HORTON PAYS

beautiful and exhilarating of all exercises, it ought to be practiced and protected.

"Certainly there is no better place for making and holding friends than in a club of this sort, which deals with human and not material relations, and whose main object is the cultivation of friendly relations and the enjoyment and pleasure which comes from the intercourse among congenial fellows. And most assuredly we owe this fellowship to Andrew Smith, who was loved, honored, and respected by all who knew him. And who taught many of us to thumb a reel and tie a leader.

"In years to come, passing this way with those who are too young to know, we shall pause, and pointing with pride to this well, shall tell them the story of Andrew Smith. For this story speaks to all of us: 'Grow clean and straight and strong. Be a Good Sport!'"

Annual Publication Of Mimosa Fishing Club Being Readied

The annual Mimosa Fishing Club's publication that was published each year by the late Andrew T. Smith will be issued soon.
Plans call for the issue to be much larger and in two colors. It will contain news and pictures of the local club, and interesting articles that should prove of value to the membership.

The publication will go to all members and will be distributed to other cities in North Carolina and out-of-the-state, carrying the message of the fine work that is being done by the Mimosa Fishing Club.

J. D. Fitz will be in charge of getting out this year's issue and has sounded a call for contributions and advertising. He asks that those who are interested contact him at the News-Herald.

another year's work was added.
The twelfth grade will be taught this year, giving the two schools their first graduating class.

Because there will be no more county students attending the Morganton city schools, the agricultural course is being taken out of the Morganton high school curriculum. R. H. Farham, who has been teaching agriculture in the Morganton school, will head the department and J. E. Switzer, who is in charge of the work at the Salem school.

The course had not previously been taught in the Hildebran school, Mr. Patton said, because the enrollment was not large enough to justify the establishment of the department. A school should have approximately 70 or 80 boys who will take the course before it can be put into a school, he stated.
