

The Everyday Counselor

Rev. Herbert Spaugh, D. D.

Marriage succeeds or fails at seven points of adjustment. Those about to be married should consider these thoughtfully and those already married could examine them with profit.

1. Physical. Many a marriage "goes sour" within the first few days because of ignorance here. There must be mutually satisfactory physical adjustment if the marriage is to be happy. It is physical attraction which causes a man and woman to marry. "Harmony In Marriage" by Wood (Roundtable Press) is recommended for all married couples, and those about to be married. The chapter on Physical Harmony presents valuable information in good taste.

2. Financial. There must be sharing of financial responsibility. Every married couple should make a budget and learn to live within their income. Use the ten-ten plan—give ten per cent to the Lord's work—save ten per cent. Where husband and wife work in the business world their incomes should be pooled. Each should know the other's income and financial responsibilities.

3. Psychological. It takes more than physical union to make a successful marriage. There must be a common denominator of tastes and companionship. Both husband and wife must enjoy doing things together and do them together.

4. Sociological. Husband and wife must learn to know, understand, and get along with each other's relatives and friends. Much domestic friction is caused by "in-law" trouble. Each must also learn how to fraternize with the family and friends of their mate.

5. Vocational. They must like the job by which they earn their living. Dissatisfaction here reacts against marriage. They must either learn to like the job or get another. A woman who dislikes housekeeping should never marry. If either dislikes children, they should not marry.

6. Parental. It takes children to complete married happiness. When they come, let them be accepted as the gift of God and treated as such. But they must not be allowed to monopolize the attention of father or mother. They must continue to be husband and wife as well as parents.

7. Spiritual. No marriage can be happy and successful without enduring spiritual foundations. Only the God-centered home can be lastingly happy. Husband and wife should unite in the same church. They should read the Bible daily and learn to pray together and aloud daily. "I" must become "we." Then both should seek the daily advice and counsel of God. They must learn to pray, "Not my will, but Thine be done."

canned, and stored home grown foods for some of this much needed vitamin C. The best sources of vitamin C are fresh fruits and vegetables.

Many people think of the citrus fruits, oranges, grapefruit, and lemons as our only means of getting vitamin C. They are our richest source; however, many home grown foods if prepared and cooked the right way can supply the vitamin C needed daily.

Obituary

Cora Ellen Hampton Pugh

Cora Ellen Hampton Pugh was born September 26, 1869. She departed this life January 31, 1947, 4:00 A. M., at the Mooresville hospital, making her stay on earth 77 years, 4 months, and 5 days.

She professed a hope in Christ and joined the church at Shiloh, September, 1886. Later she moved her membership to Grassy Creek M. E. Church. She was a faithful member and enjoyed each service. At different times she was known to testify as to her hope and faith, including the meeting at Shiloh last summer. During her illness, she spoke of the "Beautiful Home" up there.

She was industrious and worked even more than her strength would permit. She was kind hearted, and to know her was to love her. Her love and kindness will always be remembered and will remain in the hearts of her family and friends.

It will be lonely without you mother, Without your presence and prayers;

But for you, there is freedom, Freedom from sorrow and cares.

We cherish your memory, dear mother, A memory more precious than gold.

You leave a life behind you, Eternity only can unfold.

We are going to meet you, dear mother,

Meet you in that home above. And be an undivided family, Where all is peace and love.

She was married to Lee M. Pugh, March 3, 1887. He preceded her in death a number of years ago, also, two sons, Grover and Claude.

She is survived by one brother, Rev. Lee A. Hampton, Sparta, N. C.; one sister, Anna H. Pugh, of Leesburgh, Va.; and the following children—Dodge Pugh, Topia, N. C.; Brack Pugh, Boise, Idaho; Parker, Redwood City, California; Britt, Cottonwood, Calif.; Wake, Maryeville, Calif.; Anna Royster, Filer, Idaho; and Litha Williams, also of Filer. 23 grandchildren and 8 great-grandchildren also survive.

At these seven points marriage either succeeds or fails. At each of these points there must be satisfactory adjustment and cooperation by willingness to "give, and take."

Finally, the marriage machine must be lubricated daily with the oil of courtesy and appreciation, and it must be kept in repair.

Attention Tobacco Farmers

It is now time to prepare your seed beds for the coming year. I want to urge you to plant plenty of beds and to give them the best possible care. A good crop of plants is your insurance policy of a good crop of tobacco this fall. Let me urge you again to sow plenty of beds so even if the blue mold takes its toll, you will have enough to set your allotment. Remember, good tobacco, grown from strong, healthy plants, always brings the top market price.

It has been my aim for the past six years to build for you a tobacco market on which you could depend and of which you could be proud. If I can be of any help to you during the coming months, or if you have any suggestions you feel might be of benefit, I would appreciate hearing from you. I can assure you your letter will receive prompt attention.
