WOMAN WEDS WOMAN.

A Curious Case of Lota Sawyer From Camden.

Press dispatches were sent out from Baltimore Wednesday night stating that Herman G. Wood, who for six years had lived at that place, was on June 17th married to Mrs. Rausch, of that city. She has since reported to the police that Wood is a woman and Wood is now in jail. A special from Elizabeth City-gives further particulars of this queer case, and says: Lota A. Sawyer, the young woman who in the disguise of a man, married another woman in Baltimore, is the daughter of the late Edward Sawyer, who was a prominent and wealthy farmer in Camden county, about five miles north of this place. He died in 1880, leaving a wife and four children, three of whom were daughters. The family was highly respected and were among the first families in Camden county. In 1885 the widow with her four children moved to Norfolk, Va., where they resided for three or four years. But they afterwards returned and took up their home again in Camden county. Mrs. Sawyer, soon after her return from Norfolk, married John C. Whitehurst, who died in 1892.

The girl Lota was of a very wild temperament and made things generally warm around the household. When disgrace had fallen upon her she quietly left the house one night, when her child was only a week old and walked to Norfolk, where she donned a man's apparel. In this disguise she went to Baltimore, where she has since resided.

She has visited Norfolk on several occasions, but always in the guise of a man. Her child is still living and in the care of her mother, Mrs. Whitehurst. The wayward girl has never visited her home since the night she took her leave, but the mother has received several letters from her during the years she has been away. It is understood that her letters were not of a very pleasant character. Notwithstanding the griefed and heart-broken mother has made every effort to reclaim the lost child, no success has met her effort in this direction.

GIRL AND COACHMAN.

A Familiar Romance Repeated in New York.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., June 26 — Josephine Gardner, a white girl 19 years old, and James Cooper, a negro coachman of the same age, who had been in the employ of the girl's father, a wealthy contractor of Auburn, were arrested in this city today on complaint of the Gardner girl's mother, who told the police that her daughter had eloped with the negro coachman with whom she had become infatuated.

The couple were arrested at 114 Perry street where they had procured board and lodging. The girl returned home with her mother this morning and Cooper was detained until tonight, when he was released on his promise to quit the city at once.

Miss Gardner's father is William Gardner, a prominent citizen of Auburn. She is not only handsome, but well educated and accomplished. When she left home Thursday her parents thought she was going to visit a friend in Glens Falls. Instead she met Cooper and fled with him to this city. Knowledge of their elopement came to the parents through a note sent to the girl by Cooper which was picked up by her father. When placed under arrest they did not deny that they had eloped, but told the detective that they intended to be married today.

A Shameful Act.

Raleigh Times: Virginia has a sensation in which a minister, a judge and a cowhide figures. It seems that Judge Campbell had some liquor cases before him and Rev. C. H. Crawford wrote an article criticizing severely the Judge for his decision and really cast aspersions upon his character. The minister was then arrested on the charge of contempt. This action, however, was finally dismissed by the Judge, but the latter followed this up by cowhiding Dr. Crawford. Such conduct on the part of a judge is a scandal and a disgrace to a State. When judges find the law inadequate to protect them, what is to be expected of other people? This judge who swore to uphold the law has now been guilty of a crime that is punishable under the laws of Virginia with a term in the penitentiary. He ought to be prosecuted.

EAST DURHAM NEWS

INTERESTING ITEMS FROM OUR NEIGHBORS.

Movements of People and Things in General, Reported Daily By E. F. Abernethy.

There is soon to be a new town about a mile below East Durham by the name of Jonesburg. Mr. Robt. Jones, of Wake county, who is said to be a hustler, is preparing to build a large store, saw mill, grist mill and a cotton gin, at a point near Mr. Markham's, on the Southern Railway. We are informed that the Southern is already preparing to put in a side-track for him.

Rev. S. S. Boet, of Durham, will preach at the Episcopal chapel in East Durham Sunday night at 8 o'clock. Let as many of our citizens as can come out. Mr. Boet is an able speaker.

Mrs. W. E. Clark, who has been right sick, is able to be out again.

The Durham Cotton Manufacturing Co., is a big thing. The mill employs about 500 operatives. The office force is composed of as courteous a set of gentlemen as can be found. The population of East Durham is composed of cotton mill people—a town of 2,000 inhabitants without a saloon, a policeman or a "lock-up." Where is there another such town on earth? Trot out your towns.

Since the copious rains have fallen gardens are doing their best. Your correspondent is proud of his amateur farm. His next door neighbor, T. J. Kerr, also has a fine garden. We expect to be able to supply the town with roasting ears soon.

Remember that the SUN comes out late in the afternoon. You get the news fresh when you go home to supper. Call at Abernethy's furniture store and subscribe.

Again we call attention to the railroad crossings. They are in such condition that it is both difficult and dangerous to cross them with a vehicle of any description. This state of affairs should not exist in as progressive a town as East Durham, nor anywhere else, as to that matter. Let the railroad men look after their crossings, or there may be an accident that will cost somebody something.

Tomorrow is Saturday. Remember that rent, writers, printers and paper carriers must be paid. Abernethy will be in his furniture store for the purpose of collecting for the SUN as well as for the Model Furniture House. Let all come in and pay what they owe.

Thirty years experience in making photographs enables W. Shelburn to do the most artistic work for the least money. Call at his gallery, next to W. T. Wilkinson's, East Durham, and be convinced.

Mrs. Bridges is still very low. Miss Wood, a professional nurse, is with her.

Ed Avent, formerly of this place, but who now lives in Danville, came in this morning on the early train, and will spend a few days visiting relatives. He came just in time to save his interest in a certain establishment.

W. H. Gurley is on the sick list. It was decided not to take Mr. W. A. Yearby to the hospital till today, after I had already sent my letter to the SUN. His condition was not quite so good this morning, and he was taken to Watts Hospital.

James Lynn, the eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lynn, died yesterday morning about 1 o'clock, of dropsy. The remains were laid to rest in the family burying ground late yesterday afternoon.

For California apricots, cherries, plums and peaches, call on Frank Howard & Co.

Cheapest in the Trade.

Take time looking through our line of clothing, for the longer you look the bigger bargains you'll see. He who hesitates is not always lost, especially when the buying of clothing is concerned. For our part we don't ask you to listen to our stories, but to simply compare our prices with those of other retailers, the comparison will prove that you can save quite a respectable little sum by purchasing your clothing at the A. Max store, and every little helps you know. Of course we could charge you as much for clothing as other merchants do, and get it too, but then we would forfeit our title of being the cheapest house in the trade and this we won't do.
