

HIGHWAY NO. ONE A GREAT WAY OF TRAVEL

Beginning in Northern Maine This Ribbon of Concrete Runs Down to the Coral Reefs of Florida, Touching Many Places of Historic Interest, and One of the Outstanding Advantages of the Road Is That It Is Marked Throughout Its Entire Length With One Number, U. S. No. 1.

(By L. S. Moody, Secretary, U. S. Highway No. 1 Association.)

The history of the United States has been written partly in blood and partly in the achievements of America's great sons and daughters along the route where U. S. Highway No. 1 stretches, an almost unbroken ribbon of concrete and asphalt, 2,433.5 miles in length, from Fort Kent, Maine, northern tip of the United States, to the coral reefs at Key West, Florida, the southern extremity.

The highway runs from the latitude where it snows early and stays on the ground late to the land of palms and sunshine, where homes are built without chimneys.

Travelers from Hartford, Southbound for their vacation trips, reach this pulsing, busy, artery of travel at either New Haven or New York. From these two junctions the motorist can drive rarely out of sight of service stations or garages and always within easy reach of good hotel facilities, on a paved highway with the exception of a small strip in the northern part of South Carolina, which will be paved within the next few months.

Along the route of U. S. Highway No. 1 are: Boston, "The Cradle of Liberty," and New Haven, hallowed by those who have followed the progress of education in this country, New York, metropolis of the Western World, and Philadelphia, a rapidly growing State, next a little farther on is Philadelphia, where Independence Hall is located, the symbol of the freedom-loving spirit which built this nation. It is one of the many relics of early American struggles found there.

Baltimore, emporium of commerce and industry, is next and is remembered as the place where Francis Scott Key received his inspiration for "The Star Spangled Banner" song of 120,000,000 Americans. Washington, the National Capital, is another famous city along the route, which then glides on down through Virginia, passing the battlefield of the Civil War until Richmond is reached. Between Richmond and Petersburg, Va., are the trenches used in the long siege of Richmond, which was the capital of the Southern Confederacy. Here trench warfare was first undertaken on a large scale.

Every step of the route in Virginia is hallowed by three centuries of struggle for freedom and progress. The roadside is dotted with battlefields and points of historical interest. Into North Carolina, an up and coming State, the automobile rolls over ribbons of broad concrete. Raleigh, the State Capital, is the birthplace of Andrew Johnson, the seventeenth President of the United States. Sanford, Southern Pines and Pinhurst come next, the later one of the important winter resorts of the South. Camden, S. C., is another fine winter playground and is on the route before Columbia, South Carolina's capital, is reached. The State house of Columbia still bears the mark of cannon balls used in Sherman's siege of the city. Aiken, the winter polo capital of the United States, is located on this famous highway, nestled among the pines on high ground, just seventeen miles before crossing the Savannah river, the boundary line between South Carolina and Georgia.

Augusta, famed for fine resort hotels and mild climate is the winter golf center of the country. This city is also rich in Revolutionary history. From Augusta to Jacksonville, Fla., unbroken paving across the famous "Wire Grass" region of Georgia has been laid. Louisville, 50 miles south, has standing in the center of the town the old slave market. Among the progressive towns between Louisville and Waycross are: Swainsboro, Lyons and Baxley. A touch of the New South is seen in Waycross, busy industrial center. Jacksonville, Fla., is then reached and the traveler glides down the famous Florida East Coast on plumed fringed avenues.

One of the outstanding advantages of U. S. Highway No. 1, is the fact that it is marked throughout its entire length with one Number—U. S. No. 1.

EVERLYN BRENT CARRIES LONE FEMINE ROLE IN NEW DRAMA

At the New Temple Theatre Wednesday and Thursday. Does the public prefer masculinity on the screen to the appealing curves of femininity? In the new picture, produced with large featured casts has included only one, or at the most two leading female players.

When George Archibald was selected to cast for Radio Pictures, he chose Evelyn Brent for the lone female player in an otherwise all-star male cast. In the same picture, Regis Toomey who "did his way to fame" in "Alibi" with Raft, Harold, Maurice Black, Robert Emmet O'Connor, William Holden and Eddie Kane are the male featured players, a percentage of six men to one woman.

In another recent picture, produced by RKO, "The Case of Sergeant Grischka," Herbert Brenon, the director, used only one girl, Betty Compson. "Framed" is said to be one of the most gripping dramas brought to the screen since the advent of dialog films. Miss Brent's performance has been lauded as the best in her long screen career.

