Mrs. William M. Collins who was before her marriage on Saturday, Miss Emoryetta Reeves.

Miss Emoryetta Reeves And William Collins Are Married

Of interest here and elsewhere is the marriage of Miss Emoryetta Reeves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Mac Reeves, of Sparta, to William Mahlon Collins, son of Porter C. Collins and the late Mrs. Nannie B. Collins, of Glade Valley, which took place on Saturday afternoon, October 19, at the home of the bride's parents.

Elder C. B. Kilby officiated using the single ring ceremony, with only members of the immediate families present. The vows were spoken before an improvised altar in the living room, with white chrysanthemums and autumn flowers used in the background.

For her nuptials the bride wore a powder blue wool dress with three-quarter length sleeves and a round neckline. Her accessories were brown and her flowers, white orchids. She was attended by her sister, Miss Lois Reeves, who wore a yellow wool dress with black accessories. Roscoe Collins, brother of the groom, served as best man.

The bride was educated at the Woman's College and the University of North Carolina. She taught one year in Sparta high school and for the past three years has served as editor of The Alleghany News.

The groom is a graduate of Appalachian high school and also attended N. C. State college. He spent three and one-half years overseas, and wears the Bronze Star medal. He is now employed by the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company in Baltimore.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Yellow and white chrysanthemums were used in the dining room. And a three-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom formed the centerpiece of the table from which refreshments were served.

Following this the couple left for a short honeymoon after which they will be at home, 3204 Westerwald Ave., Baltimore, Md.

For travel the bride changed to a suit of brown gabardine with which she wore brown accessories and a white orchid.

OPA System Of Pricing Is Set Aside In Court Ruling

Washington—The U. S. Emergency Court of Appeals set aside Tuesday the order of the Office of Price Administration which had held chain stores to a single set of maximum prices for women's nylon hosiery.

The tribunal ruled that the multiple-outlet stores are entitled to the same sort of dual price system as department stores and large independent stores. Those dealers can charge higher prices for the stockings if they purchase them from wholesalers than if they buy directly from manufacturers.

The opinion, by Chief Judge Maris of the special court, was in the case of G. R. Kinney Company, Inc., and Murray M. Rosenberg, Inc., against OPA Administrator Paul Porter, heard in New York in August.

ing the iron from side to side so that the steam goes into the garment. Keep pressing and patting the loose fabric into place until the fullness disappears. Then press the entire leg of the trousers until almost dry. Leave the trouser leg in position on the board for a few minutes until it is completely dry. Never press wool until "bone dry" because this makes the fabric stiff and harsh.

Timely Hints

If you have an old easy chair, keep on enjoying it for the present instead of trading it in on a new model. Families are urged to postpone unnecessary purchases to give veterans a chance to furnish their homes.

If the old gray suit won't go through the winter and you find the new suits too expensive for your budget, why not make your own. There's more to thrift than putting money in the bank. It is easy to make a tailored suit, say clothing specialists, if you are skillful at sewing and have the patience to do careful work. But don't attempt a suit if you are an amateur at sewing. If you would like to have a bulletin telling you how to make a suit write to the Clothing Department, Agricultural Extension Service, State College, Raleigh.

How to get the bagginess out of trouser knees is one of the home-pressing problems of housewives. Clothing specialists explain that trousers bag where the fabric has been stretched and that shrinking with steam is the cure. Lay the trouser leg flat on the ironing board with the baggy part uppermost. Press gently, mov-
