How Do You Spend Your Money?

"Where there's a will, there's a way," is an old and a very true saying, and in nothing does it apply with more force than in the matter of saving money. A wise man said, "Any one can live on a little less than what he lives on." This is one way of saying that everyone can save something. Try it by putting that something in The Bank of Sanford, it will be your best friend.

TEACHERS HOLD CONFERENCE

Organize Lee County Branch of North Carolina Teachers Assembly

A conference for all the Lee county teachers was held on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 27th and 28th, at the West Sanford school building. Practically all the teachers in the county were present.

The first meeting was called at 9:15 Thursday morning. Plans for the coming year were discussed by Superintendent Teague and Miss Gunter. "What to do the first day of school," "the teacher's daily schedule," and reading circle work were the main topics discussed. It is the superintendent's and the supervisor's plan to divide the schools into three or four groups and select one school in each group to be the group center. At this center about every six or seven weeks there will be demonstration teaching for the benefit of all the teachers in that group. The reading circle lesson also will be taught on that day.

Miss Gertrude Little spoke on how the school work and the home demonstration work could go hand in hand. She urged the teachers to do what they could this year toward beautifying the school grounds.

Mrs. Loop, representing the Carolina Banner, asked the teachers to send in any school news to Sanford's new paper.

Thursday afternoon and Friday morning the teachers were allowed to observe the work done in the Sanford schools. Much good was derived from this observation.

Friday afternoon the teachers came together again.

Mrs. Webster, of the North Carolina Insurance Commission, spoke on the work of the safety leagues in the schools.

Mr. D. L. St. Clair, representing The Express, spoke of the great work the teachers of the county were doing and urged them to support his paper and the new paper just starting up.

Dr. Evander McIver, county health officer, explained the quarantine laws to the teachers. His lecture was interesting and helpful.

Mr. J. A. Overton, superintendent of public welfare, spoke on his work. It is Mr. Overton's purpose to rigidly enforce the compulsory school law in the county.

Miss Gunter then told the teachers what she, as supervisor, was to look for when she visited their schools.

The last thing on the program was the organization of the Lee county chapter of the North Carolina Teacher's Assembly. The following teachers joined this organization:

Mr. D. H. Crain, Misses Lynda Byrd, Bettie Register, Imogene Hogg, Katie Patton, Rev. T. E. White, Mrs. Nannie Kelly, Mrs. J. C. Watson, Mrs. L. B. Adams, Miss Kate Shaw, Misses Clara and Clyde Cameron, Mrs. Annie F. Seawell, Mrs. E. B. McIver, J. W. Cameron, Miss Margaret McLeod, M. A. McLeod, Mrs. M. A. McLeod, Miss Mary Thomas, Miss Nannie Gilchrist, Miss Gilchrist, Miss McDuffie, Miss Margaret Shaw, C. E. Teague and Miss Ruth Gunter.

Mr. Teague was elected president and Miss Gunter secretary and treasurer. Mr. J. W. Cameron, Mrs. J. C. Watson and Miss Bettie Register were elected delegates to the assembly which meets in Raleigh Thanksgiving.

The Sanford and Jonesboro teachers will be given opportunity to join later.

The teachers attending the conference were:

