Matching Gift Program Adds Financial Help

Recent information from a number of foundations and large corporations has pointed out that matching gifts programs whereby these companies and foundations match the gifts of employees to educational institutions is proving to be an important source of financial strength for the growth and development of private institutions in particular.

The Alumni Office at Chowan College has pointed out that Chowan graduates should investigate in individual cases where their company, in the event they are employed by such, provides matching gifts. In many cases the corporations or foundations will match the gifts of alumni dollar for dollar.

A good example is the corporate alumnus program of the General Electric Foundation which is ending its tenth year of operation. This was activated on January 1, 1955 and, since that time, employees and directors of the General Electric Company have reported contributions totaling $3,631,403 and $2,582,469 of that amount has been matched by the Foundation. This means that $6,213,872 has gone to the support of higher education.

Programs Adopted

Approximately 250 similar programs have been adopted by other foundations and business organizations, and the Council for Financial Aid to Education last year credited this concept with generating over $20,000,000 in new money for the colleges. This has served as an incentive for alumni giving and, in the case of the General Electric Company, employee gifts to colleges averaged about $18.00 in 1954. This increased to an average of $38.21 for participants in the program in 1955 and, the most recent figures, $46.62 average in 1963. It is estimated that approximately 63,000, employees and Directors of the General Electric Company are eligible to have their gifts matched. Attendance for one year is required and the maximum eligible gift for matching is $2,000 annually.

Contact Alumni Office

Alumni who may be interested in this type program, particularly in case the person works for a company which has a similar program, should investigate these possibilities and, if need be, contact the Alumni Office at Chowan College for additional information.

CONGRATULATIONS—Outgoing Chairman of the Board of Trustees, H. D. White, Rocky Mount, congratulates his successor, The Reverend Felix Arnold, Enfield, who was elected at the recent meeting of The Board of Trustees. Mr. Arnold has held this position previously.

Classes for Sale

(ACP)—If some college courses were judged on a monetary basis—$21 for three credit hours—the University of Oklahoma would be forced to set up a bargain table at the end of enrollment, says the OKLAHOMA DAILY.

Take for example, a class in which the professor consistently arrives 10 or 15 minutes late. Since he makes a habit of tardiness and teaches only a part of the class period, shouldn't that class sell for about $17.35. Or, on the other hand, the class where the teacher runs out of material 15 or 20 minutes before the hour and usually lets his class out early should be quite a bargain at $12.60.

A class where a professor never really is prepared or where he uses outdated, yellowed notes should go for about 25 per cent discount, or perhaps $16.75. A class taught by a teacher whose tests haven't been changed since he got his doctorate and are in wide circulation probably should go at about half price.

An unchallenging teacher could be rated on a sliding scale from about $8.50 to $15, taking into consideration the amount of class discussion, completeness of material, size of class and number of times jokes are repeated per semester. A professor who uses his class as a personal soap box for political, religious or social harangues could sell for about two for $5.

If a course combined several of these sales points, say a tardy professor with 10-year-old jokes, it could sell for about $8.98.

Sir, are you an $11.98 professor?
