Hushy-bye, baby, no more grunting; your father's gone, navy blue hunting—it's all gone, but he'll get netting blue, that will keep off flies and give air, too.

SENATOR VANCE'S BODY.

His Wife and Son at Odds Over Its Last Resting Place.

An Asheville, N. C., special says: The widow of Senator Zebulon B. Vance came to Asheville Wednesday and had the body of the Senator moved from the Vance family plot in the cemetery, where it was originally buried, to a plot she had bought the day the Senator was buried. Charles N. Vance, son of the Senator and his Private Secretary during life, arrived in Asheville Saturday and had the body again disinterred and reburied in the family plot. Young Vance declares that it was his father's dying request that his body should be buried in this plot, which the Senator had bought and beautified during his life, and that his first wife's body (young Vance's mother) should be placed beside him. Mr. Vance says he is determined that his father's wishes shall be obeyed if the law has to be evoked in order to carry them out. The plot of ground to which Mrs. Vance had the Senator's body removed is the hill top, the most beautiful and commanding spot in the cemetery, and her object in placing the Senator's body there was the fitness of the site for the erection of a great monument to the Senator's memory by the people of the State. Mrs. Vance is a Catholic and when it was found that the Senator was dying a priest was about to perform the last sacrament, when Charles N. Vance interfered. Senator Vance was a Protestant, and, it is said, had requested that none of the rites of the Catholic church be allowed over him. Young Vance said he would permit his father's body to be removed to the plot secured by Mrs. Vance provided his first wife's body be placed beside the Senator's, but this Mrs. Vance declined to agree to. It is not known what steps Mrs. Vance will take when she learns what has been done.

CHEWED BY A LION.

A Thrilling Scene at Coney Island Monday Night.

CONY ISLAND, N. Y., June 11.—Mlle. Beatrice, a lion tamer at the London zoo, which is giving a wild animal show on the old iron pier at West Brighton, had a narrow escape from being mangled to death last night by a lion. It was just 10 o'clock and the enclosure on the pier where the animals are on exhibition was crowded with people. The last performance of the day was being given and Beatrice appeared in the hall, climbed up the ladder leading to the wild lion's cage, and entered. There are two big Asiatic lions in the cage, a male and female. Della is the female's name and Brutus the male's. The latter is a great pet of the lion tamer and she plays with him for fifteen minutes at every performance.

Her act with the wild beast is closed by opening his mouth and kissing him. She always succeeded in kissing the brute until today. While she was making her bold attempt to smack the lips of Brutus today the man who feeds the lions made his appearance near the cage with a box of raw beef. Brutus caught sight of the beef and in a moment he unfastened Beatrice's hold upon him and sprang upon her. Both had a lively tussle, which finally resulted in the lion tamer falling to the floor and the lion grabbing the left side of her face in his mouth. The woman and children in the audience screamed and the men rushed around the hall, looking for clubs and sticks with which to beat the lion away from the woman. In a few moments Manager Ferrar and Trainers Bronce and Ord way rushed in with pitchforks.

After plunging the forks several times in the head and body of the lion they managed to make him loosen his hold and got the girl out of the cage. She was unconscious and blood was pouring from her face as she was carried into the office. Dr. Hill was summoned and the woman was put to bed. When the doctor arrived the woman was delirious and insisted that she was to be killed. Upon examination Dr. Hill found that the lion had succeeded in sticking three of his big teeth through the woman's left jaw. Other parts of her face were also chewed. It took some time for the surgeon to stop the flow of blood. Dr. Hill said it was the worst case of animal bite he ever saw. The woman is delirious and Dr. Hill says she is in a precarious condition.

Will Break the Southern Record. Raleigh Press: We learn from Secretary Ayer, that the indications are, that the next State Fair will break the Southern record. A very liberal policy is being pursued, and the premiums are larger than ever before. They are classified so as to insure the payment of expenses of almost any worthy exhibit and richly reward successful exhibitors. The premium list will be out this week and its elegance and completeness will pleasantly surprise the public. Among the noticeable premiums are $100 for the best bale of cotton; an $800 piano for the best exhibit by a female school; $50 for the best exhibit by a lady; $50 for the best exhibit in main hall. The poultry department is especially complete, and this exhibit will be the finest ever known in the South. Applications for premium list may be sent in now.

Nothing strange. Intelligent people, who realize the important part the blood holds in keeping the body in a normal condition, find nothing strange in the number of diseases Hood's Sarsaparilla is able to cure. So many troubles result from impure blood, the best way to treat them is through the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla vitalizes the blood.

HOOD'S PILLS are the best after-dinner pills, assist digestion, prevent constipation.

He had practiced medicine in Rowan county for several years past, but recently he gave up the practice on account of his failing health.

Weekly Weather Crop Bulletin. The reports of correspondents of the Weekly Weather Crop Bulletin, issued by the North Carolina State Weather Service, for the week ending Monday June 11th, 1894, show but slight improvement in crops. The first and last days of the week were warm and favorable, but following the rain of the 6th occurred one very cool day. The rain on Wednesday was general, but quite insufficient in amount, averaging less than half an inch. The weather is now very dry and rain is much needed. The conditions were very good for farm work and harvesting. The next week is likely to be very warm, with showers during the latter part.
