Drs. Scales, Bowen to Address Graduates

Two outstanding churchmen-educators, the president of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina and the president of one of the world's most highly respected church-related universities, will be featured speakers at Chowan College on Sunday, May 12, during graduation ceremonies for the class of 1968.

A former newspaper reporter and veteran of Navy duty in World War II who is now president of Wake Forest University, Dr. James Ralph Scales, will deliver the commencement address on May 12, during graduation exercises at 3 o'clock that afternoon climaxing Chowan College's 120th year.

Formerly president of Oklahoma Baptist University, he served there as executive vice-president, vice-president and professor of government and history. Dr. Scales also served as dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and professor of political science at Oklahoma State University.

Active in many positions of leadership responsibility on the state, national and international level, Dr. Scales served on the President's Committee on Education Beyond the High School and was an American observer of the 1964 British elections.

His father was a pioneer Baptist minister and attorney in Oklahoma and Dr. Scales is married to an educator of note in international relations, the former Elizabeth Ann Randel, and they have two daughters.

Dr. Scales is a graduate (magna cum laude) of Oklahoma Baptist University and earned Master's and Ph. D. degrees from the University of Oklahoma. He has also completed further graduate studies at the University of Chicago and the University of London.

There are 185 candidates for graduation this year at Chowan.

They will hear the president of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, Dr. Claud B. Bowen, when he delivers the baccalaureate sermon during services at 11 o'clock that morning.

He is pastor of Greensboro's First Baptist Church, serving as minister to more people than any other Baptist pastor in North Carolina, and has served in this important leadership position for 20 years.

Dr. Bowen's previous pastorates include serving the First Baptist Church, Opelika, Ala.; Calvary Baptist Church, Jackson, Miss.; churches in Kentucky. He has also travelled extensively throughout Europe and the Holy Land; participated in preaching missions sponsored by the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention in Ghana and Nigeria, West Africa; furnished leadership for the Baptist World Alliance in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and furnished leadership for other occasions throughout Europe and the Holy Land.

He has also served as president of Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary's trustees and as a trustee of numerous other Baptist institutions, including Campbell College and the North Carolina Baptist Hospital.

A native of Mississippi, he is a graduate of Southwestern College and received Th.M. and Ph.D. degrees from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. His bolstering the cause of Christian higher education is easily seen from the fact that he and his wife have a son serving in a leadership position with the Training Union Department of the Baptist State Convention, another son studying at Southeastern Seminary and a daughter who is a junior at Wake Forest University.

His many leadership services include serving as chaplain to Greensboro's Fire Department.

Delivering the invocation for the baccalaureate service will be Dr. R. Hargus Taylor, Chaplain to the College; scripture and prayer will be delivered by Dr. B. Franklin Lowe, professor in the college's Department of Religion; the benediction will be by Dr. Calvin Dickinson, Chairman of the Department of Social Science.

Dean A. Paul Thompson, Dean of Student Affairs, will deliver the invocation during afternoon graduation exercises.

President Bruce E. Whitaker will introduce the speaker for each occasion.
