Home-Canned Pickled Beets Are Good Appetizers

Small pickled beets add a colorful and appetizing note to meals the year 'round. Your home canning schedule should include them. Here is an excellent recipe taken from the famous Ball Blue Book on home canning:

- 1 gallon small beets
 - 2 cups sugar, or 1 cup sugar and 1 cup corn sirup
 - 1 long stick cinnamon
 - 1/2 cup vinegar
 - 1/4 cup water
- Cook and skin beets. Add sugar and spices to vinegar and water. Simmer 15 minutes. Add beets. Boil five minutes. Pack beets into hot jars. Cover with boiling sirup. If not enough sirup to cover, add more vinegar. Process five minutes in hot water bath.

Those Sun-Cooked Preserves Make Delicious Treats

Firm-ripe cherries, currants, red raspberries or strawberries may be used for sun-cooked preserves. Cherries should be washed and seeded; currants washed and stemmed; strawberries washed and capped. Drain and weigh the fruit. Work with small batches, using equal amounts of sugar and fruit. Place fruit and sugar in alternate layers in a broad pan. Let stand overnight. Heat slowly to boiling and boil six minutes. Spread in shallow trays and cover with window glass. Allow air space on all sides. Let the mixture stand in the sun for three days or until the sirup begins to jelly and the fruit is plump. Stir gently two or three times daily. Do not keep the mixture out of doors overnight. Pack into hot Ball jars and process 15 minutes at simmering.

Mrs. Parham Is Guest Speaker

Mrs. Parham, of Mooresville, was guest speaker at a program given the student body at Whitehead school, recently. She gave an interesting and informational talk on "A Visit To Africa." She told the group of her voyage aboard steamship via London to Africa, where her two sons live.

She discussed the way of life, customs, good and bad habits of the native people of Africa and of their love for the white people who taught them as missionaries or dealt with them in commerce.

Mrs. Parham has made two visits to Africa and has spent more than a year there and hopes to visit there again this fall. She has spoken to various church groups and schools and taught study courses in towns in North Carolina.

Production of cotton in North Carolina for 1947 is forecast at 460,000 bales at a prospective yield of 357 pounds of lint cotton per acre.
