

LOCAL NEWS NOTES

Dr. Martin and his family, of Emporia, Va., have recently moved to town. Dr. Martin has purchased the home formerly owned by Mr. M. E. Worrell. We are very glad to welcome this family in our midst, and to have Dr. Martin as a physician.

Dan Storey, one of our up-to-date barbers, has moved his place of business from the Farmers-Atlantic Bank to the old bank building, beside the Post Office. He will have quite an attractive shop.

Quite a number of the people of Murfreesboro drove over to Ahoskie the 26th to hear Mr. Josephus Daniels. The speech was very much enjoyed.

The Methodists are having revival services at their church, convening from the 23rd to the 30th. Mr. Robinson, of Warrenton, N. C., is doing the preaching; his sermons are very forceful.

Mrs. Allie Parham, who suffered a severe fall a few weeks ago, is still confined to her room. Mrs. Parham is one of the oldest and most beloved women of our town, and we hope for her a speedy recovery.

The Parent-Teachers' Association held its regular meeting September 24. New officers were elected, and the association decided to help standardize the elementary school. We have the average attendance, surely the equipment can be obtained.

Mr. Roswell Pipkin, a promising young attorney of Murfreesboro, will, in the near future, open his office for business.

The reception given recently to the people of Murfreesboro by Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Edwards, in honor of the faculty and students, was certainly enjoyed by those who attended. The reception halls and parlors were beautifully decorated in roses and ferns.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Ellington and little son, and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Holloway were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Draper on September 23.

The Hertford County Union will meet with Christian Harbor Church, October 2. We hope very much to have a large attendance.

Dr. G. N. Harrell has been a recent visitor in town. Dr. Harrell seems to like his work at Columbia, N. C., very much.

Miss Ida Boddie, one of the High School faculty, spent September 23, at her home in Nashville, N. C.

The W. M. U. of Northampton County will hold an all-day meeting at Garysburg Church, October 18. As many of the Baptist women of the county as can do so, are urged to attend. The young peoples' organizations are also urged to send as many representatives as possible.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

We are very glad to hear the reports that are coming to us of the improvement of Miss Lena Terry, now at Pinecrest Manor, Southern Pines. Miss Terry was a member of the faculty here in '25, '26, and '27. She expects to return to her home in Alabama soon.

In writing up the summer activities of Chowan teachers and students for the last CHOWANIAN, we overlooked the fact that Mrs. A. W. H. Jones and her daughter, Hilton, studied at the University of Virginia throughout the summer. The CHOWANIAN hopes to publish some of the results of Mrs. Jones' work soon.

Evelyn White, of Severn, studied voice at the Boston Conservatory of Music last summer.

Born last August to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Perry, of Ahoskie, a dainty little daughter. Mrs. Perry is known to Chowan as "Miss Arnold," former head of the department of Latin.

Miss Fannie White, who taught here several years ago, is now teaching home economics in Blue Mountain College, Blue Mountain, Mississippi.

Miss Alice R. Collins, last year head of the modern language department here, is quite happy in her work at Salem College, Winston-Salem, N. C. She is teaching French there.

University of the Philippines, Manila, has an enrollment of 5,000 students.

Harvey Passes On

Colonel George B. Harvey, former Ambassador to Great Britain, and famous as the maker of two presidents, having had a prominent part in the selection of both Wilson and Harding as candidates, died of a heart attack at Dublin, N. H.

Dempsey Becomes Actor

Jack and Mrs. Dempsey (Estelle Taylor), as they appeared starring in the new play on Broadway called "The Big Fight."

Some men move through life as a band of music moves down the thoroughfare, flinging out melody and harmony through the air to everyone far and near who listens.—Henry Ward Beecher.

A Modern Venus di Milo

Blanche Le Clair, well known movie actress, has shoulder measurements exactly the same as the famous Venus di Milo, according to studio physicians who observed the remarkable similarity in conducting a health survey. Miss Le Clair attributes her shoulder development to tennis and swimming. Her chest development is just 34 1/2 inches.

Cannibals have evidently visited Chowan recently. A member of the journalism class wrote concerning the box auction of September 7, "After buying the boxes, the young men took the girls out on the lawn and ate them."

Hope's Hopes Fulfilled!

Miss Hope Hampton looked toward Broadway after being adjudged the most beautiful girl in a contest where she lived, Houston, Tex. She has become one of the most famous stars in moviedom, and this season she is going to make her debut as a Grand Opera singer.

GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN
Alumnae Column

The alumnae and friends of Chowan are very sorry to hear of the death of Mr. J. R. Peterson, of Clinton, N. C., which occurred September 14. His wife, formerly Miss Roberta Marshburn, of Clinton, is a graduate of the class of '94. The friends of Chowan extend to her their heartfelt sympathy in her bereavement.

The marriage epidemic among former Chowan students has not ended. Edith Oakley of the class of '27 was married to Mr. Koonce early in September. Miss Sophie Faison, whose marriage to Mr. Morrison Parramore took place Friday night, September 21, was a visitor at the college which wishes may present one. All couples congratulations and hope that happiness will be theirs.

Hilda Matthews, of the class of '25, is teaching at Elizabethtown, and Elizabeth Watson, of the class of '26, is teaching at Wilton.

Chowan always welcomes her former students when they return to visit her. Misses Carrie Rountree, Ethel Britt and Margaret Britt, and Mrs. Philips Downes, formerly Miss Lizzie Jones, and Mrs. Dick Cook, formerly Miss Maebelle Ward, were callers at the college Sunday, September 16.

UNDER THE GREENWOOD TREE

Miss Caldwell: Hilda, work an example for me over there on that board. This is the example:
x, boys; y, girls; z, chaperone.
x and y and z, misery.
x and y minus z, bliss.

Latin Professor: Mildred, do you remember Horatius at the bridge?

Mildred Hinton: I don't think I ever met him. You know we see so few men in Chowan College.

Mrs. Jones: I would certainly like for all the girls to go to Washington, D. C.

Frances Flythe: I've never been, but I am certainly going on my trousseau.

Miss Webster: Pauline, what is the largest body you ever saw?
Pauline Simons: Roxie Flythe's.

Proctor, walking into Raba Taylor's room: Look, your dresser is on fire!

Raba Taylor: No, it's my electric light. I couldn't blow it out, so I put it in my drawer.

Miss Carroll (scanning poetry on English class): Eliza, what is a foot?

Eliza Blackstone: Why twelve inches, of course.

Maidie Wake: When I sing I get tears in my eyes. What can I do for it?

Eva Hoggard: Stuff cotton in your ears.

Ann Downey: Mary, what degree are you working for?

Mary Stanley: I'm working for recreation.

Freshman: I know something.
Senior: Never mind, you will forget it before you reach my age.

In discussing how the Sophomores could raise money, Agnes suggested that they sell postage stamps and see if they could make anything on them.

Addie M. Cooke: Who was the heroine in "The Scarlet Letter"?
Myrtle Huff (with animation): Oh! She was a woman.

Edna Harrell (explaining the building to parents): There is nothing on the fifth floor except the conservatory. (Observatory).

Virginia Stanley: If Thanksgiving comes on Friday, and we get a holiday, I am going home for the week-end.

Teacher: It gives me great pleasure to give you eighty-five on your examination.

Pupil: Well, give me a hundred, and get a real thrill out of it.