Mrs. Sarah E. Mann Is Honored on Birthday. A lovely affair replete with sentiment and pleasure was the surprise party with which Mrs. J. S. Kinney, honored her mother, Mrs. Sarah E. Mann, on the occasion of her seventy-third birthday, which occurred most appropriately on the day preceding Mother's Day.

The guests were all either relatives or old friends and neighbors of the honor guest, and their arrival was a delightful surprise for her. The home was beautifully decorated with pink sweet peas and Dorothy Perkins cake weighing fifteen pounds and being in three tiers beautifully frosted and surmounted by seventy-three glowing tapers.

Guests were Mesdames Sarah E. Mann, Kate Rosser, Emma Kinney, Alice Moffitt, W. Blake, Charles Petty, Steele, R. R. Rilev, R. J. Yates, Monroe Moffitt, J. F. Rivers, and F. R. Jarrell and Emma Stevens, of Jonesboro.

REPUBLICANS NOMINATE COUNTY AND LEGISLATIVE TICKET

The Republicans of Lee county met in the City Hall last Saturday afternoon, 2:30 and nominated county and legislative ticket. An organization was effected by electing R. A. Kennedy chairman, and Carlos McLeod, secretary. The meeting was harmonious throughout, candidates being named for all offices by acclamation and legislative ticket. An organization was effected by electing R. A. Kennedy chairman, and Carlos McLeod, secretary.

Candidates for the county offices were selected as follows: For Sheriff, W. A. Bingham; for Clerk of Court, J. J. Adcock; for Register of Deeds, R. H. Campbell; for Coroner, Dr. Hayden Luterlich; for County Commissioners, T. E. Ferrell, H. B. Oiler, C. H. Davis, J. B. Hall, and O. P. Patterson. It was decided that the candidate for Surveyor should be named by the executive committee in time to enter the campaign. This means that the Republican candidates for the county offices will be nominated at the primary which will be held in the county on June 7th.

Colin G. Spencer, of Carthage, who was nominated for Congress a few weeks ago by the Republicans of the Seventh District, was against the present and addressed the convention. All were favorably impressed with Mr. Spencer who made a good talk.

CENSUS GIVES BROADWAY POPULATION OF 347

The census report shows that many of the small towns of the State lost much of their population during the past ten years, but not so with Broadway. The census of 1920 gave it a population of 250. The census which was recently taken gave a population of 347, an increase of 97. This is considered a good record and shows that this little town, located in one of the best farming sections in North Carolina, is on the up-grade and is determined to grow despite good roads and automobiles, a thing that has been the undoing of many small towns in the State. Broadway has a number of stores, a good school, a big lumber plant and one of the best small banks in the State.

These who are leading the movement know that you are ready to back them up in everything that is done for the relief of the tax payers if nothing more.

MR. LAWRENCE STATES HIS PLATFORM

I have decided to run for Commissioner for Lee County subject to the Democratic primary held June 7th. If the voters wish to elect me, I shall do my best for the interest of my County. I do not wish to retard her progress but I make this promise that I shall exert every effort to help run the county as I do my own affairs, viz: live within my income. O'Brien, our State Treasurer has truly said we have been on a "Joy Ride" for 10 years. It is time to stop and take an inventory before some one else will take it for us. My friends know me and will vote for me. My enemies do not know me. If they did they would do as my friends do—vote for me. Dan C. Lawrence

A number of songs were rendered by the club during the dinner hour with Miss Louise Futrell at the piano. This was followed by three instrumental solos by Miss McMillan, music teacher in the Sanford High School, who was a guest of the club. Miss McMillan, who is an artist in her line, charmingly entertained the club with some delightful music.

It was decided to have "Ladies' Night on May 30th. The following paragraph about the next meeting is taken from the letter of Secretary D. B. Teague.

MEETING LEE COUNTY TAX RELIEF ASSOCIATION

As it is a Busy Time With the Farmers: Small Crowd Present—President Teague Read and Explained the Resolutions Adopted at the State Meeting—Adjourned to Meet Again in City Hall in Sanford Saturday Afternoon, May 24th—All Citizens Who Are Interested in Tax Relief Invited to Attend.

