'Over 10 years of experience'

to a spirituality that integrates sexual love-making and passion.

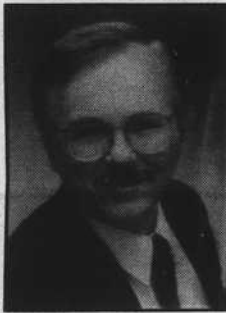

I am reminded by a verse in the prophet Isaiah where God says "My word does come back to me empty." Consistent use of Glazer's book in daily meditation and prayer will fulfill the vision of Isaiah's verse; it will empower and deepen the roots of our spirituality.

Dr. Roert Goss is author of the book, Jesus Acted Up: A Gay and Lesbian Manifesto.

Boswell's discovery of Christian rites blessing same-sex unions is also an important piece of historical reconstruction of Christian social practices. He deconstructs the uncritical notions of marriage of modern Christians who advocate a rhetoric of Christian family values and use the procreative privilege of marriage to fight domestic partner legislation or to deny gay/lesbian Christians equal rites within their churches. Boswell's work also reclaims and restores to Christianity a rich cultural, theological, and historical diversity that is frequently glossed over for particular political agendas. For majority of its history, Christianity did not single out those Christians attracted to their own gender for persecution but held them up as models for fidelity, love, and friendship. Boswell provides gay/lesbian scholars, theologians, and Christians with the tools necessary to deconstruct the homophobia of the Christian churches and re-educate the churches to an appreciation of the grace-filled dimensions of Christian same-sex unions.

Boswell has surfaced the historical data of people attracted to the same-sex within Christianity. He surfaced a history of Christianity that the present generation of homophobic and misogynistic scholars dismisses because it threatens their uncritical assumptions about the historical and textual data about those attracted to the same-sex within Christianity. John Boswell has discovered Christian liturgical rites that bless same-sex unions. Let us build on his scholarly legacy and encourage more queer scholars in religion and history to reclaim our past against the caddy, uncritical assumptions of such homophobes as the Gregorian professors and the religious right.
