ECZEMA CURED

Many people have tried so many remedies for eczema without being materially benefited that they have come to the conclusion that there is no cure for this most distressing disease. That this conclusion is erroneous, and that will effect a cure is shown by the following unsolicited testimonial of Mr. Venable Wilson, who for many years was a citizen of Wadesboro. Mr. Wilson says:

Hobson's Eczema Ointment

"This is to certify that for nine years I suffered with eczema, and during that time tried numerous so-called specifics for it, but without effect. But after a few applications of Hobson's Eczema Ointment I was completely cured."

KILLED BY A BOMB.

Mayor of Ridgeway, Va. Blown to Pieces by Dynamite.

Richmond, Va., July 25.—A special to the Virginian from Roanoke, Va., says that ex-Mayor H. A. Bousman, of Ridgeway, in Henry county, while lying in a hammock on his front porch last night, was practically blown to pieces by a bomb thrown at him from the road.

It exploded at his feet, entirely severing his feet and part of both legs, from effects of which he died in two hours.

It was impossible to determine the character of the bomb, as only small bits of the fuse were found. Portions of the flesh and clothing were scattered all about the yard.

No cause is assigned for anyone committing such a diabolical crime. Mr. Bousman, as Mayor of Ridgeway, was not known to have an enemy.

The Council of Ridgeway has offered a reward of $500 and the Governor will be asked to supplement it with $500 more.

Detective Baldwin and his bloodhounds are on the trail.

The terrific explosion jarred the whole town and the cries of the dying man were heard for several blocks. It is thought that the dynamite was thrown from the street.

Bousman recently retired as Mayor declining to serve, although he was assured of re-election. He was 55 years old and prominent in politics in both Franklin and Henry counties. He is survived by his widow and 12-year-old son.

Bousman owned a large farm and was the largest producer of cabbages in this section of the State.

He was brother-in-law of John C. Coan, the Winston-Salem, N. C., tobacco merchant.

THE BEDSIDE MANNER

Should Doctors Always Tell Whole Truth?

British Medical Journal.

What is the manner that is most effective for doctors to assume at the bedside? asks a writer in the British Medical Journal. "No general rule can be laid down, for the manner must be adapted to the patient. One thing, however, may be said. You may be rude like Abernathy, genial like Sir Ashley Cooper, courtly like Sir Henry Hallford, but like St. Paul, unless you have charity—that is to say, practical sympathy—you are nothing.

"There is nothing the patient resents so much as indifference, or what he calls want of attention, on the part of the doctor. We have known an ill-timed jocularity shake a laboriously built up edifice of faith to its foundations.

"On the other hand, a gloomy manner has a disastrous effect on a nervous patient. A famous physician of the past used to relate how when taken to his first important case by a professional patron, he tried to adapt himself to the situation by assuming an aspect befitting the Knight of the Sorrowful Countenance. The elder physician, observing this, said, 'For heaven's sake, man, don't go into the sick room with that long face; they will think you are an undertaker.'

"Of one fashionable physician it is related that when he paid his usual call to a patient one day he was informed, with her ladyship's apologies, that she was too ill to see him that day.

"How much should be said to the patient must depend on circumstances, but the doctor should in all cases tell the truth and nothing but the truth. He need not however, always tell the whole truth, for two sufficient reasons: It might not be for the patient's good and, again, he may not be sure himself, and he has no right to disturb the mind of one who looks to him for comfort by suspicion's which may be unfounded."

AFTER FOUR YEARS OF MISERY

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Baltimore, Md.—"For four years my life was a misery to me. I suffered from irregularities, terrible dragging sensations, extreme nervousness, and that all gone feeling in my stomach. I had given up hope of ever being well when I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Then I felt as though new life had been given me, and I am recommending it to all my friends."—Mrs. W. S. Ford, 2207 W. Franklin St., Baltimore, Md.

The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has stood the test of years and to-day is more widely and successfully used than any other female remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed.

If you are suffering from any of these ailments, don't give up hope until you have given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. She has guided thousands to health, free of charge.

THE OLD BLACK MAMMY.

Atlanta Constitution.

With ever-refreshing relief men turn from the angeli, and sometimes the disheartening depressions, of the so-called "negro problem" of our day to dwell with a sigh and a regret upon—the "old black mammy."

She it is who crooned over the cradles of some of the south's worthiest men of yesterday, who dandled on her knees the mightiest of the younger generation and who decked for their nuptials fair brides who were roses of the old regime.

Here and there one of her type totters with falling steps and peering eyes through city streets and along roads from which the cotton fields stretch a fair and billowy distance to the crumbled ruins of "de big house," or the more garish modernities of the twentieth century country home.

But they are vanishing—fast; soon, like the brides whose loving and tearful attendants they were, and like the great man whom they helped to usher into this world and out of it, they will mingle their faithful clay with the kindly soil that knows no ultimate distinctions.

In Athens they are seeking to rear a monument to the Old Black Mammy, and the thought, with a very poetical application, originated in the mind of a negro himself of the younger generation.