Misses Dewey Kelly and Evelyn Harrington, Longstreet school; Mr. D. H. Crain, Misses Lynda Byrd, Bettie Register, Imogene Hogg, Katie Patton, Broadway; Miss Alice Watson, Pleasant Hill; Mrs. L. L. Thomas, Miss Loula Womack, Hickory Level; Rev. T. E. White, Misses Janie Holt and Mary McPherson, Truman; A. G. Sheppard and Mrs. Nannie Kelly, Salem; Misses Thelma McIntosh and Margaret Payne, Jones' Chapel; Misses Delia Poe and Florence Gladden, Underwood; Mesdames J. C. Watson and L. B. Adams, Hunt Springs; Misses Floy Harrington and Mattie Lee Gaster, Big Springs; Mrs. J. A. Cashion, Clinton; Misses Chloe Copeland, Kelly, Misses Lizzie Cole and Gertrude Campbell, Pocket; Misses Kate Shaw, Clara Cameron and Clyde Cameron, Swan Station; Mrs. Annie F. Seawell, Hornet Hill; Miss Mamie Kelly, Pleasant Ridge; Mrs. E. B. McIver and Miss Inez Arnette, Cool Springs; Misses Lizzie Davis and Emma Steele, Rosebud; Miss Margie Booker, Osgood; Mrs. E. A. Harmon, Seawell's Siding; J. W. Cameron and Miss Margaret McLeod, Carhonton; Miss Sula Campbell, Poplar Springs; M. A. McLeod, Mrs. M. A. McLeod and Miss Mary Thomas, Lemon Springs; Misses Malie Mize and Etile Gilchrist, Oakgrove; D. R. Hodge, Misses Marjorie Gunter and Lela Brandon, Cummock; Misses Margaret Shaw and Louise Fore, Colon.

Jordan-Smith

Mr. Ralph Jordan, of this place, and Miss Gladys Smith, of Goldsboro, were married in that city on October 18th. Mr. and Mrs. Jordan are now making their home in Sanford. The bride is an attractive and accomplished young woman, who will find a hearty welcome in Sanford. Mr. Jordan is a young man of high standing and has many friends here and in other parts of the State.

TWO WEEKS TERM OF COURT

Judge Cranmer Finished Criminal Docket Wednesday and Adjourned Court Till Next Monday—Disposition of Cases

Lee Superior Court convened Monday morning at 10 o'clock with Judge Cranmer presiding. Solicitor Walter D. Siler was at his post, ready to look after the State's interests in disposing of the criminal docket. Mr. J. R. Ingram was made foreman of the grand jury.

Very few people, except lawyers, jurors, witnesses and others interested in cases, were in the court room when court opened. After the jurors were sworn in, Judge Cranmer delivered his charge to the grand jury. While the charge was not very long, yet it was to the point and so plain that no member of the grand jury could fail to understand the meaning of Judge Cranmer's well measured words and realize his duty in helping to conduct the business of the court. He discussed fundamentals and said there should be no suggestion as a double-standard in law and society. Among other things he stated that a man is not a good citizen who will buy liquor as he is aiding and abetting in the violation of the prohibition law. Judge Cranmer told the grand jury that it should thoroughly investigate all charges made against people for violating the speed limit, driving cars, carrying concealed weapons, selling cigarettes to minors and trafficking in liquor. He told the jury to inspect the jail and county home and visit the white and colored grade schools and let the heads of these institutions know that they are interested in the great work in which they are engaged. Judge Cranmer had some complimentary things to say about our county home. He said that it was one of the best county homes in the State.

He has often referred to it while holding court in other counties and addressed commissioners that when they have county homes to build to come to Lee and inspect the plans of our county home before building.

The criminal docket was taken up and among the cases tried and other wise disposed of, are the following:

State vs. Gomez Alston, pleads guilty to trespass, sentenced to jail for six months, with leave in Commissioners to hire him out.

State vs. Florence Pridgen and Luther Eolis, pleads guilty to charge of prostitution. Eolis sentenced to two years in jail to be confined in the county home. Florence not sentenced.

State vs. J. D. Vestal, pleads guilty to trespassing on roads. The woman has not been sentenced and some effort is being made to have her placed where she can be properly cared for.

State vs. J. D. Vestal, pleads guilty to transporting liquor; judgment of the court that he be confined in the county jail for Lee county for a term of one year, to be assigned to the roads.

State vs. Bernice Williams, pleads guilty to retailing whiskey; judgment suspended upon payment of costs. Placed under bond in the sum of $200 for his appearance at the March and November terms of this court for two years to show good behavior.

