Sanford Literary Club

Mrs. S. A. Cotton was hostess to the Sanford Literary Club Tuesday afternoon. During the business session a program discussion was held and it was decided to study for next year, "Europe in Transition," a University extension course, which promises to be highly interesting.

A delightful program was then given with two exceptionally interesting papers. Mrs. M. J. McPhail wrote of "Best Women Writers of North Carolina," and Mrs. W. W. Robards presented "Other Women of North Carolina."

During the social hour the hostess, assisted by Mesdames D. C. Lawrence and F. Y. Hanner, served an elaborate salad course. The club will be entertained next by Mrs. D. E. McIver.

Mrs. Reddish Entertains Club

Lovely in every detail was the meeting of the Phyllis Anne Bridge Club Monday evening at the Wilrik with Mrs. Gordon Reddish as hostess.

Tables were placed in the reception room and the presence of a number of visitors was an additional pleasure. Several progressions of contract were played and high score prize, a pottery bowl, was won by Mrs. Jones. Mrs. Williamson, of Raleigh, the hostess gave crystal sherberts and to Mrs. Hight, also of Raleigh, she presented handkerchiefs.

Delicious refreshments were served consisting of pear salad, sardines, sandwiches, pickles, olives, iced tea, and ginger cake topped with whipped cream.

Visitors were Mesdames Williamson and Hight, of Raleigh; Frank Hamilton, Garland Curran, and Miss Helen Judd. The club will meet next with Mrs. J. L. Stewart.

Vanity Fair Bridge Club

Mrs. Harold Makepeace was hostess to the Vanity Fair Bridge Club Tuesday evening, only club members being present.

High score prize, silk hose, was won by Mrs. W. B. Jones. The hostess gave lungerie to Miss Jean McIver, bride-elect of June. A delicious ice course was served.

Tuesday Afternoon Club

A beautiful meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon Club occurred this week with Mrs. C. C. Bowers as hostess. Four tables were placed for rook in a mass of artistically arranged spring flowers.

Club prize, a luncheon cloth, was won by Mrs. L. D. Isenhout, guest prize, a fruit bowl, by Mrs. E. M. Patterson, and low score prize, a novelty, by Mrs. T. T. Hayes.

The hostess served elaborate refreshments of chicken salad, sardines, pickle, deviled eggs, crystallized apples, sandwiches, cookies and Russian tea.

Circle 3 To Have Mother's Day Program

A beautiful Mother's Day program will be given at Steele's Church Sunday evening at the regular service hour sponsored by Circle 3 of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Church. There will be beautiful musical numbers and an address by Judge Clawson L. Williams. The service is a tribute to all mothers, both living and dead, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Junior-Senior Banquet

A "Feast of the Pirates" was the annual Junior-Senior banquet of the Sanford high school given Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the ball room of the Wilrik. On the stairs were pirate signs with cutlasses and bloody swords directing those who ascended to the "den of pirates."

The reception room was indeed a pirates' den. A skeleton was suspended from the ceiling, guns were stacked about the room, a parrot extended a welcome from one corner, the skull and bones were prominently displayed and crude kegs and lanterns were used.

In the ball room pirate flags and the sign of the skull and bones covered the walls, and the long tables were dotted with bottles holding burning tapers. The place cards were miniature bloody cutlasses and the programs were uniquely made up in black with skull and cross bones. Covers were laid for 180 and the following menu was served: sliced ham, peas in potato nests, Waldorf salad, hot rolls, iced tea, strawberry ice cream and cake.

The following program was presented with John Glass acting as toastmaster: address of welcome, Ed Hubbard, president of the junior class; response, Moses Snipes, president of the senior class; toast to seniors, Mrs. Marjorie Freeman; response, Winslow Edwards; pirates present caps to seniors; toast to faculty, Raymond Wheeler; response, Miss Lessie Cogdell; dances and a group of songs, 14 pirate choruses; toast to Parent-Teachers association, Leon Jewell; toast to Mr. Wheeler, Bill Edwards; toast to Mr. Pruitt, Isabel Seymour; paper by Fred Brown, "What the Senior Class Would Give to the World"; toast to Mrs. Tommy Reeves; song, "Little Senior Boy," by pirates; toast to Mrs. Frances Moore; toast to Town Officer, Betty McMahan; toast to our diplomats, Ralph Monger; toast to athletics, Reid Wicker; response, Shelton Boyd; senior song, by juniors.

The banquet is considered one of the most artistic and successful ever tendered a senior class of the high school.

Fortnightly Club

Exceptionally delightful was the meeting of the Fortnightly Club Saturday afternoon, at the home of Miss Margaret Lasater. Three tables were arranged for contract in a setting of vari colored flowers. High score prize, a pair of silk hose, was won by Mrs. E. W. Hunter.

The guests were then invited into the dining room for a six o'clock dinner. The table was covered with a lace dinner cloth and centered by an exquisite bowl of pink roses resting on a reflector. Crystal candlesticks bearing pink candles framed this in a soft light.

The hostess served a delicious dinner of fried chicken, asparagus on toast, green peas, pickle, hot rolls, iced tea, individual cakes, and pink and green mints.

Joining the club members for this delightful affair were Mesdames D. B. King, Edwin Donnell, and John Wesley Russell. The club will meet next with Mrs. Austin McCormick.

Thursday Bridge Club

Two lovely brides to be of this summer Misses Jean McIver and Ruth Phillips, were special guests when Mrs. L. P. Wilkins, Jr., entertained the Thursday Bridge Club this week.

