Men's Council Members Elected For Academic Year 1959-60

The Men's Council members for the 1959-60 academic year have been elected. Representatives were chosen from the "Columns" building, the F. O. Mixon dormitory, the old president's home, the cabins and one member was elected to represent the commuting students.

The Council, consisting of eight members, and is a division of the Student Government. The members are encouraged to assume the responsibilities of improving conduct in the dormitories, student center, cafeteria, and in other areas of vital interest to students.

The members are "Bunk" Roberson, president of the Council, from Washington, N. C.; Charles Barham, president of the Student Government, Raleigh; Hal Byrum, president of sophomore class, Ahoskie; Henry Kitchens, Zebulon; Bill McCants, Wyoming, Del.; John Hamilton, Pittsfield, Maine; Walter Story, Franklin, Va.; Benny Harrison, Plymouth.

The Staff Thanks Thomas W. Thomas

Besides the technical skill necessary to produce a good picture, it requires much time to take the pictures, develop negatives, then make prints.

Thomas William Thomas, majoring in pre-engineering, is responsible for most of the pictures used in this issue of The Chowanian. He is also staff photographer for The Chowanoka, college annual.

Thomas is carrying a heavy load of studies, keeping up with them, and finding time to work on his great hobby-photography in the photo-lab of the School of Graphic Arts.

The Chowanian staff wishes to give recognition to Thomas for his fine work. He is a worthy student.

Night Has Turned With Purchase Of Lights on Campus

By Wanda Woodley

Chowan College has purchased as most of you know by now, quite a few new campus lights. Although they were put up for a good cause and with good intentions some of the students have fully criticized the facts.

The purpose of the new lights is to provide light for those who go to the library at night, meetings and various other activities on campus after dark. You must admit, however, that the distance between the girls' dormitory and the Big House is quite dark and for "scarey ones" and for safety's sake to the girls, lights have solved the problem. Also at night, you can get a night view of the whole campus with the aid of our new lights.

We also feel that if the new campus lights were turned off during the day, the economy would be cut quite a bit.

Come on students lets show our faculty and staff we can appreciate new things on Chowan's Campus.

In Who's Who

We note with pride that our Dean, J. Irving Brooks, is listed in the latest edition of Who's Who in the South and Southwest.

The A. N. Marquis publication is considered the authoritative work of its kind and lists the achievements of men and women in southern and southwestern states who have risen to places of prominence in their various professions and occupations.

Congratulations, Dean Brooks!

Special Admission

Myers Theatre, which is located in Rich Square, has announced a special admission price for the students of Chowan College. The new price is $.35. We would like to thank the management for their courtesy in letting the students in at this reduced price.

College Development Program Continued Into The Third Year

The third year of the Chowan College campaign for physical development was begun the first of September under most favorable conditions.

The second year—July 1, 1958—June 30, 1959—almost equalled the first year in the amount of cash received, which is very unusual according to the auditor of the college. The amount raised in cash the first year, ending June 30, 1958, was $132,467 and last year $127,550. Since July 1, the beginning of the third year, more than $123,316 has been paid, which is most encouraging for this season of the year, according to the Rev. Oscar Creech, director of development.

The amount paid in cash and in pledges for the campaign has gone from $460,000 at the end of the first year, June 30, 1958, to $550,000 at present.

At the beginning of this fiscal year, July 1, less than 5,000.00 was past due on the pledges and some of that has now been paid.

As results of the development program the girls' dormitory is now being used for the second year and is completely filled, with a few girls on the waiting list for vacancies that may occur; and the beautiful cafeteria is now completed. These are direct results of the campaign.

Mr. Creech said the college now needs to raise another $100,000 this fall and winter in order to proceed rapidly with another dormitory for boys. The plans are being pushed for a dormitory to house 116 boys and then put girls back in the Columns Building. This dormitory for boys will enable the college to house on the campus 170 girls and 285 boys, a total of 460. This should give us a student body next year of at least 560 students.

An encouraging fact is that many people who have paid their pledges in full are continuing to make cash payments to the development program and many people who have not yet made pledges are making cash payments each year.

Quite a number of new contributors are joining the ranks of givers each year to take the places of some who are forced to drop out.

It is entirely possible that the alumni and friends of Chowan College can give as much this year, July 1, 1959-June 30, 1960, as was given last year, $127,550. This would be an exceptional record for the third year of the campaign.

Along with the cash gifts to the college, it is definitely known that a number of people are remembering Chowan College in their wills. This number is increasing each year. Dr. Gilbert Stephenson is giving his time to promote this method of helping Chowan.

AP SERVICE IN SCHOOL — Two Associated Press printers have been installed in the School of Graphic Arts to be used in pre-journalism and printing classes. Watching the news as it comes in on the printers are Raymond James, Raleigh, co-editor of The Chowanian, college newspaper; Evelyn Pope and Mary Lucy Hasty, teletypesetter students from Jackson; and Wayne Alford, of Zebulon, also co-editor of The Chowanian.

Two Associated Press Receivers Installed in Graphic Arts Dept.

Two Associated Press receiving printers were installed in the School of Graphic Arts in September.

State, national, and worldwide news is received simultaneously as it is teletyped in the offices of the Associated Press in Charlotte and Norfolk, Va.

The Associated Press is a non-profit world-wide news gathering organization with offices throughout the world and is owned by the newspaper publishers who are members.

It is interesting to watch the automatic typewriter-like machines as they print news being relayed from many daily newspapers in our area. Sometimes the news is sent out almost immediately after the happenings concerned occur.

The AP service will be used by The School of Graphic Arts to train students in pre-journalism, as well as teaching linotype and teletypesetter operators to edit and set wire service news copy.

It is now planned that a small daily limited campus distribution will be started by November.

The printers are owned by the Associated Press but the wire service cost is being paid for by the students in the School of Graphic Arts.

Visitors are welcome to visit the school and see the many new features that have been added to the printing school.
