an intense heat on the bottom of the pot, pan, kettle or oven, and nowhere else. It has a Cabinet Top with shelf for keeping plates and food hot, drop shelves for coffee, teapot or saucepan, and even a rack for towels. It saves time, worry, health and temper. It does all a woman needs and more than she expects. Made with 1, 2, and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

MAXIMS ON WOMAN.

Of 278 Examined all But 44 Were Derogatory.

Nashville American.

In a book of maxims and proverbs recently examined there were 278 proverbs concerning women, and all but 44 were derogatory to her character, her intelligence or her temperament. The 44 complimentary proverbs generally referred to a hypothetically perfect woman. Of the others many referred to her as being mentally inferior to man. Thus: A woman's hair is long, but her sense is short. When an ass climbs a ladder we may find wisdom in woman. She is cunning and deceptive. The laughter, the tears and the song of a woman are equally deceptive.

A woman's tears are a fountain of craft. A woman's tears and a dog's limping are not real. Trust not a woman, even when dead (she may feign death). She is vain and conceited. A woman will forgive anything in a rival except her being prettier than herself. Tell a woman she is a beauty, and the devil will tell her it 10 times.

There never was a looking-glass that told a woman she was ugly. She is querulous, mean and mischievous. A thousand men may live together in harmony, whereas two women are unable to do so, though they be sisters. Two women placed together make cold weather. There are only two good women in the world: the one is dead, the other not to be found.

A woman, when thinking by herself, is always thinking of mischief. She is dishonest and untruthful. Who places his confidence in a woman is a fool. You shall believe one word in 40 that a woman speaks. Who takes an eel by the tail and a woman at her word, may say he holds nothing. She is garrulous and a scold. A woman's tongue wags like a lamb's tail. Where there are women and geese, there wants no noise. When a woman has nothing to do she talks scandal. A woman's tongue is only three inches long, but it can kill a man six feet high. She takes advantage of her weakness. Every woman is in the wrong until she cries, and then she is in the right instantly. She is emotionally intemperate. A woman's vengeance knows no bounds. Woman's love is dangerous, her hate is fatal. Oh, woman, woman, when to ill thy mind is bent, all h-1 contains no fouler fiend. These are but a few samples of the opinions of the world as held concerning her mother, sisters, wife and sweetheart. Of course, she is also fickle, stubborn, foolishly timid, a busybody, spoiled by education, spendthrift, etc. It was Kipling who was mean enough to say that "woman is only a woman, but a good cigar is a smoke," and to characterize her as "a rag and a bone and a bank of hair." And Kipling is no Turk. Perhaps the cause of man's inveterate prejudice against the fair sex is to be found in these proverbs upon which he has fed his mind for hundreds, nay thousands, of years. No matter how false and unjust they may be proved to be, they have already taken deep root in the mind, and it will require many long years of patient education to eradicate them. We offer this explanation to the ladies for their consideration.

Two interesting cases are scheduled for trial before Esq. J. B. Cottingham at McFarlan tomorrow. One of the cases is based on a peace warrant sworn out by Mrs. L. L. Boatwright against her husband. This couple live near McFarlan on a tract of land belonging to Messrs. William and Kenneth Pittman, of McFarlan, and the wife alleges that her husband, a few nights ago, beat and threatened her.

In the other case Mr. Boatwright charges the Messrs. Pittman with waylaying and assaulting him with a deadly weapon, on the public road, last Friday night. All the parties are well known and the outcome of the trials is awaited with interest.

JUDGE ALLEN ENDORSED.

Lumberton, N. C., May 21st, 1910.

The undersigned, members of the Bar of Robeson county, desire to endorse and invite to your attention, the candidacy of Judge William E. Allen for a seat upon our Supreme Bench.

