AMERICAN CITIZENSHIP.

The following is an extract from an address delivered by President John C. Kilgo, of Trinity College, Durham, N. C., before the American Bankers' Association at Chicago, Friday evening, September 17, 1909.

"One of the most splendid achievements of our American history is the unlimited opportunity it has furnished men of all classes and races to improve their industrial and social conditions and to rise to the highest points of success. In the halls of fame are recorded the names of those who have done some immortal thing in letters or art or war or politics, but a roll that also records great honor upon our American government, the one that marks the high point of our social evolution, is that long roll of Americans who began at the lowest point and by fidelity and labor rose step by step till they reached the summit of industrial influence and power."

LELA-MAY HODGES, GEN. GRANT AN ABSTAINER.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Because of his fame as an entertainer and popularity in the army, much surprise has been occasioned by the revelation of the fact that General Fred D. Grant, who is one of the guests of honor at the prohibition celebration and who will head the big parade tomorrow, is a total abstainer.

Addressing a dinner rally of temperance people at Willard Hall, General Grant said: "I tried to drink with moderation, because I knew that alcohol is the worst poison that a man can take into his system, but found that it was an absolute impossibility to drink moderately. Because moderate use of liquor is a practical impossibility, I became an absolute teetotaler—a crank, if you please. I will not allow it even in my house."

"Drink is the greatest curse because practically all the crime and all diseases are the result of it. Ninety-five per cent. of desertions and of acts of lawlessness in the army are due to drink."

"If I could by offering my body as a sacrifice free this country from the fell cancer—the demon drink—I'd thank the Almighty for the privilege of doing it."

"If I had the greatest appointive power in the country no man would get even the smallest appointment from me unless he showed the proof of his absolute teetotalism. As it is, of my own appointees, the members of my staff, not one of them touches a drop. They know better."

fixed by manufacturers who buy on a basis of 6 per cent deduction for bagging and ties. That is to say, they figure on 30 pounds tare for each 500-pound bale; and on each 500-pound bale, therefore, they allow a price for the gross bale sufficient to pay for only 470 pounds net of lint cotton. In other words, the price paid per pound for the whole 500 pounds is lowered so as to allow for 30 pounds tare.

Now, the average farmer instead of putting 170 pounds of lint cotton and 30 pounds of bagging into a 500-pound bale, puts in 470 pounds of lint cotton and 22 pounds of bagging, thereby putting in 3 extra pounds of 12-1-2 cent cotton, worth $1 instead of 8 pounds of bagging and ties worth 28 cents.

Moreover, all the evidence goes to show that if the farmers does not put on full 30 pounds tare to each 500-pound bale, the exporter adds the extra 8 or 10 pounds in second-hand bagging and makes the extra dollar that really belongs to the farmer. At a meeting of foreign manufacturers with representatives of the Farmers' Union in Washington City a year or two ago, the manufacturers inquired: "Why is it that when cotton leaves the farmer's gin it has only 20 to 22 pounds of tare, but has 31 pounds by the time it reaches us?" This is the explanation.

Put on all the bagging and ties that you can buy for 2 1-2 cents a pound and sell for 12 1-2 cents.—Progressive Farmer.

LIBERTY VS. GREENS.

A colored man from Georgia had lived in Washington but a few days when he was arrested for some slight violation of the city ordinances. Upon hearing that the negro was in jail the secretary of the colored Y. M. C. A. secured the services of a minister to go with him and sign the prisoner's bail-bond. They reached the jail shortly before noon, and told the negro the object of their visit. In response to the proffered kindness he said:

"Mistah Johnsing, I sho is glad you-all is gwine tah git me out, but I wants you-all to fix it so I can't get out till late dis evening." Of course the two samaritans were somewhat taken aback by this unusual request. But a moment later they lost their breath when, in answer to the secretary's question, the Georgia negro replied in a whisper: "Well, sah, dey's a-tittin' dinnah ready, and dey's cookin' greens; an' I sho would like to git some o' dem greens befo' I leaves dis place!"—Lippincott's.

AMERICAN MISSIONARIES.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—The State Department has in receipt of a report from Consul General Handley at Home, Congo, in which he states that the trial of the American missionaries, Rev. William Morrison and Rev. W. H. Sheppard, is to begin there today. The two missionaries are accused of criminal libel. The charges were brought by one of the Congo concession companies holding a monopoly of rubber, gathering in the Kasai region. It claims $20,000 damages from each of the men for "calumnious denunciation." The case originated in statements printed by the missionaries in which the rubber company was charged with perpetrating cruelties on the natives.

REP. JNO. SMALL MAKES A TALK

Was Orator at the Pantego High School on Tuesday Last.

Hon. John H. Small delivered an educational address at the Pantego Academy on last Tuesday evening. While introducing the speaker, Mr. P. H. Johnson, speaking of the school there, said that the untiring efforts of Prof. Bennett and his capable assistants have made that school second to none in Beaufort county.

Mr. Small made a very interesting address. He spoke of the good reputation the school bore all over the county. He highly commended the school for its beautiful school garden, and hoped that some day all the other schools in the Old North State might follow the good initiative set by the Pantego High School. He did not fail to make a plea for agriculture in the schools, and the benefit of a good garden in making practical tests of the knowledge imparted in the text. Prepare the children for actual life, was his plea, pleasingly and even eloquently made. And in addition to what is taught in the Pantego school now, he said he hoped the time would soon come when, like Washington this year, domestic science and manual training, both, would be added to the curriculum. He then warned the people not to be afraid of high taxes to build up the school, as in the future it would pay back a hundred fold, both in a model school and in better citizenship.

This address was very opportune, as the school is in a very crowded condition. Two years ago, says Prof. Bennett, the school began with an enrollment of 75 pupils; last year with 95, while this year it starts out with 125, so that larger quarters and more teachers are a necessity. But with the loyalty to the school already shown, with the additional school spirit credited by this address, and with the broad-mindedness who are leaders in that community, the school will not doubt be properly cared for. On Wednesday morning Mr. Small visited the High School and while there inspected the school garden. He expressed himself as highly pleased, both with the school garden and the good department of the pupils.

PLACE TOWER ON BUILDING

A Tower on Top of the Proposed Public Building Should Be Agitated.

Inasmuch as Washington is to have a public building at no distant day, as Congressman Small has already secured an appropriation and hopes to have this appropriation increased at the coming session of Congress, and, too, the site for this building has been selected and purchased, would it not be good policy to make some effort to have the architect in submitting his plans for the building include a tower on same for the purpose of installing an illuminating clock. While there is no appropriation so far for this clock to be placed, the News feels sure it will be done sooner or later. This being so, the best time to secure suitable drawings is before the building is commenced. An illuminating clock on top of the public building would be the right thing and could be installed for very little additional cost.
