A number of negroes of Sanford have gone to Durham to take work as carpenters and in tobacco factories.

The Greensboro Morning News states that Guaranty Bank is now organized and has opened for business. The deposits for the first days show good business.

It is stated from Raleigh that the minimum charge for ginning cotton allowed under the code—25 cents per 100 weight for seed cotton and 75 per bale for bagging and ties—has been adopted for North Carolina and Virginia ginners.

Work is progressing in a satisfactory way on the new tobacco warehouse. Workmen have finished the floor, walls and brick work and are now building the framing for the roof. It is expected that everything about the building will be completed and ready for the opening of the market.

A. C. Brown, a State highway patrolman, who has made his headquarters at Aberdeen for some time, has been transferred to Sanford where he is now making headquarters. The State Association of Highway Patrolmen has been reorganized and many of the patrolmen assigned to new stations.

S. M. Watson, Jr., will leave next week for Elon College to enter school. Mr. Watson has a position in the library of the college this year where he will help pay his expenses. He is a splendid young man and is making a good record in college. School will begin the seventh of September.

A representative of this paper made a trip through the lower section of Lee county Tuesday and in passing some farms was surprised to find more than 50 per cent of the cotton open. During the hot weather the latter part of last and the first of this week it opened like magic. By the middle of September most of the early cotton will be ready to gather. It is heavily fruited and will make a good average crop.

Coroner L. M. Waring, of Wake County, has set September 5th as the date for the hearing in Raleigh for Roy Pearson, of Apex, charged with manslaughter in connection with the recent death of S. M. Cox, of this place, in an automobile accident. Pearson is still in a serious condition from injuries received in the wreck and the warrant against him has not yet been served. The hearing will be held at 11 a. m.

While making a trip through the county this week we noticed fields of cane under cultivation on many of the farms along the highways. Last year many of the farmers in this section raised not only an ample supply of syrup for their own families, but had it for sale. The acreage in cane is probably as great in this section as it was last year. The mills will be converting the juice from cane into syrup in a few weeks.

Melvin Bros., a dry goods firm of Aberdeen, have leased the stand formerly occupied by the drug store of Bob Thomas on Wicker street and are moving in this week. The interior of the building has been repainted and overhauled and is ready for the stock of goods which will be put in in a few days. Sanford is well supplied with dry goods stores as well as grocery stores.

The planters in the eastern section of the State were disappointed with the prices they received for the tobacco they put on the Greenville, Wilson, Rocky Mount, Kinston, Farmville, Goldsboro, Wendell and Smithfield markets Tuesday, the opening day. Prices on these markets were estimated at an average of between 10 and 12 cents, with low grades strongest. The sales were heavy for the opening day. The average price was not as good as it was on the opening day.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Rockefeller, who have been spending some time at their game preserve near Overhills, in upper Harnett county, spent a short time here Tuesday evening while waiting for a through train on the Seaboard Air Line to carry them back to New York. Mrs. Rockefeller, who is a very charming woman, expressed herself to a representative of this paper, as being well pleased with this part of the South and enjoys spending a part of each year at their game preserve in Harnett county. They make several trips to their game preserve during the summer and winter seasons.

It is presumed that John T. McDonald, who has been County Cotton statistician for a number of years, will continue to hold the job until the Democrats have a man appointed to succeed him. Several have stood the examination for the job, but so far the appointment has not been made. The farmers have commenced to gather their cotton and will soon be hauling it to the gin and it will then be necessary for the statistician to visit the gins, gather the data and make a monthly report to the Census Department in Washington. The statistician is required to report the amount of cotton ginned only six or seven months in the year, which is known as the cotton season for which he receives the sum of $200.00. Years ago there were small gins in every section of the county, but a few big powered gins have run out the small gins, consequently the statistician can cover the county by visiting only a few gins.
