VALDESE VARIETIES

Little Items From Here And There.
By The Staff

Jimmy Church was in his last week. He talked to his mother in Tokyo. "Mama," he said, "that sounded just like you."

We can't tell, but we know of a number of shifts that are going to be made in the Valdese business district quite soon. Looks like we are playing fruit basket over again.

We are not talking about the Rock Drug Store and the P. for those changes are practically made already. The P. isn't as nearly moved as the drug store, however, because, they say, they have to wait for A & P carpenters to arrive on scene and put in the fixtures.

When we think about this coal shortage, we can't help remembering all those ads that one of the coal dealers ran in this paper in the early summer: "Be sure your coal now while it is still available." . . . and that and a' that.

When passing through town—two new school buses for the Rutherford County schools.

We hear there's an agreement among the ministers in town not to let any more bald-headed preachers come in to town. Say Valdese already has a full quota of shining plates.

The things that do come in our mail. We got another copy of the "Rosebud News" this week.

The Bernard Buick Company has mailed out Thanksgiving greeting cards, with a picture of beautiful pumpkins on the front, and the company's signature set in the middle of a big pumpkin pie.

Overheard on the street, just at the elementary school let out: "You better teach your children to be a little better."

Over: "I hit him all the time."

Johnny Gardner reports that he witnessed the devastating blow to Carolina by Notre-Dame New York Saturday. So did his and Betty Garrou, we think.

Did you see the 8-point deer? Pascal came home with today?

The Valdese Jewelry Store looks without Hall Williams. Is it possible that he got the mumps at

FOUR INJURED IN AUTO CRASH EARLY MONDAY

Valdese Men Rushed To Hospital From Wreck At Intersection.

Four men sustained serious injuries in an early morning collision Monday between a 1942 Ford coupe and a 1948 model Chevrolet truck at the Rutherford College intersection where U. S. highways 70 and 350 cross, east of Valdese.

Investigating Highway Patrolman Chandler said that indications were that the truck, reported driven by Virgil Adams of Route 1 in Wilkesboro, went across highway 70 without stopping, and that the Ford rammed into its side. J. L. Goode of 780 N. Laurel Street in Valdese was listed as driving the coupe at the time of the accident.

Passengers with Goode included William Glasebrooks of 770 N. Laurel Street in Valdese, and R. A. Coulter, Box 725, Valdese.

Patrolman Chandler and hospital officials at Valdese General Hospital described the conditions of the injured men as follows:

APPRaisal OF PROPERTY IS PROGRESSING

Officials Estimate Job Of Re-valuation Will Be Finished In February

Burke County's Tax Appraisal Program, being conducted by the Cole-Layer-Trumble Company of Dayton, Ohio, is now between 60 and 70 per cent complete and should be finished around February, according to a recent statement by J. N. Tucker, Jr., who is in charge of the appraisal.

Mr. Trucker marvelled at the "cooperation and assistance which Burke county residents have given . . . members of the tax appraisal teams which have been at work in both farm and city areas.

It was pointed out that the purpose of the program is one for the equalization of taxes, and not necessarily to increase tax loads as many persons have thought.

Appraisal officials showed that their work is conducted along lines of a detailed, scientific appraisal, which takes many things into consideration, including material, labor, and contract costs, along with other allied interests in the housing and property fields.

Fair Figures
In order to arrive at fair figures, the Cole-Layer-Trumble survey uses the year, 1941, (in Burke County) as their base year for labor and material costs and the like. This serves to drive away from the many inflated values of the present year. Replacement costs (that is, to have built new in 1941) on every building are also figured.

From this estimate, normal figures of depreciation (utility, age, and whether obsolete) are applied.

The estimators then arrive at a normal fair market value (based on 1941.)

County Commissioners
Sound values which are left are turned over to the County Commissioners office. It is assumed that the Commissioners will take a percentage of this estimate for tax purposes. (Unofficial estimates would place this somewhere between 60 and 65 per cent, straight across the board.)

Routine steps in the city appraisal system run something like this: (1.) Tax maps are made. (2) Each house and building is measured. (3) Each building is inspected, classified, and the type of construction is recorded. (4) Replacement costs are computed. (5) A final review is made of the property. (This is done by another appraiser.) Mr. Tucker pointed out that in the field, at least three appraisals are made on each piece as will be assured of a fair deal.

Ten men are now working in the county on farm appraisals, while seven cover the city work. Virgil W. Joyce of the Joyce Mapping Co., is in charge of the tax mapping.

Although the year 1941 is used for buildings and homes, Mr. Tucker pointed out that, of course, land values change with a residential or business area's development or deterioration from year to year.

Valley Seventy Singing To Be Held Saturday

The third big Valley Seventy Singing convention, sponsored by the Valdese Community Center, will be held Saturday night, November 19, at eight o'clock.

Large crowds have been attracted to the two preceding events, and an equally large, if not larger, attendance is expected for this week's program of quartet, trio and other group singing.

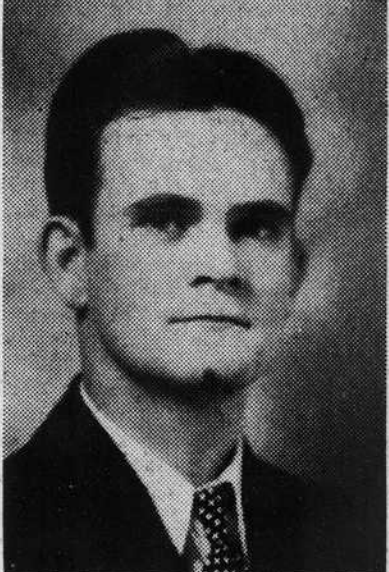

Jimmy Chambers, director of the Center, has announced that the following groups of singers have already signed up to take part: the blind Davis trio from Gastonia, the Songsters (quartet), the Burkemont Quartet, the Chapel Four, the Levan Quartet of Statesville, the Denton Family, the Melody Quartet, the Christian Harmony quartet and the Sunbeam Trio of Valdese.

Admission charges of ten and twenty-five cents cover the cost of staging the entertainment.

Former conventions have been held at the Community Center gymnasium. Because some of the Center's seats are being used at the school athletic field, the elementary school auditorium will be the scene of this week's program.

The Sunbeam Trio derives its name from the fact that the people who compose it are all employees of the Waldensian Baking Company, maker of Sunbeam bread. Its members are Mrs. Novia Griffin, Mrs. Irene Settlemyre and Mrs. Matoka Williams.

BOARD ADOPTS ORDINANCE AT RECENT MEET

Signs May Be Erected To Denote Town Is New Sanctuary For Birds.

In a recent "fowl" move to "give the bird" to any and all transgressions against the feathered friends of this community, the Town Board of Valdese recently enacted a six-section-long ordinance which in effective use will do the utmost to protect all winged specimens here. Valdese has been designated a Bird Sanctuary.

The ordinance provides protection for native wild birds in that it states that "It shall be unlawful to trap, hunt, shoot, or otherwise kill, within the Sanctuary (these) wild bird(s)"; however it is lawful to trap starlings or similar birds or fowls when such birds or fowls are found to be congregating in such numbers in a particular locality that they constitute a nuisance or a menace to health or property.

Further, the new ordinance says nix to stones, rocks, sling shots, bean shooters, air rifles, pop-guns, bows and so on when these weapons serve to harass the social security of high flyers.

Also, Bird Clubs are now allowed to erect signs which give notice of the new regulations, provided these signs are approved by the Commissioner of Public Works.

Local birds could not be located for comment upon the above proceedings.