Judge Allen is now riding the courts of this district and he has recently held terms of court for the trial of civil as well as criminal cases in our county. We have had the opportunity of studying the man and the lawyer (at close range). In the trial of cases before him we have been impressed with his quick and accurate grasp of intricate questions, with his fairness and courtesy. He possesses to a marked extent that intangible and invisible, yet highly essential, quality known as "judicial temperament." In knowledge of the law he is easily among the foremost. His high Christian character is known wherever he is known. His long experience upon the bench of our superior court has admirably fitted him for the work of the higher tribunal. His services to the Democracy began when he was of age and have never ceased. In Eastern Carolina especially have the people felt the beneficial effects of his wise leadership. In fitness for the exalted position to which he aspires, his moral character, courtesy of the old-time gentleman, service to his party—if these be the things to be considered in the selection of your choice for the position, then we feel Judge Allen entitled to the benefit of your support and influence. In judicial nominations we have always felt that merit and not political considerations should be the guide.

If you can see your way clear to give him the benefit of your active support and influence it will be highly appreciated by his many friends. We will also be glad if you will address us as to his chances in your section and county. Your reply may be addressed to Mr. R. C. Lawrence of the Lumberton bar.

Very truly yours,

Cheapest Cataract Cure.

Detroit, May 23.—Judson M. Perry, an attorney, has just completed a fast of 36 days "for his health." He said today that he thought fasting the cure for all ills. The particular ill for which he made the fast was nasal catarrh, and he thinks he has cured it. For the first 26 days of his fast he was in his office daily, but he grew weak after that, and spent the last nine days in bed. His weight was reduced from 140 pound to 95.

"Nothing but water passed my lips during the 36 days," said Mr. Perry. "My theory is that nothing nutritious should be taken, not even fruit juices. After the first few days I felt no pangs of hunger. The body becomes accustomed to the fast."

A touch of rheumatism, or a twinge of neuralgia, whatever the trouble is, Chamberlain's Linctament drives away the pain at once and cures the complaint quickly. First application gives relief. Sold by Parsons Drug Co.

"What do you think of this, Henry?" remarked Mrs. Peckham, looking up from the paper she was perusing. "A woman in Ohio has seen a railway company for $10,000 because of the loss of her thumb."
"Well," replied Peckham, "that isn't too much if it was the thumb she kept her husband under."

GOOD SPELLING.

Charlotte Chronicle.

Recently the Wadesboro Messenger and Intelligencer inaugurated a spelling contest to be participated in by the pupils of the graded school, in its town. The result shows that in at least one school in the State proper attention is given to the course in the Blue Book, for the prize winner, John Willie Mills, made a score of 100, spelling correctly a list of one hundred words, many of them what are known as "catch words." Miss Eleanor Horton missed only one word out of the one hundred. Other scores were: Addie Huntley, 98; William Leggett, 97; Daisy McCall, 96; Maggie Lee Teal, 96; Sallie Teal, 96; Elizabeth Horne, 94; George Huntley, 92; Louise Ross, 88. The Chronicle submits that this was a splendid average. The pupils of the Wadesboro graded school will raise the college average when they get there.

Watered the Dog Out of the Station Cup.

Monroe Journal.
Mr. G. T. Slattery, the clever ticket agent at the station here, had his righteous indignation aroused the other day, but of course he could only hold his silence—and send the glass. A young woman who was passing through, stopped in the station and spent a lot of time petting a dog which she carried. Happening to glance through the window Mr. Slattery saw her go to the water cooler, put there for white folks only, take the drinking glass and calmly water the dog out of it. He only said, "Well, madam that beats any I ever saw," as he carried the glass away to be scalded. The young woman then got on the train vowing that she didn't like to ride with Captain Green because he wouldn't let her dog ride in the coach with her. The dog had to be carried to the baggage car and the last heard of was still being held in soak by the agent at Shelby because the owner refused to pay his fare.

Got Struck Right Away.

Monroe Journal.
Among the large number of folks who went up to Charlotte last Friday to see the automobile meeting was Dr. W. H. Gribble, the young chap of Buford who is seventy odd years young. When asked if he rode in an of the machines that day he replied: "The d—-l, no; I got into better business. I hadn't been there any time before an old friend of mine who lives in Charlotte met me at the hotel and asked, 'Have you been struck yet?' I told him I hadn't been and didn't see any good prospects just then. He took and wound around a few corners, up into a little room, where there were plenty of lockers, went to his own, and set out the real stuff."
