SATURDAY MORNING, SEPT. 7.

SOUND ADVICE.
 The Wilmington Messenger is a thoroughly North Carolinian, not perhaps, than many others of the State papers, but we read in its issue an admirable article from the pen of brother Kingsley showing why our people should read by their home papers. It thanks him for writing an article which precludes our copying his article. Here is one of the things that the paper cares the least about anything that is the history of North Carolina. They are not to publish any article on the South and North Carolina. The big papers, but they are not Southern in sympathy. They are Northern. They look at the South through stained glasses through which they never see our people. You again, people of State papers. They are our sentinels and they are our proper defenders."

Today the advantages of compressed cotton are becoming more thoroughly known. In the Goldboro and this piece of information is valuable, and should be made known to our people to greater exertion in running cotton mills:

Philadelphia Times has the courage to state that "the compressed cotton by compression is enough to compel the transfer of cotton manufacturing to the Gulf States." No man ever buy cotton goods made of compressed cotton if he ever heard that made from cotton taken from the fields and ginned and manufactured without the intervention of hydraulic compression. Northern newspapers will not tell the world of this fact because it would give Southern cotton goods precedence in all the world's markets of at least two cents a yard. In truth a cotton shirt, made of uncompressed cotton, is worth two made of the same cotton that has remained six months in compressed bales. We are telling what experience has taught, and what will bear the most rigid test."

The question of the extension of the Lynchburg & Durham railroad from Durham to Fayetteville is now being agitated, and it meets with popular favor on the part of our people. Fayetteville, and Wilmington, too, should become deeply interested in this extension. If they will consider the route they will see that it will run through a good section of the country, and will make an air line from Fayetteville north through the central portion of North Carolina. It is a feasible scheme—a good scheme.

It is the intention of the management of the L. & D. to extend their road to some point east or south of Durham. What will Fayetteville, Wilmington and the Cape Fear section do about it?

Col. Young's Opinion.
 In the Charlotte News we find this bit of news concerning the situation in this State:

Col. R. E. Young, one of the best known Republicans of the Tar Heel State, is in Washington City. He says that the Republicans of the South are not boiling over with enthusiasm for Mr. Harrison. The Republicans of North Carolina, he reports, are disorganized, and outside influences have controlled nearly all the appointments. "It's my opinion," said he, "that North Carolina will fail to return a Republican Congressman next time because of the treatment received from the Administration."

Sensation at Reidsville.
 Winston Sentinel.]
 From private sources we learn of a sensational affair at Reidsville. It appears that about a year ago Miss Cora May Seales was married, much against her wishes, to a Mr. Morris. She has never lived with him as a wife. Some days ago she persuaded him to insure his life for $10,000, and to make his will in her favor. He did so, and a day or two later was found dead in bed. Death came about from the effects of chloroform. Whether he accidentally took an overdose or whether she administered it for the purpose of killing him remains yet to be decided.

Later particulars.]
 A post mortem examination of the body of Mr. Morris, the Reidsville merchant who died suddenly two or three weeks, and about whose ment of the L. & D. to extend their road to some point east or south of Durham. What will Fayetteville, Wilmington and the Cape Fear section do about it?

 A post mortem examination of the body of Mr. Morris, the Reidsville merchant who died suddenly two or three weeks, and about whose was held last week, and the Greensboro Workman says it showed that he had not died from a disease of the heart as was stated. The examination strengthens the suspicion that there has been foul play. The stomach was sent to the State chemist to be analyzed.

Durham's Jewels.
 From Wilson Mirror.]
 The Durham Daily Globe, under the judicious and admirable management of the talented, energetic and progressive E. A. Oldham, has taken its place in the very front rank of daily journalism, and in its magnificent field of brilliant usefulness, is already doing a grand work for the upbuilding of Durham, and material development of that whole section. With the able tri-weekly Recorder and the bright and sparkling SUN which glistens with the radiance of dew-drops under auroral showers, Durham can indeed point to her newspapers and proudly exclaim "These are my jewels and behold how they glisten in richest lustre!"

Another View of the Matter.
 Henderson Tomahawk.]
 THE DURHAM SUN comments on the Wilmington Star's notice of the leaving young North Carolinians for the West, deploring the fact. We all deplore it, but will continue till the cause is removed. Who are the young men leaving North Carolina, and why do they leave? Are they not men of energy, push and too much self respect to stay here and be starved and humiliated by competition with colored and convict labor? Would they not stay but for this cause?

Useful if True.
 Scientific American.]
 Some one has made the discovery, or rather makes the assertion, that a fly always walks upward. Put a fly on a window, and up he goes toward the top; he can't be made to walk downward. So an inventor has made a screen divided in half. The upper part laps over the lower, with an inch space between. Well, as soon as a fly lights on the screen, he proceeds to travel upward, and thus walks straight out doors. By this means a room can be quickly cleared of flies.

THE ART AMATEUR for September is one of the most attractive numbers we have seen of this thoroughly practical art magazine. Theodore Child has a critical review of of Decorative Art at the Paris Exposition; and "Montezuma," in his "Note Book," gives some curious facts about the "Angelas," and other pictures. The colored plates are, as usual, excellent. "The Days' Work Done," one of these, is a sunny summer landscape, by Veyrasat, showing hayricks, horses and wagon, and haymakers resting. There is a marsh-mallow design for an escel scarf for painting and embroidery; Professor Knauff continues his profusely illustrated Pen Drawing for Photo-Engraving; the Orchid plate series; the "Crescent" salad plates; the practical articles on Flower Painting, Tapestry Painting, Illumination, Amateur Photography, are all continued, and there are lessons in Fret-sawing and Stamped Leather work, and "The Art of Making Smoke Pictures."
