Senate Passes Bill To Increase Burley Acreage

Flannagan Measure Already Passed House; Expected To Become Law

According to information received here yesterday afternoon, the Flannagan Bill, for the increase of acreage allotment of burley tobacco, which passed the House some time ago, has now passed the Senate and is expected to become a law.

The bill will enable all farmers with an allotment of less than an acre for burley tobacco, to in-crease this to an acre, this year.

The bill was introduced by Representative Flannagan, of Virginia and received the wholehearted support of Congressman Doughton in the House.

Officials of the Mt. Burley Tobacco warehouse at Boone, where most of the burley tobacco grown in this county is marketed, are urging the farmers to plan now to have plenty of plants to take care of their needs,

The increase in acreage allotment, will mean extra plants will
