MRS. ED. JONES DEAD.

Sudden End to Her Illness Suffering Friday Morning.
Raleigh Times: Mrs. Kate Cheatham Jones, aged thirty-three, wife of Mr. E. L. Jones, ended her life with a pistol shot early this morning while completely deranged from the intense suffering accompanying her illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones lived on East Jones street. Mrs. Jones was seemingly perfectly well Wednesday and her husband left her in good spirits yesterday morning when he went to his work as collector for the Seaboard Air Line freight depot here. He went back about two o'clock last afternoon, when he found the door locked. Since no one was living there except himself and wife he supposed that Mrs. Jones had gone over to a neighbors so he did not go in.

Upon returning home last evening for tea he was astonished to find his wife ill and in an unconscious state. He immediately called in neighbors and sent for a physician. At the same time he sent a telegram to Mr. E. J. Cheatham and Miss Sue Cheatham, brother and sister of Mrs. Jones, at Franklinton, summoning them to Raleigh on account of the critical illness of their sister. Both came on the first train, reaching here about 4 a. m. The physician said that Mrs. Jones had suffered a stroke of apoplexy and called again at midnight.

When Miss Cheatham and Mr. Cheatham arrived they relieved Mr. Jones and the neighbors, who had been ministering to the ill all night, and were completely worn out. Mr. Jones went into an adjoining room and lay within easy call while Miss Cheatham remained with her sister. Soon after this, about five o'clock, Mrs. Jones drew the pistol from beneath her husband's pillow and fired the ball through the temple. She lived only ten minutes.

Mrs. Jones was the daughter of the late Capt. Cheatham, of Franklinton. She has been married six years, but had no children. She leaves three brothers, Capt. R. I. Cheatham, who is a Seaboard Air Line freight agent in Atlanta, Mr. J. B. Cheatham, of Atlanta, and Mr. E. J. Cheatham, of Franklinton. Her surviving sisters are Miss Sue Cheatham, of Franklinton, Mrs. A. W. Austin, of Louisburg, and Mrs. G. L. Whitford, of Louisburg.

Mrs. Jones was a devout member of the Methodist church and a lovely christian woman. The deepest sympathy is expressed here for her bereaved loved ones, especially her husband, who is completely crushed by the blow.

But Not With the Line.

He had fished up the stream and down the stream and used flies, paste, worms and every other form of bait that the ingenuity of man could devise, but without result, and as he wended his way homeward at the close of the day his temper was high and his fish basket empty. Still, there was no occasion to publish the latter fact to the whole world, so when he met a friend by the way the following dialogue ensued:
"Been fishing?"
"Yes."
"Had a good day's sport?"
"Yes."
"What did you catch?"
"The 6:30."—Answers.

Peach Stones.

Peach stones will make a quick, hot fire and one that will last. One and a half or two buckets of peach stones will last as long as a bucket of coal. One has to be careful not to fill the stove too full or there will likely be an explosion similar to a gasoline explosion. The proper way to keep the fire going is to put in a shovelful at a time. "Peach stones thrown into a damp cellar," said one who has used them, "are said to have a peculiar effect on a person. After the stones are in a cellar for a time gases arise, and the fumes will go to one's head and give the same effect as if the distilled product of the peach had been imbibed."—Baltimore Sun.

A BAD WRECK.

Freight Train Runs into a Freight Train—Open Switch the Cause.
Greensboro Record: No. 39, one of the fast passenger trains between Washington and Atlanta, passed here on time—5:03—this morning but ran into an open switch and was wrecked about 5:20 at High Point by a head on collision with No. 72, a northbound freight train.

The freight had orders to take the siding and let No. 39 pass at High Point and pulled in on the siding twenty minutes before the meeting time. While the engineer was at the telegraph office getting further orders the front brakeman, a man named Long, came up the track, threw the switch, and stepped off to one side, supposing that the freight would not wait for the fast train. He had no instructions to open the switch, railroad men say, and it is also said that he disappeared when he became aware of the seriousness of his careless act. (It is reported that the brakeman sent a note to the Superintendent, giving the information as to how the accident happened, and closed by saying: "I wish I'd never seen the d— railroad and I'm done with it.")

Engineer A. R. Rowzie, of the passenger train, suffered a broken leg, and Engineer W. H. Sweeney, of the freight, had his ankle broken. He had just resumed his position in the cab when the crash came. Both firemen were badly injured, though no bones were broken. They were all taken to a hospital in Salisbury for treatment. The passengers escaped unhurt except one or two who were bruised and cut about the face. One of these was a Miss Shafer, of Richmond. She received a cut just under the left eye. Mr. C. E. Brower and bride were passengers on No. 39 but were not injured.

The news of the wreck was telegraphed to Greensboro and a special left here at 6 o'clock, carrying Supt. Cozeman, Trainmaster Williams and other railroad men, and two physicians, Drs. Michaux and Scott.

The theatrical company, "When We Were Twenty One," en route from Raleigh to Charlotte, composed part of the crowd on No. 39, but none of them were hurt, though there was a general shaking up.

The wrecking crew was sent for immediately and the track was cleared by 9 o'clock. The two engines were badly damaged and three or four box cars were demolished.

The beer that is now giving entire satisfaction and suiting the taste of all is Hoster's. Call for it. Best on the market. d13-1wk.
