

Have You Tried?

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? We can furnish positive proof that it has made many remarkable cures after all other means had failed.

Women who are suffering with some form of female illness should consider this. As such evidence read these two unsolicited testimonial letters. We guarantee they are genuine and honest statements of facts.

Cresson, Pa.—"Five years ago I had a bad fall, and hurt myself inwardly. I was under a doctor's care for nine weeks, when I stopped I grew worse again. I sent for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, took it as directed, and in a month I am a stout, hearty woman."—Mrs. Ella E. Alkey, Cresson, Pa.

Baird, Wash.—"A year ago I was sick with kidney and bladder troubles and female weakness. The doctors gave me up. All they could do was to just let me go as easily as possible. I was advised by friends to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier. I am completely cured of my illness, and I am nearly sixty years old."—Mrs. Sarah Leighton, Baird, Wash.

Evidence like the above is abundant showing that the derangements of the female organism which breed all kinds of miserable feelings and which ordinary practice does not cure, are the very disorders that give way to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Women who are afflicted with similar troubles, after reading two such letters as the above, should be encouraged to try this wonderfully helpful remedy.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

EXPECTS CHEAPER FOOD.

Secretary Wilson Says Bread and Meat Prices Should Come Down.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Unless the predictions of Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson fail to come true, meat prices will soon begin to topple, and this part of the consumers food will be cheaper. But there is a string attached to the rosy outlook pictured by Mr. Wilson—the possibility of combinations of dealers gobbling up the advantage which Mr. Wilson anticipates from this year's bumper corn crops.

Secretary Wilson's prediction is as follows: "We have had bumper crops, and meat prices should come down; that is, if no combine is formed among the dealers. My views apply to all kinds of meat. The crops have been such that a falling in prices should be the inevitable result. The only thing that can defeat this will be that too great a toll is taken after the products leave the hands of the farmers and before they reach the consumer."

In this statement Secretary Wilson trenches dangerously near the declaration of Senators Aldrich, Lodge and Gallinger in the Senate during the tariff fight, that the middlemen and merchants were to be blamed for the higher prices of food, declarations which were quickly recalled when the merchants protested against the accusations leveled at them from the Senate.

Mr. Wilson's predictions are based upon the survey of the situation made by his experts. He thinks the grains are the regulators of prices of food. The production of corn this year is estimated at 3,121,381,000 bushels, compared with 2,772,876,000 bushels last year. The production of wheat is said to be less in the United States this year, but this is offset to some extent by the big wheat crop of Russia and Argentina, which will reduce the foreign demand for American wheat. The aggregate of crops in the United States, Mr. Wilson says, was about 7.6 per cent. greater in 1910 than in 1909, and about 9.1 per cent. higher than the 10-year average. As corn, the great meat producing grain, takes the lead in this increase, the Secretary of Agriculture figures that meat prices will soon fall unless they are held up by combinations.

SNAPSHOT OF A GHOST.

Prof. Wm. James' Spirit Claimed to Have Been Photographed.

New York, Nov. 12.—Prof. William James, who, at the time of his death, three months ago, was instructor in psychology in Harvard University, and who said just before he died that he would after death try to get in communication with the material world, has appeared in the spirit world, and has been photographed by Soren Lindgren, a resident of the Bronx, according to a statement by the latter.

Mr. Lindgren, who is a professional photographer, is the son of a Swedish clergyman, and, although not a member of any society for psychical research, has, since a boy, he says, been in communication with spirits and declares he owes his life to a warning communicated to him some years ago by what he calls "the lady in white," who is his personal guardian.

Mr. Lindgren was at work in the dark room of his studio developing pictures three weeks ago, when he felt, he says, a strange sense of another presence in the room, and on looking around could see a wraith slowly taking form, but the lines never became distinct. But almost every day thereafter, he said, the wraith was present. His efforts to engage it in conversation were futile until Thursday, November 6th, when he said he asked:

"Are you Professor James?" The answer was "Yes", and Mr. Lindgren asked the spirit of the professor if he would pose for a picture. "Not here," was the reply, according to Mr. Lindgren. "I will see you at your house tomorrow night at nine o'clock."

Mr. Lindgren says the professor didn't keep the appointment, but Lindgren was not discouraged. He prepared for the coming of the spirit the next night. He brought to his home a dozen dry plates in the original package, and at his request they were opened by a friend of his wife, Miss Alva Franson, who put them in the plate holders in the darkened room. Mr. Lindgren had asked her to do that because she had hinted at photographic trickery.

The camera containing the plate was on the edge of the dining room table, at which Mr. and Mrs. Lindgren and Miss Franson were seated, when Mr. Lindgren, looking toward the living room, saw the wraith forming. He went into the room and extinguished the gas light, then went to the dining room and exposed the camera plate.

Mr. Lindgren says that it was his purpose after getting the photograph, which he deemed most important, to engage the spirit in conversation, but before he could do so it had vanished.