At the call of President D. B. Teague the Lee County Tax Relief Association met in court house last Saturday morning at 10 o'clock for the purpose of discussing tax relief on tangible property and any other matter connected with this problem called to order by President Teague in the bar in the court room. Several members of the Association and other citizens of the county present, including a number of candidates for the nomination for county offices. Many were unable to attend due to the fact that this is a very busy time for the farmers and the meeting was not well advertised. The fact that many tax payers did not attend the meeting does not mean that they are not interested in the movement that has been inaugurated to relieve the people of the State by a reduction of burdensome taxes.

A large congregation of people from all walks of life assembled in the Presbyterian Church at 10:30 Wednesday morning to attend the funeral, which was conducted by the pastor, Rev. R. C. Gilmore. Many were here from a distance to pay a last tribute of respect to one who was held in high esteem by them in life. As mark of respect to Mr. Fitts who had so ably and efficiently served the town as mayor for a number of years, many of the places of business were closed during the hour of the funeral. The impressive services included scripture reading and beautiful prayer by the pastor and two songs by the choir. "The Firm a Foundation" and "Asleep in Jesus." The pall bearers were J. P. Ingram, Ed. M. Underwood, O. P. Makepeace, J. E. Brinn, W. A. Crabtree and W. B. Hartman. The choir of the church and the Rotary Club of which Mr. Fitts was a member and past president, attended the funeral in a body and acted as honorary pall bearers. The services were conducted at the church and the graves at the conclusion of the services were in the cemetery where the interment was made.

Mr. Fitts was born at Jonesboro, Warren County, February 18, 1872, and was the son of James and Mary T. Fitts. He was a direct line descendant of Henry Pitts, of Prince George County, Va. who moved to Warren County in 1750. ROMANTIC PAIR IN NEW TALKIE

The audible screen's greatest pair of sweethearts, Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, are again co-starred in "High Society Blues," Fox Movietone musical romance, coming Monday and Tuesday to the New Temple Theatre.

"High Society Blues" Is Adapted From a Short Story by Dana Burnett, which recently appeared in the Saturday Evening Post and details the romances of a wealthy grocer from a small Iowa town, who sells his business to a chain-store corporation for several million and then tries to crash the exclusive social set of Westchester County, New York.

Miss Gaynor is the daughter of the socially prominent and wealthy family which controls the chain-store system, while Farrell is the son of the Iowa grocer, addicted to the ukelele. The Iowa boy, by an estate right across the road from Janet's family and try to be neighborly, but Janet's mother, who has arranged an engagement between her daughter and a foreign Count, snubs the outsiders.

How the Iowa grocer, with his dander aroused by an insult to one of his wife's pies, finally brings "high hatted" society to its knees while meantime an absorbing romance blossoms between Janet and Charles, makes one of the most interesting productions of this type yet turned out for the audible screen.

THE YOUNG STARS ARE SURROUNDED BY A CAST OF UNUSUAL STRENGTH, INCLUDING WILLIAM COLLIER, Sr., JOYCE COMPTON, HEDDIE HOPPER, LOUIS FUZANDA, LUCIEN LITTLEFIELD AND BRANDON HURAT.

David Butler, who guided Miss Gaynor and Farrell so successfully to new fame in their first musical comedy on the screen, "Sunny Side Up," also directed this delightful comedy romance. Both Miss Gaynor and Farrell sing in this production. Five tuneful melodies have been provided by Joseph McCarthy and James Hanley.

SUDDEN DEATH OF W. H. FITTS

Passes Away Without Warning at His Home Here Tuesday Morning at 6 O'clock—In His Death Sanford Loses One of Its Best Citizens—Funeral at Presbyterian Church at 10:30 Wednesday Morning—Interment at Buffalo Cemetery.

The people of Sanford were shocked almost beyond expression when it was learned that Mr. W. H. Fitts had suddenly passed away at his home here last Tuesday morning at 6 o'clock. He was on the streets in the night before and seemed to be in good spirits. Mrs. Fitts awoke just before 6 o'clock and upon hearing him struggling, called to her son, William Hunter Fitts, who was paying in a tribute above. When he reached his father's bedside he found him breathing his last. When Dr. Chas. L. Scott, who was first called, reached the Fitts home, he found the life had become extinct. Mr. Fitts' death was due to a heart attack. It seems that he had suffered with his heart from time to time and the latter part of last year he spent several weeks for treatment for stomach trouble at Takoma Park Sanatorium, Washington City. His health had greatly improved and he seemed to be more active in looking after business during the past few weeks than usual.

A large congregation of people from all walks of life assembled in the Presbyterian Church at 10:30 Wednesday morning to attend the funeral, which was conducted by the pastor, Rev. R. C. Gilmore.
