ANSONVILLE ITEMS.

Misses Geneva Dunlap and Myrtle McKee and Mr. Tyler Dunlap attended the Thanksgiving dance at Albemarle.
 Mrs. W. D. Redfern is at home from Charlotte and Kings Mountain.
 Mrs. Reid Tull is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Griggs.
 Mr. B. D. Nelms is at home from Baltimore.
 Many friends will be delighted to hear that Maj. W. A. Smith, who has been quite ill at the Maryland University Hospital in Baltimore, is improving.
 Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Dunlap, Maj. W. A. Smith and Messrs. L. L. Little and J. F. Ross were invited by President Fries to be guests on the first train to pass over the Southbound.
 The Emery Circle held a happy meeting last Tuesday afternoon with Miss Minnie Lou Dunlap at Buffalo Heights. A good two hours of Christmas sewing was done, stitching in much pleasant conversation and thoughts of absent friends, when a delicious refreshment of devil cake and fruit salad made the members think that Christmas had jumped a month and come already.
 In compliment to Ansonville's coming bride, Miss Palma Ross, a pleasant shower reception was given by Mrs. J. M. Dunlap on Friday afternoon. A goodly number of friends responded to the invitation, and for two hours many fair maids and matrons called to extend good wishes to the sweet-to-be bride, leaving behind tangible expressions in the quaintest of lace kerchiefs. Mrs. W. D. Robinson and Miss Minnie Lou Dunlap stood in the hall and received the guests, when Miss Ida Richardson led the way to the front parlor, where in decoration of ferns and potted plants, where she presented them to the hostess, honoree and Miss Geneva Ross. In the back parlor Mesdames W. D. Redfern, W. B. McLendon and O. E. Ross provided entertainment, till Miss Lillie Allen invited them to the dining room, fragrant and springy in tender, trailing vines and quantities of violet bouquets. Here Mrs. Myra A. Doyle served a collation of chicken salad, Saratoga chips, cheese straws, sandwiches, pickles and coffee. The feast was a tasty display of the shower, presided over by Miss Sarah Richardson.
 Miss Ross was given in a handsome suit of Bedford cord with an elegant amber beaver hat and was the one of unaffected girl-loveliness as she received the legion of good wishes expressed. Miss Geneva Ross wore becoming costume of white and black. Mrs. Dunlap was attired in white sateen over satin.

A PLOW STORY

About thirty years ago the father of the writer of this story bought a No. 7 Right Hand Wood Beam Oliver Chilled Plow, from Messrs. Smith & Dunlap, the hardware dealers of Wadesboro at that time. This plow was a thing of beauty, and saw its first service in the low grounds of Rocky river, in Stanly county.
 How well do I remember how, as a boy, I use to throw my little wool hat into the furrow in front of Nell and Sal and let them cover it about 10 or 12 inches deep, and how much fun it was to dig it out again. This old plow has seen continuous service ever since, and is still being used, although of course the old wood beam has been broken many a time and the other parts have been badly worn from time to time and had to be replaced. Although this old plow has seen continuous service for thirty years, it has not yet asked to be retired on the pension list, and it could hardly be bought for the price of a new one.

Oliver Chilled and Chattanooga Chilled Plows

Five years ago, the writer came to the town of Wadesboro and found that very few Oliver Chilled Plows or chilled plows of any kind were being sold in Anson county, and when we bought our first carload of chilled plows some of the clerks thought we had gone crazy and had steked up on chilled plows for several years, and when we added the second car load within one year they thought we were surely fit for the "Bug house". We are glad to state, however, that the farmers of Anson county have recognized fully what, the latest, improved steel beam plow means to them as a wealth producer, and we are pleased to add that our trade is increasing rapidly on

Gooper Oliver

Which is their lightest one-horse steel beam plow, and it is a dandy; it has done for the old Dixie Plow business, what the axe does for the fat pig in cold December. The other Oliver is the B. C. N. which is just a size smaller than their No. 10, and is their newest and lightest two-horse plow.

The Chattanooga No. 71

Corresponds in size and price with the Oliver Gooper. Their latest production is the No. 72, which is their lightest size two-horse plow, a little larger and stronger than their No. 72, but not quite so heavy as the No. 73.

The Oliver and Chattanooga Plows

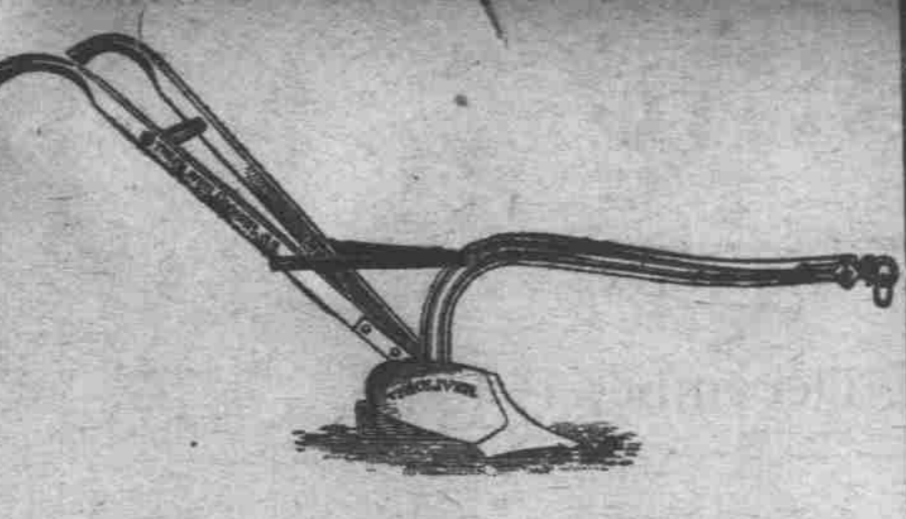

Run as smoothly and as gracefully as a swan swims upon the lake.
 Start the fall plowing, or get ready for the Spring plowing in the right way, by equipping your farms with Oliver and Chattanooga Plows.

Now Is Coal Time

After a while, it will rain and the roads will be mean, and there might be some delay in getting what you want delivered when you want it. Why not

Order Some Coal Today?

You have room enough under the back piazza to pile a good sized load and save it for a rainy day. Then forget it and order a new load whenever you need coal.

Still, you don't have to do it that way. Fix it any old way that suits you. Only you will soon find that in any case it will suit you best if you order it from the Wadesboro Oil Mill.

You will like their beautifully clean lump coal. The mill burns up the dirty, dusty stuff, and keeps the lumps for you.

Coal delivered at your door at any time by the
