CAROLINA HOTEL

CHANGES HANDS

This hotel, which was built and operated for the past seven years by its owner, Mr. O. P. Makepeace, of this city, has been sold to him by W. Stiles Koonce, who was for years engaged in the hotel business in Cleveland, Ohio, having served as president of the Cleveland Hotel Association, later connected with the Pledgely hotel in New York, remaining in that city through its reorganization and later addition to the Dreher chain.

Mr. Koonce came to Sanford a week or more ago and closed the deal. He returned the latter part of last week and took charge. He was accompanied by Mrs. Koonce and son, who will make their home with him here.

Mr. Koonce, who will have personal charge of the hotel, has been busy overhauling the building since he arrived. He is making a free use of paint and wall paper. Many alterations will be made in the house so as to make it a modern hotel in every respect.

We understand that he will make a bid for the tourist business, and is in a position to know how to handle this business. He knows the methods to use in order to get it. It is believed that Mr. Koonce coming to Sanford to engage in the hotel business will prove a valuable asset to the place.

PAYROLL TAX STARTS JANUARY FIRST

Southern manufacturers and employees alike are advised by the Southern States Industrial Council to prepare now to adjust their budgets to meet requirements of the payroll tax which under the national Social Security Act, goes into effect January 1st.

Under the tax one per cent of the wages of each employee and officer will be deducted during the years 1937, 1938 and 1939. The percentage will gradually be increased to 3 per cent by 1949. The employer is required to pay an equal percentage based upon his total payroll, thus matching the tax paid by employees.

The fund thus collected is for payment of old age benefits to qualified persons, beginning in 1942. These benefits, it was pointed out by the council, range from $10 to $85 per month, depending upon the total earnings of the individual between 1937 and the time he reaches the age of 65 years. No person who is now of that age, or will be 65 years old before January 1, 1942, will be equalized for the old age pension.

It has occurred to us," said President John E. Edgerton of the council, "that it is not too early for employers, as well as employees, to begin adjusting their budgets and financial schedules next year in this new item of cost imposed by law."

SANFORD DRAWING BIG TRADE OTHER ACTIVITIES.

Don't know that the result of the election caused it, but there were more people in Sanford last Saturday night than we have seen in a long time. The sidewalks and stores were crowded with people till a late hour. They were here from the neighboring towns and surrounding country in record-breaking numbers. The merchants and salesmen and salesladies were kept busy till closing time. All parking space in and near the business district was at a premium. If we are to judge by the number of cars on the streets about everywhere that come to Sanford to trade has a car. To look at everything on a rush it would be hard to believe that we have recently passed through a great depression. Trade is better now than it has been in years. The farmers have plenty of money from the sale of their cotton and tobacco crops. The laboring people have jobs at good wages and have money to spend. Every enterprise in the town seems to be operating on full time some concerns working two or three shifts. It is expected that the tourist business will pick up from this on as the election is a thing of the past, and the weather is changing. People in Sanford make bid for tourist have everything in readiness for all who may come this way. It would be interesting to know the amount of money taken in by people who operate rooming houses here, to say nothing of the hotels. As more money has been spent this year, advertising the advantages offered tourists by Federal Highway No. 1, it is expected that more tourists will use this route than during any past season.

In loving memory of Thomas E. Farrell, who passed to the Great Beyond on October 30, 1935. Dear father, we know your time here was steady. And God has been best to call you away. The beautiful life you lived down here. We want you there for His own. A loving example for us to have been, And a palace there for you God's made. For which this earthly life has paid. One year ago you carried you there, And placed you in mother, so dear. They say you died, yet we know it's not. For in the Great Book we have read, "I go to prepare a place for you."

We stand by the grave, dear papa, today. And on it the beautiful flowers lay. Then we look at your vacant place here in the church. How many, many times you have come, So good and true, and tried as best you could. The will of God to do. And, oh, how lonesome, how weary and sad. To know you can't be here today. But, then when we think of that glorious home, That Jesus has gone to prepare. Then we know it's wrong to want you back here. Where earth's full of trouble and cares. For all of our flowers and all of our love Cannot compare with your blissful home above. Instead of trial and a weak wailing joy. You're in all peace, all happiness, all joy. Never more on this earth can we all meet again. For the circle has been broken. But help us, O God, to make this our token. "That in Heaven Above the Circle not be broken."

The story is told of a dying mother. As on her death bed she lay. She faintly said to her husband true: "Bring all the children home with you."

Now help us, Dear God, with strength from above That our lives may be filled with God's love. So reunited there we can be. And mama can say to papa so dear, "Look, all the children are here."

For dear mother and that dear father Who waited for us here Ever wearing a smile so sweet, Now await on the hills of paradise. For their children's coming feet. —By a Daughter.
