Conservation Farming News

By W. O. HOOPER

A few years ago, M. T. Baugus was sowing vetch on his farm near Rich Hill when a neighbor stopped to inquire about what he was seeding. Mr. Baugus explained that he was trying vetch for a winter cover crop, but was somewhat uncertain about it since he had never seen it tried in Alleghany county. The neighbor was discouraging and almost certain that the experiment would fail; however, the vetch was sown on a well prepared seed bed and covered lightly.

By December, a good stand of vetch had completely covered the soil by spreading out and lying close to the ground. This winter legume improved the soil more than rye had ever done in addition to giving better soil protection during winter. Like sweet clover, a scattered stand came back the next year, but Mr. Baugus decided to sow clover and grass in the corn at the last plowing. This was fine, but he had some trouble mowing over the rough land. Now he has decided to sow more vetch, because he believes it is the finest winter cover crop that he has ever seen for Alleghany county.

I'M THE GUY who looked ar you from a USO poster little over a year ago.

I'm the guy you forked over $34,000,000 for—so that, through the USO, you could let me and all my buddies know that someone home still thought about us—still cared enough not to want us to miss out on any of the things we were in uniform fighting for.

A hot cup of coffee for example, when you come in all grimy and tuckered out from a little "business" trip...

A club house with easy chairs to melt into and desks to sit at and write home and a dance floor and some decent girls to give us out here a little reminder of what it's still like back there.

You remember, don't you?

You probably dug deep for a lot of other things that year, too...for British War Relief, United China Relief, and so on. Well, this year it's going to be simpler for you. Because this year, seventeen war relief agencies have banded together into one great big campaign—to make it easier for you to give, and easier for them to distribute the funds.

They're calling this one big campaign the National War Fund, and it includes most of the major war relief agencies. Because it does, this time you are only asked to give once for all seventeen.

And take it from me, as one who ought to know, that contribution you're going to make is one of the greatest things you can do to bring about victory. Not just because part of it's going to USO to do wonders for the morale of the fellows under arms, but because a good deal of it is going to help relieve distress at home through local agencies—as well as abroad, to help keep our allies in the fight.

So when you're asked to give to the united campaign of the National War Fund and our community's own war fund this month, remember me. Every dollar you give to the National War Fund helps me out in countless ways, and does its bit to bring me home sooner.

Give in a big way, will ya?