The idea is that of S. F. Harris, principal of the colored industrial high school, of Athens. Five acres have been secured in the eastern section of Clarke county. As much more has been promised. Nearly $1,000 has been raised, with the aid of the white people, and only $500 additional needs to be in hand. No common monument will be this one. It is intended to here found a school which shall teach cooking and industrial work to the negro, along the lines the fidelity and deftness of the Old Black Mammy made notable in southern tradition.

What is to be the destiny of this particular school we do not know. But every white southerner knows that if it is conducted with the sound sense, if it inculcates the unswerving fidelity of the type of negro for which it is named, it should prove a benefaction to its environment.

Do we not need more of these Old Black Mammy schools in the southern States? The very spirit of the phrase spells the life-blood of that solution of the racial problem The Constitution has been urging upon the churches and the whites and the blacks of the southern States.

Exhaustible Stock.

Youth's Companion.

Squire Lawson never asked for or accepted any advice. One day he drove fifteen miles to the nearest large town, and there left his horse and buggy in a side street in charge of a strange young man. Then he went off in search of an old friend of his, a Quaker.

"Thee didn't leave a valuable horse and carriage to a stranger's care, Thomas?" remonstrated his friend. "Thee'd better get it, and drive to the livery stable. This town is not like the little place thee lives in."

"I looked the young man over," said Squire Lawson, testily, "and in my judgment it was perfectly safe to leave him in charge. Let us say no more about it."

"Very well," said his friend, but when, at the end of two hours, Squire Lawson took his leave, the Quaker shut his office and accompanied the squire to the place where he had left his equipage.

It had vanished, and no inquiries brought any information as to where it or the young man had gone.

Well, Amos," said the Quaker, after an hour's hot, unavailing search, "thee has lost a horse and carriage, to be sure, but thee still has plenty of judgment left, I've no doubt."

Get On the Train to Ride.

During the early hours of Sunday morning a long and lank native boarded Frisco train No. 104 for his first ride on the cars, his destination being Kansas City. He was decidedly nervous, but was determined not to show it, and attempted to cultivate an air of familiarity with his surroundings. He sought a position in the middle of the chair car, placed his grip on the floor and braced himself against the side of one of the plush chairs.

"Won't you have a seat, sir?" asked the porter.

"Nope," the young man answered. "Dad cuts my hair and I shave myself."—Youth's Companion.

Notice to White Teachers.

The biennial county teachers' Institute and school for the training of the public school teachers of the county will be held in the graded school building at Wadesboro, beginning Monday, 15th day of August and continuing two weeks. The County Institute Law can be found in Section 4167 of the school law, to which all who expect employment as teachers of the public schools are referred. You are required to bring all of the textbooks used in the public schools through the primary and intermediate grades, as the institutes will partake largely of the character of the school and work will be assigned by the conductors to the teachers just as to classes in the ordinary school room, that methods of teaching may be better illustrated in the concrete than in the abstract. For the primary work you will also bring, in addition to the textbooks, some tablets and a pair of scissors. All friends of education and the public schools, especially the County Board of Education and the School Committees of the general townships, are invited to attend this institute as continuously as in inclination and other considerations will permit.

Kindness Versus Criticism

Augusta Chronicle.

"So many gods,
So many creeds,
So many ways that wind and wind,
While just the art of being kind,
Is all this said and world needs."

Oh! that this creed of kindness could be more preached by those whose duty it is to preach! Oh! that the creed of kindness could be more universally practiced! It is so much more important than anything else.

It is so easy to speak the unkind critical word—and so impossible to undo the awful hurt it caused—to heal the bitter wound it made.

How is it that we ever dare to criticize each other? How do we dare to forget the commandment of the Almighty, "Judge not—that ye be not judged?"

How do we dare, no matter what position we occupy, to "throw stones," when down the ages comes ringing the immortal words, spoke by the Only Sinless One, "Let him that is without sin among you cast the first stone?" Who can stand this test? What man or woman dare say that they are sinless—are without fault? And if this is true how can you throw the stone, or speak the word, that condemns your brother or sister?

The morality of one country is the sin of another—the virtue of one man would be evil in another man differently situated—"what is one man's meat is another's poison" is as true in the moral world as in the physical world, so how can we pronounce judgment on others so recklessly.

And who is ever helped by harsh criticism? It simply arouses a spirit of defiance.

The way to influence people is to set them the good example—then by your kindness win their love and their desire to follow you.

Oh, if today the ungenerous spirit of fault finding and harsh criticism could be buried forever and the law of kindness prevail!

Poor weak mortals that we are—how we need kindness? Kind words, kind acts, kind understanding and sympathy! We have our burdens to bear, "each heart knoweth its own bitterness"—but the burdens are made so much heavier than they need be—the bitterness so unnecessarily augmented by the unkind word, the lack of sympathy and comprehension of our fellow man.

"The art of being kind"—surely this sad world would speedily become less sad, if we all began to practice this art today.

Domestic Drama At Daughter's.

Atchison Globe.

An old-fashioned woman from the country recently packed some fried chicken, bread and doughnuts in a market basket and went to see her daughter who lives in a big city. She was scandalized when the family stayed up till 11 o'clock and decided that she wouldn't tell pa about it when she wrote home the next day.

