You are now busy with the cotton: mules standing in stable, doing nothing; fodder and corn need pulling; labor scarce. One man, two mules and a corn binder will pull fodder, and cornif you have pea vines or grass in the row, it will cut these for you and bind up with the corn in bundles. When your corn is shredded you will have more feed than ever before. This kind of farming will stop so much Western hay coming to this section. Come, let us "negotiate" with you, and when the corn is off and fall plowing is ready don't tickle the earth, that produces you a living, by scratching the soil a few inches deep with a scooter stock.

Put two, three, or four mules to it, get up on it and ride. Turn the soil good and deep and it will yield a rich harvest. A disc plow does not slide over the bottom of furrows and form a hard pan, as the mold board plow does, but it acts as a disc plow in turning the soil, as a disc harrow in pulverizing it, and as a subsoil plow as it cuts down through the hard pan that has been oformed by the "ironing" of the landside on your 2-horse plows. It will pay you to think over this proposition.
