Woman's Club Entertains At Tea Tuesday Afternoon

Members of the Sparta Woman's Club were hostesses at a delightfully appointed tea at the community building on Tuesday afternoon when members of the West Jefferson and Ashe county clubs were guests.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Ben G. Reeves, who presented them to the receiving line headed by Mrs. R. F. Crouse, president of the Sparta club, Miss Blaine Todd, of the Jefferson club; Mrs. Ed M. Anderson, first vice-president of the North Carolina Federation; Mrs. P. G. Wright, of the West Jefferson club and Mrs. F. G. Walker, member of the Sparta club.

The tea table was beautifully arranged with a bowl of mixed summer flowers in the center, flanked by three branched candleabra holding white lighted tapers. Sweet peas and baby's breath surrounded the punch bowl on one end of the table. Sandwiches, tea, cookies and nuts were also served.

Other mixed summer flowers were used throughout the hall with rhododendron and queen anne's lace flanking the huge fireplace.

Miss Pearl Fields presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. C. A. Thompson, Mrs. Edwin Duncan and Mrs. Hugh Choate served at the tea table.

Miss Emogene Choate, talented Sparta pianist, presented a program of piano music preceding the tea. Mrs. Blossom Kyle, director of the Independence Music School then presented three of her pupils in a delightful musical program, which featured the following numbers:

A piano solo, "Aereo Flight," Eckstein, by Nancy Carolyn Bryant; vocal solo, "Cashmir Song," Findin, by Miss Ruth Cornett accompanied at the piano by Miss Jo Ann Cornett; piano solo, "Fantasia in C. Minor," Mozart, by Miss Jo Ann Cornett; vocal solo, "One Alone," Romberg, by Miss Ruth Cornett accompanied at the piano by Miss Jo Ann Cornett, and a piano duet, "First Movement of Fifth Symphony," Bee thoven, by Miss Jo Ann Cornet and Mrs. Kyle.

Souvenirs made by the Sparta Manufacturing Company were presented to the 55 guests present.

Obituary WILLIAM R. ANDERSON

William Robert Anderson, son of O. R. and Mary Billings Anderson, was left an orphan at the age of 12 years. He was taken by an aunt, Mrs. Cleo McMillan, and remained with her until April 30, 1943, at which time he was called to the armed service. He received his training at Camp Shelby, Mississippi, as a combat infantryman. Later he joined the 378th Regiment of the 95th Infantry Division. He participated in the battle of Northern France and the Rhineland and was wounded twice. In the German break of Mitz he was taken prisoner of war and was liberated by the Russians about six months later. For his distinguished service in the armed service he received: American Theatre Service Medal, European-African-Middle Eastern Service Medal, the purple heart with one bronze oak leaf cluster and the distinguished unit badge.

Following liberation he was honorably discharged with rank of Corporal at Fort Lewis, Washington, November 6, 1945, and returned again to the home of his aunt to make his home. He was born August 6, 1923 and was accidentally killed June 22, 1946. His age being 22 years, 10 months, and 16 days. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Welter Ray Maxwell, two aunts, Mrs. Cleo McMillan, with whom he made his home, and Mrs. Lula Jones; two uncles, R. L. Billings of Winston-Salem, and P. B. Billings of Toughkenamon, Pennsylvania. I cannot say, I will not say, That he is dead, he is just away, With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand, As he wandered into an unknown land.

And left us dreaming how very fair,

It needs must be, since he lingers there, And you oh you, who the wildest yearn, For the old time and glad return. Think of him faring on as dear, In the love of there as the love of here, Mild and gentle as he was brave, When the sweetest love of his life he gave. To simple things where the violets grew, Pure as the eyes they were likened to, The touches of his hands have strayed, As reverently as his lips have prayed. When the little brown thrush that harshly chirred, Was Dean to him as the mocking bird, And he pitied as much as a man in pain, A writhing honey-bee wet with rain, Think of him still as the same I say, He is not dead - he is just away.