State vs. Raz Smith, jury returns verdict of not guilty of manufacturing liquor, but guilty of aiding and abetting in the manufacture; sentenced to 18 months on roads. Defendant appeals to supreme court.

State vs. Bob Black, pleads guilty to aiding and abetting manufacturing liquor; sentenced to jail for one year, to be worked by Commissioners.

State vs. Bertha Minter, pleads guilty to trespass; judgment that she pay prosecuting witness for goods stolen and pay costs.

These are all the criminal cases finally disposed of, the others being continued for various causes. There will be no more court until Monday, Nov. 7th, at 9:30.

Sandy Creek Association Meets

Quite a successful union meeting of the Sandy Creek Baptist association was held last Saturday and Sunday at May's chapel in Chatham county. Rev. O. A. Keller, of Aberdeen, is moderator, and J. H. Healey, of Sanford, clerk. Besides these gentlemen, Dr. H. W. Williams, of Jonesboro; Rev. W. B. Fountain, of Siler City; Rev. W. B. Waff, of Pittsboro; Rev. L. R. Dixon, of Ore Hill; Rev. J. H. Harris, of Sanford, and Rev. W. A. Waters, of Hatteras, made speeches Saturday of practical church problems.

The outstanding features Sunday were the address of Dr. G. W. Paschal of Wake Forest College, and sermon by Rev. O. B. Mitchell, of Cameron, and Rev. Cad H. Norris, of Holly Springs. There was an unusually fine attendance both days. The next session will be held at Bonlee in January.

Attend Meeting of Daughters

Mrs. J. R. Ingram and Mrs. Curo Galloway attended the annual meeting of the North Carolina division of the Daughters of the Confederacy recently held in Winston-Salem as delegates from the Lee County Chapter organized at this place a few weeks ago. They came home much enthused over what they saw and heard at the meeting. They were especially impressed with the speech made by Mrs. Henry A. London, in submitting her report as chairman of the committee on local Confederate soldiers. She told of the hard fight made before the General Assembly to get the increased pensions and how the ladies finally won out. There were many other things of interest in the proceedings of the meeting.

The organization of the Lee County Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy will be completed as soon as the official papers can be received from headquarters.

LEE WINS PRIZES AT STATE FAIR

List of Women Who Were Recognized by Those Who Awarded the Premiums

It was stated in The Express last week that Lee county won first premium at the State Fair for the best exhibit for advanced work in the Home Demonstration Department. Below will be found a list of the prize winners at the State Fair from this county:

1st, jar of English peas, Miss Nettie Cole, Sanford R. 1, $2.00; 2nd, jar canned okra, Mrs. J. S. Holder, Jonesboro, R. 1, red ribbon; 2nd, canned peaches, Miss Marguerite Martin, Sanford R. 1, red ribbon; 2nd, jar of cucumber pickles, Mrs. C. W. Lawman, Swan Station, $1.00; 2nd, jar onion pickles, Mrs. C. W. Lawman, Swan Station, $1.00; 1st, jar watermelon rind sweet pickles, Mrs. Graham Wright, Broadway, $3.00; 1st, jar of strawberry preserves, Mrs. W. O. Coggin, Sanford R. 1, $3.00; 2nd, jar of watermelon rind preserves, Mrs. C. W. Lawman, Swan Station, $1.00; 2nd, pear preserves, Mrs. Graham Wright, Broadway, red ribbon; 1st on display of four jars of jam, Mrs. W. O. Coggin, Sanford R. 1, $3.00.

In special pickle exhibit prizes were won as follows: 1st, cucumber pickles, Mrs. Graham Wright, Broadway, $3.00; 1st, sliced cucumber pickles, Mrs. Graham Wright, Broadway, $3.00; 1st, onion pickle, Mrs. W. O. Coggin, R. 1, $3.00.

Lee county is in the Central District which won 1st and 2nd on jellies and fruit juices, 1st on pickles and 1st on general exhibit.

