THE combination "equally as" frequently crops up in present-day writing and conversation. It is never good English. Do not say, "Their suggestion seems equally as good as yours." Say, "Their suggestion seems as good as yours", or "Their suggestion and yours seem equally good."

Our word "supercilious," meaning haughtily contemptuous or disdainful, comes down to us from "superciliosus," a Latin word meaning, literally, "eyebrowish." The Romans recognized that raising the eyebrows was a characteristic habit of the haughty, arrogant man; so they combined their words "super" (over) and "cilium" (eyebrow) to form "supercilium," meaning "pride," and "superciliosus," meaning "haughty" or "arrogant."

WHEN YOUR FEET BURN AND ACHE And You Can't Walk Another Step

—ask your druggist for a can of Zeeta, the amazing discovery of a Swiss chemist. Rub Zeeta on your feet, sprinkle it in your shoes. If it doesn't make you feel like walking miles, after 5 minutes by your watch, bring the can back to your druggist, who will cheerfully give you your money back.

Zeeta, the antiseptic deodorant powder, is recommended by doctors, athletic trainers and good druggists everywhere for 5 minute relief from excessive, offensive perspiration, tired, aching, burning feet, water blisters, also for chafing and sunburn.
