

LARGEST SENIOR CLASS IN HISTORY OF COLLEGE

College Starts Off With Brighter Prospects Than In Any Year Recently

If any true significance can be attached to the old superstition that a good beginning makes a good ending, our college this year will know the most flourishing session in its history.

Although the building are full to overflowing, Mr. Edwards says that not a single student will be turned away, even if Mr. Evans has to order a new supply of ten-penny nails on which to hang them, or the faculty has to move out in town.

A partition has been built dividing the old sewing room into two cozy bedrooms which heretofore had not been needed.

A large number of students have registered, and there are rumors of many others coming in. Miss Caldwell says we have the largest senior class the college has ever had.

We feel that this increase in number will be commensurate with the increase in future usefulness and attractiveness of the college and of the individual girls trained here.

College and Manhattan College, a branch of the University of Kansas. In Colorado, they visited the University of Denver, Boulder University and Colorado Woman's College.

Miss Maude Webster, professor of science, spent six weeks in summer school at the University of Minnesota, after which she traveled to the West Coast, stopping at Banff, Alberta, and Vancouver; Victoria, in British Columbia; Portland, Oregon; Seattle, Washington, and the Black Hills, South Dakota, where she saw the rodeo in Deadwood, S. D. Miss Mildred Poe, instructor in expression, also studied for six weeks at the University of Minnesota, after which she took a three weeks' motor trip, visiting Port Arthur, Canada, and Black Hills, South Dakota.

Miss Licie Payne, professor of home economics, attended George Peabody College for Teachers, where she received her Master's Degree. Miss Payne used as the subject of her thesis "The Effects of Laundry Soap on Silk." She had discovered that Ivory soap is best for laundering silks, and the Ivory Soap Company is buying Miss Payne's thesis for advertisement.

Miss Inez Matthews, piano instructor, spent the summer at her home in Windsor, N. C. Miss Matthews' plans to go to New York were given up after a tonsil operation which forced her to remain at home and rest.

Dr. W. R. Burrell, professor of Bible, accompanied by his wife and daughter, Beatrice, attended the Baptist World Alliance in Canada in June.

IMPROVEMENTS MADE TO COLLEGE GROUNDS

ing, the President's Home, and Stone Cottage last spring have grown wonderfully. A great deal of campus improvement was planned and performed by Mrs. Edwards, chairman of the campus committee. As a result of the efforts of this committee, the campus is more beautiful now than it has been in many years. The walks have been trimmed and rounded so as to drain properly, and the driveway has been dragged. Everything indicates pride and care.

The flower garden which Mrs. Edwards cherished during the summer is now furnishing beauty for dining room and halls.

SOPHOMORES

Sophomores—that's what we are, girls! Let's begin now and make this a record year. Let's come up with plenty of pep and good old class spirit. Let's not disappoint the Frosh!

GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN
Alumnae Column

Miss Lizzie S. Savage, '86 Franklin, Va., June 14.—Miss Lizzie S. Savage, aged 60, died here this morning at "The Maples," the home of her sister, Mrs. J. L. Camp. She was a native of Como, N. C., the daughter of the late Rev. R. R. Savage and Mrs. Rowena Vann Savage, but had been a resident of Franklin for about 25 years. She was one of the best-known women in Virginia, being prominent in the work of the Baptist Church and as the corresponding secretary of the Woman's Missionary Union of Virginia, with headquarters at Richmond, until four years ago when failing health caused her to resign that position. Previous to that service she was associational superintendent of the Woman's Missionary Union of the Blackwater Baptist Association for a number of years.

She is survived by two brothers, Dr. W. V. Savage, of Churchland, and Troy D. Savage, of Norfolk, and by two sisters, Mrs. J. Camp, of Franklin, and Mrs. Herbert T. Williams, of Chase City, besides a large and prominent family connection in this part of Virginia and throughout North Carolina. Funeral services will be conducted from the Franklin Baptist Church Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. R. D. Stephenson of the local church, assisted by a former pastor, Rev. J. L. McCutcheon, of Modest Town, Va., and a kinsman, Dr. R. T. Vann, of Raleigh. Interment followed in Poplar Spring Cemetery.

Marriages are popular with Chowan Alumnae, as the following facts prove:

Miss Janet Benthall, '27, of Rich Square, and Mr. David Day were married July 17. They are now living in Murfreesboro.

The marriage of Miss Marietta Bridger, '26, to Mr. William Jones has been announced. The wedding will take place sometime in October.

Miss Ruth Oakley, class of '27, was married recently to Mr. Bridgman. They are now living in Florida.

Miss Helen Winborne, '16, former teacher of piano at Chowan, was married to Mr. W. J. M. Holland, Jr., in June. They are now living in Franklin, Va.

"Miss Winborne" visited the college recently, and so radiated happiness that we fear there will be an epidemic of marriages among the girls.

Miss Lizzie Jones, '27, and Mr. Philip Downes were married in June. They are living in South Mills.

Miss Luella Peterson, '25, is now associated with the John Roger's Produce Company for this season. She is to have the eastern territory beginning in New York State.

Miss Annie Aurelia Futrell, '06, is teaching in the public school in Murfreesboro.

The following girls of '26 are teaching: Misses Hazel Griffin, at Lexington, N. C.; Jessie Marie Parker, Conway; Lucille Freeman, Vanceboro; Dorothy Long, Greenville; Ella Mae Parker, Lake View, S. C., and Lois Essex, Parksley, Va.

Miss Agnes Cobb, '27, now has a position in the Congressional Library, at Washington, D. C. She will also do some work in Georgia Washington University.

The class of '28 is still moving upward.

Miss Beatrice Burrell is working for her M. A. degree at Wake Forest College.

Miss Louise McDaniel is assistant to Dr. Payne of the First Baptist Church in Elizabeth City.

The following girls of '28 are teaching: Misses Susan Barnes, at Conway; Bernice Benthall, Atkinville; Marjorie Bowles, Saxapahaw; Ethel Britt, Mars Hill High School; Lois Cale, Newland; Vida Dunning, Plymouth; Neva Futrell, Columbia; Mary Hoggard, Gates; Mary Spencer and Pauline Willis, Knightdale; Hilton Jones, Tazewell, Va.; Elizabeth Middleton, Rosewood; Mary Raynor, Lewisville; Margaret Richmond, Hobbsville; Julia Grady, Eure, and Thelma E. Freeman, Merry Hill.

Miss Annie Abernathy, class of '20, a former teacher of Latin at Chowan College, is teaching at Apex.

Miss Catherine Fleetwood, a former student of art here, has charge of the Public School of Art, at Oxford, N. C.

Dear Alumnae and Friends of Chowan:

In the beginning of this school year, we have resolved to put our best work on The CHOWANIAN, in order that we may give to the readers something worthwhile. Of course you will want The CHOWANIAN regularly, for if you are looking for the alumnae and other peppy and interesting news, we give it to you; if you like to laugh, we have good wholesome jokes for your pleasure; and then, too, we publish some of the best literary work done at Chowan. That's what you get for nine months at a cost of only $1.00. We want you to have our paper, so fill out the subscription blank below and send it in now, that you may receive the next issue.