This was a splendid showing for Lee county and much of the credit of it is due our very efficient home demonstration agent, Miss Gertrude V. Little. She worked hard to make this one of the best exhibits at the State Fair and she succeeded. Miss Little has proven herself a very valuable asset to Lee county.

This was proven in the four very successful community fairs she helped to plan and hold this fall. She not only knows how to work intelligently herself, but to enlist the co-operation of others in bringing things to pass that are worth while. Her work speaks for itself.

In Honor of Bride-Elect

The home of Mrs. J. E. Britton, on Gulf street, was the center of interest to Sanford's younger social set on Thursday evening when Mrs. T. S. Cross and Mrs. Brian were hostesses at a most delightful shower honoring the bride-elect, Miss Willie May Wooten.

At the door the guests were welcomed by Mesdames Brian and Cross and ushered into the living room, never more attractive in its decorations, suggestive of the Halloween season. Here Miss Floy Jones served delightful punch. Each guest was given a tiny bag of rice, to which was attached a card bearing the lines:

"The weather man predicts a shower, He says 'tis due within an hour; 'Twill give the bride a great surprise, So don't tell her—she'll get wise."

Cards were also distributed and all wrote for the bride a recipe and a wish which were combined into a booklet with artistic covers hand painted by the talented hostesses. In the midst of much gaiety and mirth a Halloween witch appeared very mysteriously before the bride-to-be and asking to see her palm read from it a most interesting future and in a few well chosen words instructed her to follow a white ribbon which she placed in her hand. As Miss Wooten followed the witch she was bountifully showered with rice. The doors leading to the dining room were opened, revealing a scene of unusual loveliness. The color scheme of yellow and white was most effectively carried out and autumn leaves were interspersed with candies which shed a soft light on the room. White tulle, entwined with fern, was draped from the chandelier to the corners of the table, where the old lace centerpiece, over yellow, was partly covered by a mirror, on which was a vase of exquisite chrysanthemums with fern and a miniature bride and groom surrounded by cupids. There was a feast of soul and a flow of wit. The hostesses served a veritable forest of good things, chicken salad, beaten biscuits, pickles, cheese straws, sandwiches and hot coffee.

Then came the real shower. Above the table and opened was a yellow and white parasol, daintily decorated with sprays of flowers. The hostesses advanced to the bride-elect and giving her one of the ribbons hanging from the parasol invited her to pull. As she did this she was fairly rained upon with many lovely and acceptable gifts of china, silver, linen, bride's book, etc.

Almost immediately after the bride had opened her last package the big surprise of the evening came when about twelve young men entered with the prospective groom, Mr. Earl York, and again showered the young couple with many useful kitchen necessities.

Miss Wooten, dressed in rose silk with gold trimmings, was never prettier than on this occasion. She is one of Cameron's most attractive young women, who for the past few years has held a responsible position with the Sanford Real Estate, Loan and Insurance Company of this place.

Mesdames Cross and Brian proved themselves most gracious hostesses and the memory of the pleasant evening will long remain fragrant with those privileged to accept their hospitality.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral of Master William Stanley White on Oct. 10th, were Mr. J. D. Stedman, of Greensboro; Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Moffitt and daughter, Miss Madge Moffitt, and Mr. H. P. Brady, of Ramoth; Mr. and Mrs. G. E. White and family, of Siler City and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. White and family, of Moncure.

JONESBORO NEWS

The people generally are rejoicing over the splendid rain which commenced falling Sunday afternoon. The situation here was fast becoming serious, wells were drying up and the dust becoming almost unbearable along the highway. The great number of tourists passing for the last several weeks have kept up a continual cloud of dust.

Dr. and Mrs. E. M. McIver spent the week-end with Mrs. McIver's people at Pleasant Garden.

C. H. VonCannon, of Athens, Ga., is spending a few days with Mrs. VonCannon, who is visiting her parents here.

Mrs. Erwin Bryan and son, Erwin, Jr., returned to their home in Tampa, Fla., after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Redin Bryan.

