

PJC Scotties Edge Chowan Braves

In the first contest of a two game series, the Chowan Braves were edged out by the Scotties of P. J. C., 78-75.

Chowan scored first on a set shot by Dan Griffin, but the Scotties were quick to even the score. The scoring for both teams during this quarter was slow, as both teams were trying to spot the other's weaknesses. P. J. C. had the edge by four points as the quarter ended.

The Scotties opened up a sizeable lead as the period got under way. As time rolled on, their offense buckled down to the task before them. Glover and Griffin scoured the Presbyterian team as they constantly sank their long set shot. The Braves main source of trouble was a forward named Jolly, who was hard to beat both on offense and defense. The score was tied, 33 all at the half.

Chowan again looked sharp as third quarter play got started. The game was still close, however, as neither team was able to get a sizeable lead. The Braves led by a small 3 point margin at the end of the period.

After the last quarter got under way, the lead changed hands several times. The superior rebounding skills of reserve center, Phil Collins, finally put Chowan ahead. Collins' all-rounded ability continued to spark his teammates as the game progressed. With about three minutes left, the Scotties took over the lead, and thanks to a well maneuvered freeze, held on to it until the end of the game.

Collins, Griffin and Jones each contributed 15 points to the Braves cause, while Glover and Yates had 14 and 11 points apiece, with McDonald and Simmons scoring 18 and 10 points respectively.

Campbell Sinks Chowan 75-68

The Campbell Camels defeated the Chowan Braves for a second time this year in a close game played on the home court of Chowan. The Braves' next home games will be with Louisburg on Feb. 5, and Wingate on Feb. 9. These are Chowan's last games before the start of the Junior College Tournament in Wilmington on Feb. 14.

At the start of the game, Coach Ike Davis switched positions on Byrd and Jones, putting Byrd at forward and Jones at center. This arrangement worked quite satisfactorily and Chowan led by 8 points at the end of the quarter.

The second period brought little change in either team. The Camels began to fight back, mainly through the efforts of James Perry. The Braves', trying to hold on to the lead, broke up many of the Camels' plays with their alert defensive playing. Chowan's lead, however, was cut to four points at the half.

As the third quarter got under way, Campbell surged forward and tied the score. The lead changed hands several times as both teams tried unsuccessfully to pull ahead of the other. The scoreboard read 53 all at the end of the period.

The Camels took the lead early in the last quarter on a series of jumpshots by James Perry. With almost six minutes left in the game, Campbell, leading by 4 points, started freezing the ball. This well-manuevered freeze prevented the Braves from scoring very effectively. Finally, time ran out with Campbell winning by seven points.

James Perry led the victors with 27 points while McCranie lit for 13.

Jones, Yates, and Griffin were the big guns for Chowan with 19, 17 and 11 points respectively.

PERSISTENT THIEF

A thief broke into salesman Harry Freeman's car and removed about $500 worth of kitchen utensils and other merchandise. Freeman, 62, went to a police station to report the loss. When he returned to the car, he found another $140 worth of merchandise had been taken.

'A Hint to the Wise is Sufficient'

By LOIS CADLE

Say, didn't you know that the Chowan College library takes magazines other than Life, the Saturday Evening Post, Holiday and Popular Mechanics? Well, it does! As a matter of fact it carries subscriptions to seventy magazines, not including religious publications. Y. W. A.'s do you know that your window is in the Library?

Here are a few of the interesting articles. Popular Science is a good publication. (How about returning the file of this book if you are the one who borrowed?) I know Mr. Williams would be astounded but pleased if one of his U. S. History students would read the article "How Lincoln Modernized the Science of War". Furthermore, students of U. S. History might find the articles in Christianity Today entitled "God and the Continental Congress" most applicable to the study of the Constitution.

One hears much about the effects of the atomic bomb these days. Mr. Johnson might like a report on the articles "Will Bomb Dust Endanger Your Health?" In Popular Science. Scientific American this month has many articles of interest to students of science.

Is anyone in your family (or maybe you) considering the purchase of a new automobile? Consumers Guide tells you how unsafe the new models are, how much more gas they use, and how the smaller tires will wear out more quickly than the conventional ones. The reader will note, however that more encouraging reports are found in Popular Science and Popular Mechanics.

Business students may be surprised to know that a typewriter can be cleaned by ducking it into a kitchen sink. Such is what a report in Popular Science says.

The Atlantic has an absorbing article on "What Russian Students Think", and Fortune has two illuminating articles: "How Good is Soviet Science?" and "Russia: the Power and the People".

Be sure to read "The Secrets of Jamestown" in the Saturday Evening Post (Feb. 9) because Mr. Williams is working on a plan for the entire student body to attend this big celebration in April.

"A hint to the wise is sufficient"; therefore, I suggest that you read or at least look through all the magazines and use them in your classes. You will find new facts for each of your classes. Then you can watch your grades improve.

Way Of Life

By LYNN GRICE

It is a pleasure for me to have this opportunity and means of welcoming you to Chowan and the "Chowan way of life." Our way of life embodies many things—athletics, student government, music, and many other student activities. Each has its own place on the campus, each is vital and important to those it affects. However, probably the most responsible and most influential work is that connected with student government.