"He might think we have fallen into evil ways," she said to herself as she was going off to sleep. She awoke at her usual time, 4 o'clock, and the house seemed unusually quiet.

"Town folks do get lazy," she thought, "and they probably don't get up till 5." She dressed and went down stairs and watched the clock till 6. Not a sound; then she waited till 6, and at 7, between hunger and alarm, she was almost crazed. "They have been murdered in their beds!" she yelled at 8 o'clock from the front steps, and soon the house was filled with people rushing in to see what had happened. The family were surprised and indignant, when police, market gardeners, news boys, etc., rushed into their bedrooms, and woke them up, and this explains why the old-fashioned woman came home that day. "I never expected," she sobbed to pa, "that any girl would talk to her ma as Jane talked to me."

Let the Babies Work.

Greensboro Record.

Whoever dreamed that a tiny baby could be made to work, even while amusing itself? But he can. An old colored nurse, one of the old "mammy" kind, passed along the street today with her charge in a carriage; in the baby's hands was a small bottle of milk, a half pint or more. The little chap was pounding away with his bottle and the old mammy was asked about it. "Why, chile," she said, "I give de baby de bottle of milk to play wid; he likes it an' he keep on churning' dat milk until presently he makes a tiny bit of butter. Den when I gets back to de house I takes it out and dresses it—de butter, I mean—an' I knows I has some clean, pure butter, for de bottle am stopped up real tight and it am scalded afore I gives it to de baby."

We need more of this ingenious of this ingenious spirit; it's economy mixed with pleasure—to the child especially. The scheme, however, is not patented and may be imitated with impunity.

Better Than Spanking.

Spanking does not cure children of bad habits. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box 10, Notre Dame, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

MARRIAGE 2,300 YEARS AGO.

How The Lads And Lassies Were Wed Under Pharaoh.

Chas. Johnson, in Harper's Weekly.

Most of us make the acquaintance of Egypt in the splendidly dramatic story of Joseph and his brethren, and so come to look on Pharaoh and his people as gloomy and malign persecutors, fit only to be swallowed up in the Red Sea waves. Or we read of the graves and some other monuments of the Nile Valley, with the perpetual reminder of death and the kingdom of Night with the result that we are hardly prepared to realize the gay and lightsome side of Ancient Egyptian life, or to credit the thought that these tomb builders could ever break into a smile. But there was a side of gayety and of charm, and just as we are finding that so many of our deeper and more philosophical thoughts go back to the people of the Delta, so we are beginning to discover the originals of all our jokes in the buried cities of the Nile.

The ladies were not unduly oppressed in the lands of the Pharaohs, we may gather from the marriage contract from a fourth-century Demotic manuscript, but dating in form to far older times:

"I," says the lady Isis, "take thee as my husband. Thou makest me thy wife and givest me in token of dowry five-tenths of silver. If I discharge thee as my husband, hating thee and loving another more than thee, I shall give and return to thee two and a half-tenths of silver, of silver, of which thou gavest me as my dower; and I cede unto thee of all and everything that I shall acquire with thee, one-third part, as thou art married unto me."

Not even Chicago or Reno can boast of a franker contract than that, and there is something wonderfully naive in the idea of the good lady Isis "discharging" her lord on the ground that she hates him and loves another better. The sum that she returns him, as part of her now cancelled dower, is about equal to a silver dollar. So we shall have something to learn in marital and feminine imperiousness.

Must Be Above Suspicion

Kidney and bladder ailments are so serious in their consequences, and if unchecked so often fatal, that any remedy offered for their cure must be above suspicion. Foley's Kidney Pills contain no harmful drugs, and have successfully stood a long and thorough test. Pee Dee Pharmacy; Parsons Drug Co.

CERTAIN RESULTS.

Many a Wadesboro Citizen Knows How Sure They Are.

Nothing uncertain about the work of Doan's Kidney Pills in Wadesboro. There is plenty of positive proof of this in the testimony of citizens. Such evidence should convince the most skeptical doubter. Read the following statement:

Mrs. A. B. Tarlton, of Wadesboro, N. C., says: "I am so well pleased with the benefit I received from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills that I willingly give them my endorsement. For a long time I suffered from severe pains in the small of my back, often accompanied by a soreness across my kidneys. The kidney secretions were unnatural and irregular in passage, causing me much annoyance. I tried many remedies, but nothing relieved me until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills. Since using them I have been steadily improving and seldom have any pains in my back. The kidney secretions also pass more regularly and I feel better in every way."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Notice to Colored Teachers

A teachers' institute for colored teachers will be held in the colored graded school building in Wadesboro, beginning Monday August 1st, and continuing two weeks.

The institute will be conducted by Prof. S. B. Price, principal of the Charlotte graded school, colored, under the general supervision of county Superintendent, J. W. Wall.

All colored teachers of Anson county who expect to teach in the public schools of the county are required to be in continuous attendance upon the sessions of this institute. Failure to observe this requirement will deprive the teacher from being employed to teach in the County schools.

Teachers attending the Institute should provide themselves with pencil and tablet.