High score prize, bath powder, was won by Miss Lee McIver, and the hostess remembered Misses McIver and Phillips with beautiful boxes of stationery.

Elaborate refreshments were served consisting of fried chicken, congealed salad, hot rolls, pickle, potato chips, fig roll, iced tea, strawberry shortcake topped with whipped cream.

In addition to the brides-to-be, Miss Allie Lee Graham was also a guest. The club will be entertained next by Mrs. J. C. Pittman.

Mrs. Hughes Honors Brides Elect

Artistic in every detail was the bridge luncheon given Friday by Mrs. J. A. Hughes, honoring Misses Jean McIver and Ruth Phillips, June brides elect.

Masses of roses and peonies filled the room forming a setting for the three tables which were charmingly appointed for luncheon and centered by rose bowls with pink rosebuds resting on reflectors. At 12 o'clock a delicious luncheon was served, the menu being chicken salad, potato, chips, pickle, hot rolls, iced tea, and strawberry shortcake.

Five progressions of contract were then enjoyed. The rose bowls and reflectors which centered the tables at luncheon were given as table prizes to Mesdames W. F. Wood, J. A. Davis, and Miss Frances Stedman O'Brien. To Misses McIver and Phillips the hostess gave dusting powder.

Guests were Misses Jean McIver, Ruth Phillips, Lee McIver, Frances Stedman and Lucy Cooper O'Brien, Katherine Jones, Mesdames Coley Snipes, A. B. Wilkins, Max Heins, W. F. Wood, E. C. Heins, J. A. Davis, J. K. Mason, and Mrs. F. Jones.

Mrs. Knight Entertains

The lovely suburban home of Mrs. R. R. Knight was the scene of a delightful meeting of the Thursday Afternoon Club last week.

Masses of flowers from the hostess' gardens filled the lower floor of the home, and in this beautiful setting two tables of rook were in play throughout the afternoon.

High score prize, a coconut cake, was won by Mrs. A. K. Miller, and low score, a basket of strawberries, by Mrs. Frank Glegg. The hostess served chicken salad sandwiches, sardines, iced tea, home made strawberry ice cream, topped with whipped cream, and pound cake. The next club hostess will be Mrs. J. T. Neal.

American Home Department

The American Home Department held its last meeting of the current year Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. K. Miller.

The session was taken up principally with business matters and a discussion of the program for next year. Recipes for summer desserts were exchanged.

The hostess served a frozen fruit salad course with iced tea.

U. D. C.

An unusually interesting meeting of the local chapter United Daughters of the Confederacy occurred on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. P. Wilkins with Mrs. J. R. Rowers and Miss Mary Wilkins as associate hostesses.

Following the usual ritual and business session Mrs. D. G. Lawrence read an account of the renovation and restoration of Stratford Hall, home of Robert E. Lee. A number of old Southern songs were beautifully played by Mrs. M. J. McPhail.

The hostesses served a salad course. The Chapter will meet on the last Thursday in May with Mesdames J. T. Davenport and K. E. Foushee.

Literary Department

A year of interesting study and development came to a close with the last meeting of the literary department of the Woman's Club on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. J. Husketh. Entertaining with Mrs. Husketh were Mrs. Margaret Lasater and Mrs. John Freeman.

The chairman, Mrs. R. T. Howard, presided over the business session and plans were made for the annual picnic in June. This will be held at the City Water Works plant and the members will have their husbands as guests.

The roll call was answered with instructive facts about the states of Mississippi and Alabama. Mrs. Jno. Freeman gave "A Study of Mississippi" and Miss Ethel Kelly "A Study of Alabama."

The hostesses served ice cream, cake and mints. The home was massed with pink and white peonies. Special guests were Mesdames Ralph Monger, C. L. Williams and Trudy Proctor.

Civic Department

The Civic Department met at the home of Mrs. G. G. M. McCormick with a good attendance. Roll call was answered with interesting current events.

The Department has recently put out shrubbery in the station lot and plans were made to raise funds to continue the work.

During the social hour the hostess served a salad course and coffee. Mrs. J. E. Brinn will be hostess in June.

KELLY-PERRY

The "Pumpkin Coach" is receiving a great deal of attention and admiration these days. Its author, Louis Paul, is new this being his first novel. Mr. Paul says of the book; "This was to be an important book. . . It was to be more than a story by an author. Oh, it was to forget that it had a writer. . . I was to write of the sky and sea, and granite buildings, and the brown dirt of America. And the book was to be the color and pulse; and life of that."

This story Louis Paul had an attractive "five year plan" a sort of contract with his wife. The contract finally agreed upon allowed Mr. Paul the privilege of keeping house for five years and in his spare time attempting a novel, while Mrs. Paul made the living. If at the end of five years Mr. Paul had produced nothing of merit Mrs. Paul would return to the home and he would seek the livelihood. This was the only way that he could find time for writing. He has amply justified his ambition and desire.

The pumpkin coach is the story, roughly speaking, of John Koe, a moon, a splendid and guileless example of a youth brought up in seclusion with the classics for study, a priest for an instructor and nature for a companion. There is a wholesome quality in the book which derives from John naive reaction to things he did not understand, and vital comeback after blows which shook confidence in himself. The two priest in the book are both beautiful and strong. But the beauty of the book itself is in the reading.

"Anthony Adverse" continues its rounds among a few fortunate readers.

All of the copies of "So Red the Rose," are equally popular. Of "Time and the River" Thomas Wolfe's new book has been ordered; so has the "Green Lights," by Lloyd Douglas.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Page, of Clayton spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Riddle.