Miss Catherine Williams spent the week-end with relatives at Kittrell.

"Miss Cherry Blossom," the play which was given by Lillington talent in the school auditorium last Friday evening, was well rendered and enjoyed by those present. The proceeds were very satisfactory.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Rives, who have been visiting relatives in Chatham county, returned to Jonesboro the first of the week.

Dr. and Mrs. J. K. Hunt spent Sunday in Hamlet with Mrs. Hunt's people.

Rev. J. D. Bundy, presiding elder of the Fayetteville district, spent last Friday night at the home of Mr. W. A. Godfrey, going to Broadway Saturday where he held Quarterly Conference.

Burglars entered the Jonesboro bank Sunday night and were successful in opening the vault, but were unable to get the safe open. They got something like thirty dollars in small change. The tools used were secured by breaking in Mr. Mann's blacksmith shop.

Rally day exercises will be held at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning. There will also be preaching at eleven o'clock by the pastor, Rev. L. A. McLaurin.

The Sheriff and His Deputies Still After "Tom and Gertie" 'Em

A posse of officers composed of Sheriff Rosser, Deputy Sheriff Groce, Police Officer White and Mr. John Darrmyle, of Jonesboro, "went nosing around" in the Buckhorn section last Friday morning and captured a practically new copper still and 75 gallons capacity between two high bluffs on the river bank some little distance above the dam of the Carolina Power and Light plant. The blockader could not have found a better place to conceal his outfit from public view, but in some way these elements of the law were "made wise" as to its location. A "run" had not been made at this place, but the officers poured out 150 gallons of beer that was about in condition to "run." No one was at the still at the time the officers made the raid. It seems that the blockader had been crossing in a boat from the Chatham side of the river to reach the still. This was done to hide his tracks.

The officers loaded the still on a boat and by light in up the river to Avents Ferry where it was placed on a car and brought to the court house and placed in jail.

On Saturday night Deputies Groce and McBryde and several others made a raid on the small island in the Cape Fear river near McKay's Quarter and captured a blockade still—a gasoline drum—of 52 gallons capacity. The still had been in operation that day, but no one was present at the time the officers made the raid. They poured out 150 gallons of beer. As it would have been difficult to have gotten the still off of the island, they shot it full of holes and threw it in the river.

The same officers captured a copper still of 40 gallons capacity on the Jesse Byrd place, near Lemon Springs, on Saturday afternoon. The blockader had been making grape brandy and the still was still smoking. The officers brought in the still, cap and "worm;" the blockader was not to be found.

This makes 54 stills captured by Sheriff Rosser and his deputies since he became sheriff, two more than the goal which he set for the year, one a week. By staying "on the job" the sheriff and his deputies have succeeded in destroying many of the strongholds of the blockaders, bootleggers and blind tigers in this county. While liquor is still made in the county, it is not so plentiful as those who drink it would like to see it.

The road forces in Lee county and this section have been busy since the rain the first of the week dragging the roads and putting them in shape. A force began dragging the court house road the first thing Monday morning. This road is traveled more than any other road in the county and during the long dry spell it got in bad shape, but it was impossible to make any lasting improvement until it rained. Fill up the holes and broken places in the road with dry material and the automobiles and other vehicles would knock it out and leave the road in as bad shape as before. If the Sanford-Jonesboro link of the Capitol Highway is not to be hard-surfaced any time soon it should be improved by a heavy top surface of clay and gravel. The material that has been put on most of this road will not hold up in bad weather.

The Head of the Family

Isn't always the one who sits at the head of the table and carves the Sunday chicken.

Many times it's Mother whose clever headwork makes the family income travel just as twice as far as it otherwise might.

Mother usually sees to it that the Savings Account is "paid" just as regularly as the grocery bill—so that as long as there is a family there'll be Sunday chicken to carve.

An account here ably assists the head of the family.
