

CAMPUS WORKERS HAVE DONE MUCH WORK THIS YEAR

(Continue from Page 1) for the amount of work which it accomplishes in the future, and it will always be ready and grateful for any donation...

SCHOLARSHIP AWARDED MISS NEWEL MASON

Miss Newel Mason, professor of education and psychology at Chowan College, has been offered a scholarship by Duke University.

MEMBERS OF CLASSES VISIT DAMASK MILL

Several members of the Economics and Clothing Classes went to Roanoke Rapids Friday afternoon, May 12, to go through the damask mill there.

CAMPUS DRESSED UP DURING COMMENCEMENT

Through the efforts of Mother Nature and Mr. Liverman, overseer of the college grounds, the campus was dressed out in its commencement dress with all the necessary ruffles and tucks.

MEMBERS OF CLASS IN DEMAND BY SCHOOLS

There is always great demand for Chowan graduates. Among those who have secured positions for next year are: Miss Susan Barnes, who will teach the sixth grade at Conway, N. C.

SOPHOMORES ENTERTAIN SENIORS, THEATER PARTY

Tuesday evening, May 8, the Seniors were all smiles. Why? Because the Sophs had invited the Seniors to join them in a little theater party on Thursday evening, May 10.

Promptly at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening, the Sophs and Seniors left the campus for Howell's Theater. For more than an hour they stood on the streets waiting for the "picture show man," but alas! he failed to "show up."

GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN

Miss Thelma Draper, '26, now Mrs. Bruce Carter, Raleigh, N. C., recently won a ten-dollar prize for being the best fourth-grade teacher in Forsythe County.

MESSAGE BY THE WAY

My dear Chowan Girls: I write this while I wait for the train on my way home from Chowan, May 31—to wish you a happy and profitable vacation, and to say that I am already looking forward with more pleasure than you dream of exploring certain fields of English with you next year.

I want, too, to take this opportunity to say that I appreciate highly the cheerful and enthusiastic co-operation which you have given me in your English work the past year.

Au revoir, my Chowan students, past and future! May you keep well and happy, and be on hand September 5, with smiling faces.

Every good wish to you! Bertha L. Carroll.

In addition to those mentioned were many former students and many dear friends and in-laws of Chowan whose names space forbids our mentioning here. The commencement season is a joyous period here, because it always brings back to Chowan many friends and associates of other days, whom we do not forget and by whom we would not be forgotten.

You are the breath of life to me. Well, suppose you hold your breath for awhile.

Ever try opium? How zat go? Opium mouth and shut your eyes.

Billy Goat: "Why don't you eat the clothes from Mrs. Green's line any more?" Nanny Goat: "The doctor told me to cut out starch."

Daughter: "But smoking doesn't do any harm, mother." Mother: "Then for goodness sake, how did you ever come to take it up?"

Louise McDaniel: "Look at the bag that the class gave me." Ruby Daniels: "Why did they give it to you?" Virginia Martin: "Oh Ruby, you are so dumb!"

Pug: "What is usually done with the holes of doughnuts?" Mug: "They're used to stuff macaroni."

I'd give up drinking And swearing and lying; The girls beat me at 'em So why keep trying?"

Quarter-back: "Listen, I've got a little play up my sleeve." Half-back: "That's nothing. I've got a run in my stocking."

Mother: "How did you like the show?" Daughter: "Oh, they gyped me. We saw it four times, and the last time they left out five or six slides."

Bolshev: "You've got more dirt on you than I've ever seen." Vicky: "Whatcha expect? I'm twice as big as you."

"Bill, you used to have something about you that I liked, but you spent it." "Does my practicing make you nervous?" asked the man who was learning to play a saxophone. "It did when I first heard the neighbors discussing it," replied the man next door, "but I'm getting so now that I don't care what happens to you."—Tid-Bits.

"He was a man who had indeed suffered much," says a country paper, in a short obituary notice. "He had been a subscriber to this paper since its first number."—Christian Evangelist.

Anxious mother: "And is my boy really trying?" Tired teacher: "Very."—Out-look.

At a certain French university the students, who had been studying Shakespeare in their native tongue, were requested by an examiner to translate into English the opening lines of Hamlet's soliloquy, "To be or not to be." The following was the result: The first Frenchman exclaimed, "To was or not to am." The second rendered it, "To were or is to not." While the third gave a still more liberal reading, "To should or not to will."—Baptist Banner.

Do not concern yourself with what your enemies say. They have an outside viewpoint.

Now that tomatoes are reported to be getting scarcer, we wonder if the supply will ketchup with the demand.

Women in favor of Smith have been seen wearing brown derbies. If this method of campaigning keeps up, we may be seeing female Dawes enthusiasts smoking that famous Dawes upside-down pipe!

A man in Philadelphia complains that his pet skunk has been stolen. It shouldn't be hard to find the thief!

A juror who winked at a pretty blonde defendant in Washington caused a mistrial to be declared. Evidently gentlemen of the jury prefer blondes!

Many an uneducated man has taken his third degree. After being kept awake by the noise all night, the man next door wondered why they called it a speakeasy.

"I'm going to vote for Hoover," said Mrs. Gabby. "These new vacuum cleaners of his are wonderful!"

A SUMMER MEAT COURSE. For the meat course of a quickly-served summer dinner, try jelly meat loaf prepared from the tinned fish, chicken or tongue that should be on every shelf. The foundation of the loaf is lemon-flavored gelatin, with slices of hard-boiled egg or green peas used alternately with the layers of meat or fish. Served with mayonnaise and rice or potato patties fried crisp and brown in butter or margarine, this make a very satisfying meal.

REMOVES GRASS STAINS. Pretty hard to keep little folks up off the grass just now. But never mind. Grass spots will come out easily if washed in alcohol.

Will Marry For $5,000

Dorothy Lindy, 18, of New York has offered herself in marriage to the first man who offers her $5,000. She is now working in a factory for $11 a week. She says she will use the money to aid her invalid parents. She believes a husband could fall in love with her as soon as he tasted her cooking.

beeswax to two pints turpentine, dissolved in a saucepan on the range until a paste is formed. Apply with a soft flannel and rub briskly.

TO MEND CHINA

A splendid cement for broken china may be made by mixing plaster of paris with white of egg until it is creamy. Apply with a soft flannel and rub briskly.

TO CLEAN ENAMELED TUBS

Practically all scouring powders dull the polish of enameled tubs and lavatories. Gasoline does the work better and quicker and does not harm the porcelain.

ON IRONING DAY

Instead of sprinkling clothes by hand, use a whisk broom dipped in water and shaken over the clothes. Also keep an atomizer handy nearby when ironing, so you can spray dry spots as you iron.

DON'T FLIRT FROM JURY BOX

Washington, D. C.—A prohibition case was tried here, with Mrs. Joseph Herbert the defendant. A male juror winked and smiled at her—and as a result a mistrial was declared.

"Deacon White," said Parson Jackson softly, "will you lead us in prayer?" There was no answer.

"Deacon White," this time a little louder, "will you lead?" Still no response. Evidently the deacon was slumbering. Parson Jackson made a third appeal and raised his voice to a high pitch that succeeded in arousing the drowsy man. "Deacon White, will you lead?"

The deacon in bewilderment rubbed his heavy eyes and blurted: "Lead yourself, I just dealt."
