

Societies Make Preparation For Society Day

The Alathenian and Lucalian Literary Societies are making preparation for Society Day, an annual event on the Chowan College calendar which this year falls on the eighth of March.

In the Lucalian pep meeting, called Thursday, February 7, Martha Seymour was chosen as cheer leader for the society. Plans then were made in regard to yells and songs that will be used on Society Day. After singing the Lucalian songs the meeting was dismissed.

The Alathenians held their first pep meeting after the regular society meeting Thursday evening, February 14, at which time the society songs and yells were practiced under the direction of Frances Jilcott, the society cheer leader.

Although the contestants for the tennis match have not been chosen and no definite work has been done in that field the girls are working on basket ball. Regular practice begins next week. Frances Jilcott and Maggie Price have been appointed as leaders of the Alathenian team and Elizabeth Parker as leader of the Lucalians.

Query for Debate Has Been Announced

The query for the annual debate between the two societies which will be held Friday evening has been announced. It is—Resolved: that the nations should agree to prevent international shipment of arms and munitions.

The Alathenians, represented by Lucy Freeman and Frances Jilcott with Ruth Taylor as alternate, will uphold the affirmative side of the query, and the negative side will be upheld by the Lucalians, represented by Inez Willoughby and Mary Smith with Adeline McGregor as alternate.

REV. T. E. WALTERS CONDUCTS SERVICE

Church services were held in Murfreesboro Baptist Church, February 17, at which time the Rev. T. E. Walters, pastor of the North Rocky Mount Baptist Church preached on the subject: "Crossroads".

After taking his text from Obadiah 1:14, Mr. Walters gave illustrations of crossways in towns, and on highways and between nations, naming among international crossroads the Suez and Panama canals.

He then brought out the idea that there are moral crossroads in life and that everyone must choose his way. Furthermore, he added, that the individual's choice depends greatly upon the person who is at the crossroads to guide him. Miriam stood at the crossroads and saved the life of Moses by suggesting a nurse for him. Others have failed in life because there was no one at the crossroads to guide.

In conclusion Mr. Walter urged everyone to stand at the crossroads of life to guide others who pass, just as sign along state highways point out the right way to travelers.

GLEE CLUB WORKS AFTER BRIEF REST

After a short rest period the Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Forrest DeLano, is again at work preparing for its appearance in the formal Fine Arts Recital in March.

Since the Christmas Vesper Service the Glee Club has had a rest, but it is now at work harder than ever. The songs which it will use in the recital this year are more classical than any songs it has attempted before. Among them is Gounod's "Sanctus" from "St. Cecilia Mass".

The Glee Club will be responsible for music throughout the commencement exercises and members of the Glee Club will be chosen to take part in the commencement operetta. Besides the work which it does in the school, the Glee Club furnishes special music at the services of the Murfreesboro Baptist Church and at special meetings elsewhere occasionally. The club was in charge of the music at the Murfreesboro Baptist Church Sunday, February 24.

The members of the club are: Soprano 1: Cora Felton Bass, Mary Beale Liverman, Bernice Ricks, Ovie Liverman, Jeanette Stallings, Julia Futrell, Elizabeth Shaw, Edith Johnson and Frances Jilcott; Soprano 2: Nellie Ricks, Kate Lawrence, Louise Lassiter and Ruth Stephenson; Alto: Helent Edwards, Martha Seymour, Mabel Carol and Mary E. Duncan.

WHITE PHANTOMS MEET "Y" QUINT AT ROCKY MOUNT

The Y. M. C. A. Amocos of Rocky Mount defeated Chowan's White Phantoms 48-21 at Rocky Mount Y. M. C. A. gym Thursday night, February 14.

The Phantoms, tired by the trip, and having to play on a large court, could not play their best basketball. Moreover, "Pat" Taylor, a regular forward, was unable to take the trip. This decidedly weakened Chowan's team. The Y team was made up of ex-college players, some having made the All-Southern teams, and all having played two or three years of varsity ball at the larger colleges and universities. The Phantoms were playing out of their class, but they put up a good fight.

