IN LOVING MEMORY OF GRAHAM S. FIELDS.

On the 10th day of June, 1934, Graham paid his debt and his trials and troubles have ceased.

He laid the cares of this wearisome world by, and rose a triumph victor above the blue sky.

Graham was just thirty-one years old, yet he was loved with a love that can never be told.

It was hard to give him up yet we had it to do,

And today he's at the pearly gate waiting for you.

How oft have we seen those laughing brown eyes.

But they are closed forever until in glory he shall rise.

The flowers will grow over the sacred place that covers his dear smiling face;

But he's resting quietly in that bright land,

Where Jesus will uphold him with His almighty hand.

His eyes are closed and his silent slumber sweet,

While he bows in humble submission at his Saviour's feet.

His now with the countless number that's gone one before.

And will reign in that beautiful region forever more.

His rejoicing tongue will sing the sweet song,

While eternity will roll its unceasing ages long.

Dear Graham has suffered his last burdensome pain,

And left this unfriendly world bright heaven to gain.

We cannot stop the tears that flow, nor cease our hearts to weep;

But no grief or sorrow will ever disturb his peaceful rest,

For he will live with Jesus and be forever blest.

Sometime with tearless eyes we'll see, Yes, there, up there, we'll understand.

ESTABLISH NEW RECORD TO ROTARY CONVENTION

Detroit, Mich., July 2.—Seven Stockton, Cal., Rotarians led by A. H. Patterson established new unofficial records in their trip to the International Rotary Convention at Detroit, it was reported to Chevrolet officials here.

Making the journey in two Master Six Chevrolet Sedans, the party covered the 2,225 miles from Stockton to Chicago in 29 hours and 54 minutes, according to Patterson, who drove the pace car. Woodruff Patterson, his son, drove the second car.

The first 1,047 miles of the journey, from Stockton to Rawlins, Wyoming, was made in 19 hours and 24 minutes, despite rain, snow, wind, and cloud-burst from a little mountain, Nevada, to Rawlins. Stops were made only for gasoline.

In the entire journey from Stockton to Detroit, only four quarts of oil were added, to two cars, and not a drop of water was added to either. Patterson attributed his unusually fast time to knee action, stating that without this device it was very doubtful if the cars could have negotiated the long grind, much of which was over unfavorable roads and detours at such high speeds. At times the cars ran for miles at speeds over 30 miles per hour.

Following the convention here, four of the party took delivery of new Chevrolets in Flint and returned to the West Coast by different routes. Those taking the trip were Patterson, Paul Weston, Dr. C. D. Holliger, Edward de Simas, Harry J. Buton, Richard Holt, and Woodruff Patterson.

THE KERR TOBACCO CONTROL MEASURE

The Kerr tobacco control bill was signed today by President Roosevelt and the tobacco section of the agricultural Adjustment Administration immediately announced its readiness to put the act into operation.

The Kerr bill, which was subjected to one delay after another from the time of its introduction on March 1 until its final passage by Congress on June 18, the last day of the session, suffered still another delay in securing approval by the President.

However, the President today affixed his signature to the bill without comment and in the meantime the department had perfected its plans for putting the measure into effect.

Quotas, similar to those announced recently for the Bankhead cotton act will have to be put into effect, but before these quotas can be determined definitely it will be necessary for the department to ascertain how many additional contracts will be signed under the provisions of the act which permits all farmers who sign the contract within 30 days from the effective date of the law, which is today, to receive the same rental and other benefit payments as those who signed during the sign-up campaign.

Important Feature. This feature of the Kerr bill is one of the several important points at which it differs from the Bankhead cotton bill, under which growers who had not signed contracts prior to its enactment were cut off from rental and benefit payments, but were permitted quotas.

Another important difference is that the Bankhead bill specifies a total crop of 10,000,000 bales as the tax exempt maximum while the Kerr bill leaves the total undetermined, the total to be the aggregate of all the contracts with the Secretary of Agriculture, plus six per cent, that addition in each county to go to supplementing quotas in meritorious cases. It further provides that no less than two-thirds of the six per cent is to be allotted to those who would ordinarily receive allotment quotas of 1,500 pounds or less.

Another important point of difference is the tax, which is 50 per cent under the Bankhead bill, and not less than 25, nor more than 33 1-3 per cent under the Kerr bill.

Limited To Two Years. Each bill is limited to two years. In the case of the Bankhead bill the President must find and proclaim a need for extension, while for the Kerr bill there must be a request for extension by three-fourths of the growers for each type of tobacco for which the extension is made. The different types of tobacco will make possible extension for the bill just as there is already a wide difference in the percentage of reduction.

For the fine cured type, which is grown in North Carolina, the original contracts called for a 30 per cent reduction this year, but because of drought conditions, farmers were given the option of reducing only 20 per cent.

New Sign Up Campaign. A new sign-up campaign will be begun at once. However, tentative county allotments will be announced before the conclusion of that campaign and in North Carolina these figures are expected to be close to the final figures as in that state 95 per cent of the growers have already signed contracts. County committees will allot the additional six per cent in each instance.

Besides rental payments of from $15 to $25 an acre for land withdrawn from production, the department will pay next year 12 1-2 cent of the proceeds of the crop up to 22 cents a pound.

Congressman Frank Hancock in a conference today with Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, pointed out that a price of 22 cents must be received next year with the reduced crop for the crop to sell for as much as it did last year when there were 745,000,000 pounds produced in the fine cured territory, of which 556,000,000 pounds were produced in North Carolina. It is expected that the total crop this year will be reduced to 555,000,000 pounds, pounds will be grown in North Carolina.

22-Cent Average Is Aim.

A 22 cents average will be the aim of the department, negotiations to that end are already under way for marketing agreements with large manufacturers. Last year these agreements were not signed until after the beginning of the marketing season and the governors of all the state, led by Governor E. B. Tamm, of North Carolina closed the warehouses pending the signing of the agreements.

This year it is expected that the agreements will be signed well in advance of the beginning of the marketing season.

There also must be an adjustment of the processing tax which is now 4.2 cents a pound and that tax must be reduced, which will result in the funds available for rental and benefit payments next year but will not affect this year's payments. A recent decision by the department is confined to Georgia, but affects many North Carolinians in Georgia, many tobacco growers are unfamiliar with the art and have been in the habit of employing "demonstrators" mostly from North Carolina. These demonstrators receive a percentage of the proceeds of the crop. The department has ruled that the payments will be made to the signers of the contracts and that the "demonstrators" must look to them for their share.

J. B. Hutson chief of the tobacco section, today reiterated that the Kerr bill is not a compulsory measure and declared that the six per cent feature will take care of those small growers not entitled to contracts and that the burden of the tax will fall upon those eligible to sign contracts and refuse to do so and upon those new growers who have entered the tobacco production field on a large scale in anticipation of high prices which are expected to be brought about through the efforts of cooperation growers.

The delay in Presidential approval was due to an apparent error in an amendment affecting imports, but it was determined that the error, if any, was immaterial.