When asked what the spirit looked like Mr. Lindgren gave a fairly accurate description of Professor James as he appeared in life.

A PSYCHICAL RESEARCHER PAYS THE PENALTY.

Baltimore Evening Sun.

The late Prof. William James, of Harvard, devoted most of his leisure during the last 25 years of his life to the fantastic sport known as psychical research. Day in and day out he listened to the grotesque messages of so-called mediums, poured over the affidavits of persons who had seen ghosts, examined slate writings, lent ear to portentous knockings upon tables, gazed at incense, stood agape before the child-like tricks of Eusapia Palladino and other such transparent frauds. The purpose of Dr. James, of course, was a very worthy and even lofty one; he was trying to rouse up evidential support for that belief in immortality which fingers in nearly all of us and is our chief weapon against despair. But like most other men who have engaged in the same enterprise, he fell an easy victim to chicanery, and so much of the evidence he gathered and published was palpably ridiculous.

He seems to have come to a realization toward the end of his life that this was the case, for when he died there were still doubts in his mind, and he promised his associates to settle the matter, if a settlement were possible, by sending them a message from beyond the grave. So far no such message has come from him, but a multitude of volunteer "investigators," unknown to Dr. James during his life, have come forward with stories of alleged communications with his disembodied spirit. One claims to have photographed that spirit; another publishes a long account, supposed to be from Dr. James, of his sensations at death. Such messages and photographs belong to the A B C of psychical research. They are yagni; they prove nothing; it takes, indeed, a good deal of imagination to accept them seriously. The common or garden spiritualist, whenever the police take a nap, inflames ignorant folk with just such balderdash and profits vastly by their credulity.

It seems a pity that a man of Dr. James' high attainments should be made so ludicrous to death, and yet it is a penalty attaching inevitably to the work which engaged him. The late F. W. H. Myers, the English psychologist, also made a promise to communicate with his friends, if possible, after death, and no sooner had he been laid in his grave than a multitude of preposterous "messages" from his spirit were announced by professional necromancers. These messages, like all so-called spirit communications, were childish and nonsensical—so much so, indeed, that Mr. Myers' son put a stop to them by threatening to bring actions for libel against those who published them. Unless that device is adopted by the family of Dr. James, the "messages" from him will increase in number, and as they thus multiply they will also move rapidly and inevitably toward the Bepodidian maximum.

WIFE SLAYS HUSBAND.

New York, Nov. 14.—Dr. Theodore B. Burgdorf was shot and killed by his wife, Anna, in their home in Bronxborough today.

After shooting her husband Mrs. Burgdorf turned the revolver on herself, the bullet entering her abdomen. She was taken in an unconscious condition to a hospital, where it was said that she probably would die. The cause of the shooting is not known.

WAS VICTIM OF DISEASE.

It developed that Mrs. Burgdorf had long been the victim of a facial disease which caused her excruciating pain. This, she gasped out at the hospital, made her wish to die and she shot her husband, who was a prominent physician in the upper part of the city, because she could not bear to leave him behind.

The physician was shot as he lay sleeping, the bullet penetrating his side. When he rolled to the floor and breathed his last his wife shot herself twice in the abdomen and side.

TELLS HER STORY.

Before she lapsed into unconsciousness the woman managed to tell the story of her suffering and its effects.

"Of her husband she said: 'I just couldn't bear to die and leave him behind, because I loved him so,' she moaned. 'Jealousy—yes, that's what it is. Maybe it's selfish of me, but I just couldn't help it.'"

Although in an extremely critical condition, Mrs. Burgdorf refused to let hospital surgeons operate on her tonight. She was determined to die, she said feebly, and would sanction no attempt to prolong her life.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

The Famous Rayo

Does Not Strain the Eyes

Don't use a small, concentrated light over one shoulder. It puts an unequal strain on your eyes. Use a diffused, soft, mellow light that cannot flicker, that equalizes the work of the eyes, such as the Rayo Lamp gives, and avoid eye strain.

The Rayo is designed to give the best light, and it does. It has a strong, durable shade-holder that is held firm and true. A new burner gives added strength. Made of solid brass and finished in nickel. Easy to keep polished. The Rayo is low priced, but no other lamp gives a better light at any price.

After Grippe or any Sickness

Vinol Creates Strength HERE IS PROOF

"After a long attack of Grippe, Mrs. Vaught seemed unable to recover her strength. She was very weak and had no appetite. VINOL rapidly improved her condition and restored her to health. I sincerely recommend its use during convalescence or any run down condition."

JUDGE C. N. VAUGHT, Huntsville, Ala. Miss Adelaide Gamm, of Watertown, Wis., writes, "After a severe attack of the Grippe, my system was in a very weakened, nervous, run-down condition. I took VINOL with the best of results, and it made me feel better and stronger than I have been for years."

We have never sold in our store a more valuable health restorer for weak and run down persons than VINOL, and we ask such people in this vicinity to try VINOL with the understanding that their money will be returned if it does not do all we claim for it.