The Chowan quint made as many attempts at the basket as did the Amocos, but were unable to make their shots good. Forrest and Lee featured for Chowan, while Sides topped high score for the Y team.

Taylor and Brett Entertain At Party

Margaret Brett and Ruth Taylor delightfully entertained at a Valentine party, Friday evening, February 15, in Margaret Brett's home.

Red and white carried out the Valentine motif in the hall, living room and parlor.

The guests were met at the door by little John Page Revelle, who was dressed as Cupid, and taken into the parlor.

Hearts, and many other Valentine games and contests were played during the evening led by Mrs. George Nebbitt.

Red candy hearts, ambrosia and red heart cakes, were served to the following: Marguarite Taylor, Gertrude Wiggins, Shirley Liverman, Evelyn Whitley, Eleanor Payne, Katherine Matthews, Margaret Brett, Ruth Taylor, Walter Dudley, Philip Taylor, Lamar Henson, Carey Harrell and Melton Valentine.

TOURNAMENT AT CHOWAN FEB. 28

The annual high school basketball tournament, sponsored by Chowan College, is to be held at Chowan beginning February 28 and continuing through March 2. The boys' and girls' basketball teams of all the high schools within a radius of seventy-five miles have been invited.

Both the winning boy's team and the winning girl's team will be awarded silver loving cups by the Athletic Association. In addition to these trophies Chowan College offers a scholarship to the person adjudged to be the best individual player. Last year the silver loving cup for the winning girls team was won by the Roxobel-Kelford basketball team. The cup for the winning boy's team was won by the Murfreesboro basketball team.

CAMPUS THROUGH THE KEYHOLE

Friends and fellow school mates, lend me your eyes. I say eyes instead of ears because the time has rolled around once more for us to peep through that well known device, the Keyhole. And so, we shall see what we shall see.

What relation could our J. P. Freeman have to a common fowl? I don't know—but here is a statement he made on Psychology class: "Small chicks will peck at anything. I know from experience." Figure it out for yourself.

By the way, how many of you have been honored by membership in that organization on the campus "The Charm Club?" It has everybody wondering.

From what I hear Earl Barrett and Edwin Flythe have some new nicknames. Call them "infant" and see what they say.

Basketball is going strong. It may be a good thing that the interest is so high, otherwise, as in some cases, the only sport we would indulge in would be having athlete's feet.

There's one thing that "Pee-Wee" McDanie! is more afraid of than a wild cat. That is a blind date. However, she was very disappointed when her Romeo from Rock Mount failed to turn up.

My, but Louise Lassiter is one lucky girl. Were you privileged to attend the swell Valentine party her boy friend from Roanoke Rapids threw for her? She's getting "up" in the world.

Rumors are linking the names of our Scotch lassie and Glenn Parker the short-wave man. Those same rumors seem to be about 99.9 percent correct.

An addition has been made to the Chowan radio family. Miss Elizabeth Shaw is the proud possessor of a new radio. The name has not been announced.

Is Pat Taylor undecided? He seems to be torn between those baby features and bangs like Cleopatra's.

These Seniors are certainly having a good time watching over their little sisters. I'll be glad when I get to be a dignified Senior and some good shows come to town.

It seems to me that there were quite a few letters in the box lately from State College. All were addressed to Miss Beatrice Martin. "Love is Just Around the Corner!"

Two of our day students have decided to stay in the dormitory. We're glad to have you, Elsie and Christine.

There is something that has been worrying Lib Shaw lately. She finally got enough courage to ask somebody "Does lightwood come out of trees?" My guess is yes, unless it is mined.

Barbara Bunch had better watch out how she counts her money when she gets to be a billionaire. Mr. Robinson asked her how long it would take to count a billion dollars. Barbara cried "It would take a whole day!" Mr. Robinson explained that, counting 10 hours a day, it would take just 120 years. Fast girl, Barbara!

Maggie Price called Valentine and asked if there was to be a ball game. Val replied, "Yes, we have a game with the Rocky Mount Y. M. C. A." To this Maggie cried, "Oh, is it a double-header?" Val told her it was not but said that if she wanted a girls' game he would try the Y. W. C. A.