Student government is divided into three branches—judicial, legislative, and executive. In each of these three branches there are openings for all students. Each elects its own officers, and anyone, regardless of class, may seek office in the student legislature. In addition to these elected positions, there are numerous committees, commissions, and activities functioning all the time, and there are always openings in these groups for interested persons.

I cannot point out clearly enough the fact that all student government doors are wide open to anyone. All you must do is make your interest and desires known.

THIS IS A JOKE?

Olive Y. bought a cigar, and then left. Five minutes later he dashed back to the store. "That cigar," he shouted, "is simply awful."

"It's all very well for you to complain," said the storekeeper. "You've got only one. I've got hundreds of the darn things."

Chowan Honors Students of Month

This month the spotlight falls on Jean Long and Charlie Whitley of the Freshman class; Betsy Cadle and Lynn Grice of the Sophomore class.

Jean, a popular co-ed from Hertford, is a music major whose hobbies are mainly playing the piano and singing. She enjoys her church work and is a member of the women's Judiciary, the Glee Club and the Dramatics Club. Everybody is Jean's friend but one that is at the top of her list is a guy named Mickey.

Charlie Whitley is a freshman who hails from Murfreesboro. After finishing Chowan, he plans to transfer to Carolina. He is studious, friendly, and is seen around campus, mainly in class or in the student center. Charlie is a member of the Chowanian Staff and a day student, representative for the Men's student Council. Although he doesn't care for the men "Presley Caze" or the bop, he does enjoy round dancing and just "goofing off".

Betsy Cadle, a Sophomore from Murfreesboro, is planning to transfer to Meredith College after leaving Chowan. Betsy is editor of the Chowanian and an alto in the Glee Club. She loves music, dancing and has a definite interest in the Air Force. Her peevishness is getting up early and being teased.

Lynn Grice, from Wake Forest, is a major in Business Administration and plans to further his education at either Atlantic Christian College or Wake Forest. Lynn is the president of the Student Government, a member of Glee Club and in various other activities. He likes music, girls, food, girls, Olive, girls, and is not too hep on getting up in the morning or going to bed early. He is noted for his magnetic personality and his "unique" quietness! He is a top-notch abundavita salesman, so beware! By the way, the "girls" Lynn likes, when actually narrowed down, equals Jo Allen.

Commencement Exercises—1875

In 1875 it seems that a boat, the "Bertie," sailed from Windsor—destination Chowan Baptist Female Institute. Among the passengers were those who were coming to see their loved ones graduate from the college. After a day or so of sailing on the Albermarle Sound and the Chowan River, the number of passengers having increased at every landing, the good ship "Bertie" reached her destination. On this day July 6, 1875, hour 3:30 P.M. the travelers had reached their destination.

At 8 P.M. on the same day the annual sermon was delivered in the College Chapel by a Portsmouth minister.

On the 7th, the day of Commencement arrived. The crowd of parents, relatives and friends, having been entertained at a place known as the Spencer house, waited with great anticipation in the chapel which was decorated with paintings and

Chowan Coeds Appreciate Sir Walter

Coeds at Chowan still appreciate the Sir Walter Raleigh type of chivalry. "In fact one of the first things a girl notices about a boy is his manners", they say.

When asked her opinion of the status of male chivalry and campus Joe Allen said, "It's generally good, but could be improved".

Another coed, Betsy Cadle, quickly replied, "Chivalry? It's dead."

Chivalry around here includes a broad meaning. One coed defined it as an attitude that a boy has toward a girl, chiefly one of consideration and respect for her as a girl.

"A boy can make a girl more aware of his masculinity and her femininity by opening doors for her, helping her across streets, carrying her books and acting as a matured student.

However, the modern girl is apt to do things herself in a subconscious effort to gain masculine equality, thus losing the effect of her feminine charm. Often she will criticize a boy for lack of manners when she herself is to blame.

But, even though our modern coed is torn between the desire for masculine equality and the desire to be the weaker sex, the latter has proved to be the stronger of the two.

Betty Liverman said, "The most effective way for a boy to impress a girl is through his manners, particularly on the first date.

Musical Sounds Coming From Memorial Hall

From Memorial Hall come various sounds. Lately radios and record players, which are always turned up to the utmost fidelity, blare forth with the latest hits in both the popular and rock 'n roll fields. If a list of the most popular songs were made, it would look somewhat like this:

1. "LOVE IS STRANGE" To prove its popularity it was heard briefly during the recent concert held on campus.

2. "TROUBLES TROUBLES" The grunts and groans heard around test time.

3. IF the test grades were written there we would have no need for the number 2 song.

4. "BANANA BOAT SONG" When semester grades came out we were all looking for one on which to hide.

5. "LOOK HOMEWARD ANGEL" Though we are not always considered angels, we all looked homeward Saturday around lunch time, hoping that our grades did not beat us there.

We hope that these songs which float ever so sweetly and softly, from the many radios and record players will give you, the reader, we here in Memorial Hall, appreciate. Whenever any new recordings come out, lend us an ear, as they will be heard on the campus of Chowan College.

Cabin Fire

A fire broke out in the furnace room of cabin 531. It was quickly extinguished however, and the damage to the building was confined to the boiler room. The boy's clothing and possessions were damaged by smoke and water.

The cabin has been repaired and repainted inside.
