as at last been completion of the rallroad, connecting ro and Winston Salem. The ns through one of the best of country in the state and ill have a tremendous effect in developing tributory territory. Much has been said and written about the great things the road would uo for Wadesboro, and there san be no doubt that its completion means much to the town-provided our business men make the most of the opportunities it opens to them. It is certain, however, that the road will be an absolute injury to Wadesboro unless our monied men rise to the possibilities of the occasion and inaugurate manufacturing enterprises of one sort or another. The fact that Ansonville and Cedar Hill are to have railroad facilities will certainly ent off considerable trade that has been coming here, and an analysis of the situation points luevitably to the conclusion that Wadesboro is just about as large as the trade of the farmers who will naturally do business here can make it. Wadesboro, however, is most admirably situated A. Newell. for becoming a distributing center Christenberry. and for manufacturing. With the completion of the Southbound the town has unsurpassed facilities for reaching out in every direction and establishing trade relations with our neighbors to the north, south, east and west. Our situation, geographically speaking, is such that we should, in the next ten years, become a S. E. Richardson. good sized city, and the question now is will we wake up and go to ker. W. L. Grissom, Supernumerwork for the acquisition of trade and manufacturing interests that will increase our population and wealth, or Long. shall we rest on our oars, content to see other communities reap the rich harvest that is naturally ours. nd Bethel-E K McLarty.

The Last Spike Charlotte Evening Chronicle.

It fell to Wadesboro to drive the lest spike in the Southbound road and there is much happiness there. The event-the completion of a railroad that lets Wadesboro out into the commercial world-was calculated to cause rejoicing among the people of that town. It means more to Wadesboro than to any point on the line, perhaps, on account economic conditions and geographical situation.

We can very well believe that the expectations of the people of Wadesboro for new life-for new business. new people and general building and commercial expansion-are going to be realized in progressive order.

Wadesboro is a good town and its people are as good as the best. The Chronicle extends congratulations to them and hopes that the Southbound will do all for their town that they are expecting.

Inhaman Son Murders Aged Father. Muncle, Ind , dispatch, 18th.

"I thought he was dead. I loaded the buggy and started for the old well. I had the body proped up on the seat. On the way he revived a little and threw his arms around my neck. Then I beat him over the head again until he was quiet. Just as I was about to throw his body into the weil he grouned and gave a long

This, according to the police, is part of the signed confession of Benjamine Smith, 22 years old, a farmer now in the Muncie jail. It was the climax of ner. a femarkable recital of murder. Last night Smith, his hands covered with blood, staggered into the home of Oscar Shaw and told a story of having been attacked by highwaymen. Smith's father was mysteriously pissing and suspicions were aroused hich led to his arrest. Under examtion he said that he would show police where his father's body could be found. He led the way to an old well and pointing, said: "There be is." From the old well the police took the body of Charles Smith, the father. The police learned that father and son had quarreled because the father wanted young Smith to pay board.
