

TAR HEEL SCRAP BOOK

"Trailing Trade a Million Miles" is the attractive title of a book published by Duke University Press written by James A. Thomas.

For individuality and sincerity Tarheel is unsurpassed. From Bath to Brasstown her communities are unique. When one lives in and closely observes Tarheel communities other than his own he readily discovers that often we are too much a product of inbreeding, that we appear oftentimes almost selfish and boorish to outsiders who propose to remain in our midst. It was this attitude that, which enabled us to remarkably supersede all other states in preserving Anglo-Saxon blood and Anglo-Saxon traditions.

Beautiful Rosa Ponselle, metropolitan opera star, whom this scribe recalls best as singing from an outdoor platform to a vast audience in Pershing Square, excites our admiration by causing Crown Prince Umberto to throw out his cigarette recently when she lent her golden voice at a command performance.

Dr. Horace Williams, Tarheel sage and oracle, strikes out against cigarettes on August the sixteenth, his 75th birthday. "Cigarette smoking is a greater evil than most people imagine. When boys begin smoking at an early age, the effects are certain to reveal themselves before they are very old," are statements attributed to him in an interview published in the Greensboro Daily News. He further states that a cigarette addict who becomes a victim of typhoid or pneumonia before the age of 30 almost invariably succumbs.

It is startling to note how many small boys—many under the age of twelve, smoke inordinately. This scribe often wonders if their parents are aware. Few of these boys if any will ever develop into the full stature of commanding manhood. Furthermore, their nerves will be even more jangling than those of the proverbial old maid. Coffee and beer are also said by all authorities to be bad for the young chap, the young hopeful, the flower of your life or what have you.

If children under the age of fifteen could have the perspicacity and the will power to taboo coffee, beer and cigarettes our nation would face a far brighter future—taxes notwithstanding. Have parents no longer the power nor the backbone to withhold these stimulants from their children or do they not realize their deteriorating effects.

"Flashing upon that inward eye, revealing 'the bliss of solitude.'"

Southport, with her wide shady streets dreamy, idyllic with her ancient, enormous and gnarled live oaks, Andrews, clean and cool, high up in the Smokies—very modern with her beautiful high school of 'white stone.

The white ribbon of winding road which has beguiled this scribe more than once to heed that ancient call, "Westward ho!"

A Kansas county seat, smooth and remote under its deep pure cover of snow—built round the court house and court square like our own Murphy—the square a convenient breathing space for everyone.

Sleepy, lovely old Mobile, drowsing under her huge magnolias.

A field of blue bells in February between Sanford and her own filling station.

Miles of redbud and dogwood between Knoxville and her Beverly Hills and "a host of golden daffodils. Beside the lake beneath the trees fluttering and dancing in the breeze." Acres of these jonquills are grown for the city market and find a ready sale.

at Winston-Salem. She took a course at Columbia University. She was four years supervisor of Winthrop Training School. Miss Maude Cotton succeeds Mrs. Archie Palmer as music teacher in the Sanford High School. Mr. Eugene R. Smith, who was elected as one of the new teachers is from China Grove and was educated at Lenoir-Rhyne College, and took his Master's Degree at the State University. Mr. Smith has taught the last four years in the Asheville high school.

Coke Reeves, who was prepared for college in the Sanford High School, was educated at Westminster College, Fulton, Mo. He was an outstanding student there and graduated with honors.

Miss Lennie Cordell, of Goldsboro, was educated at East Carolina Teachers' College. She has taught for the past five years at Windsor. All these teachers come highly recommended and it is expected that they will do good work in the school. They were elected to fill vacancies in the High school faculty.

Patrolman Brown Keeps Recorder Quite Busy

Lemuel Pierce, Tramway youth, answered to a charge of reckless driving of a car along the highway. Patrolman Brown, who is now stationed at Sanford, arrested Pierce a few days ago, and testified that Pierce was zig-zagging his car from one side to the other of the road, and suddenly darted to the left side and chased Billie Ches hire into a nearby cornfield. Billie testified that he could not say how close Pierce got to him, and that he forsook his rights and took to flight in order to save his life. Officer Brown further testified that Pierce got sassy with him and told him he would keep up his pranks as long as he liked. The case was continued, at the request of Mr. Gavin, Pierce's attorney, for additional testimony to corroborate Pierce's statement that his car was shimmying owing to a loose bushing, and that it took spells of darting around in different directions. Pierce testified that the officer and Billie Cheshire were all wrong in their version of the affair.

Rozella Blair, colored girl of East Sanford, was charged with assault on Mrs. G. A. Jones, by throwing rocks at her. Rozella testified that the shoe belonged on the other foot, and that she was the victim of assault rather than the assaulter. During the testimony it developed that the colored girl was only 13 years of age and the case was sent to the Juvenile Court. Howard Wells, charged with operating a car on the highway with improper lights, was fined 1 cent and the costs. Wells was picked up by Patrolman Brown.

Carroll Thomas, charged with operating a motor car on the highway without brakes or warning device, pleaded nolo contendere, was let off with the costs. Patrolman Brown testified that Thomas was operating a truck without brakes, lights or effective horn.

Harvey Murchison, colored, was found guilty of operating a car under the influence of intoxicants and sent to the county home for three months. Patrolman Brown testified that Murchison was drinking and his car without brakes or lights. Patrolman Brown, upon being questioned by the Court as to his orders for arrests, instead of warning, stated that he was required now to make arrests for infraction of highway regulations.

LABOR DAY SEPT. 4TH

Don't postpone getting the tires you need now. Enjoy your last summer holiday on a new set of Goodyears. Prices are still lower than they were last fall. Play safe. Before you start out, drive in and let us look over your tires.

BUY THIS TIRE

Prices are marching up. But if you act in time you can still buy Goodyears at prices shown here—and most of them are lower than they were last fall... Look at this new 1933 Goodyear Pathfinder. With FULL CENTER TRACTION, 20% thicker non-skid tread, and stouter Supertwist Cord body, it turns in more miles, more blowout protection, more safety, than you could get from any tire costing four times as much a few years ago... Now is certainly the time to replace worn, dangerous tires with Pathfinders all around. No one can guarantee how long today's still low prices can last. We have your size. Be sure to get Goodyear quality tubes, too.
